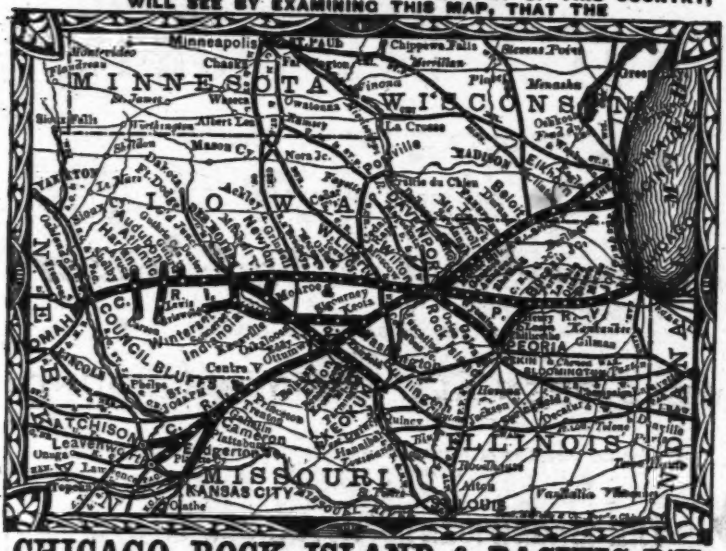
A MAN

WHO IS UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THIS COUNTRY, WILL SEE BY EXAMINING THIS MAP, THAT THE



CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC R'Y

Is The Great Connecting Link between the East and the West!

Its main line runs from Chicago to Council Bluffs, passing through Joliet, Ottawa, La Salle, Geneseo, Moline, Rock Island, Davenport, West Liberty, Iowa City, Marengo, Brooklyn, Grinnell, Des Moines (the capital of Iowa), Stuart, Atlantic, and Avoca: with branches from Bureau Junction to Peoria; Wilton Junction to Muscatine, Washington, Fairfield, Eldon, Belknap, Centreville, Princeton, Trenton, Gallatin, Cameron, Leavenworth, Atchison, and Kansas City; Washington to Sigourney, Oskaloosa, and Knoxville; Keokuk to Farmington, Bonaparte, Bentonsport, Independent, Eldon, Ottumwa, Eddyville, Oskaloosa, Pella, Monroe, and Des Moines; Mt. Zion to Keosauqua; Newton to Monroe; Des Moines to Indianola and Winterset; Atlantic to Griswold and Audubon; and Avoca to Harlan and Carson. This is positively the only Railroad, which owns, and operates a through line from Chicago into the State of Kansas.

Through Express Passenger Trains, with Pullman Palace Cars attached, are run each way daily between CHICAGO and PEORIA, KANSAS CITY, COUNCIL BLUFFS, LEAVENWORTH and ATCHISON. Through cars are also run between Milwaukee and Kansas City, via the "Milwaukee and Rock Island Short Line."

The "Great Rock Island" is magnificently equipped. Its road bed is simply perfect, and its track is laid with steel rails.

What will please you most will be the pleasure of enjoying your meals, while passing over the beautiful prairies of Illinois and Iowa, in one of our magnificent Dining Cars that accompany all Through Express Trains. You get an entire meal, as good as is served in any first-class hotel, for seventy-five cents.

Appreciating the fact that a majority of the people prefer separate apartments for different purposes (and the immense passenger business of this line warranting it), we are pleased to announce that this Company runs Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars for sleeping purposes, and Palace Dining Cars for eating purposes only. One other great feature of our Palace Cars is a SMOKING SALOON where you can enjoy your "Havana" at all hours of the day.

Magnificent Iron Bridges span the Mississippi and Missouri rivers at all points crossed by this line, and transfers are avoided at Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Leavenworth and Atchison, connections being made in Union Depots.

The principal R. R. connections of this great Through Line are as follows:

At CHICAGO, with all diverging lines for the East and South.

At ENGLEWOOD, with the L.S. & M.S., and P., Ft. W. & C. R. Rds.

CLIMATE AND HEALTHFULNESS

Most Delightful Summer Pleasure Resort

WINTER SANITARIUM

ON THE PACIFIC COAST.

The weather at Monterey is not so warm either in summer or winter as in other parts of California further south, but there is an even temperature that can be found nowhere else. From January to December, year in and year out, there is neither summer nor winter weather. Indeed, the weather at Monterey, from one year's end to another, partakes of that delightful interlude known in the East and South as "Indian Summer." The same balmy zephyrs breathe a delicious atmosphere all the year round, and summer and winter, so-called, serenely face each other and exchange compliments.

It will be seen by the annexed table that Monterey has only one rival (Honolulu) in equability of temperature. It must be understood, however, that there is a good deal of hot, disagreeable weather on the islands, and a multiplicity of drawbacks which Monterey does not possess. There are seldom any high, cold winds at and around Monterey, and never any hot ones.

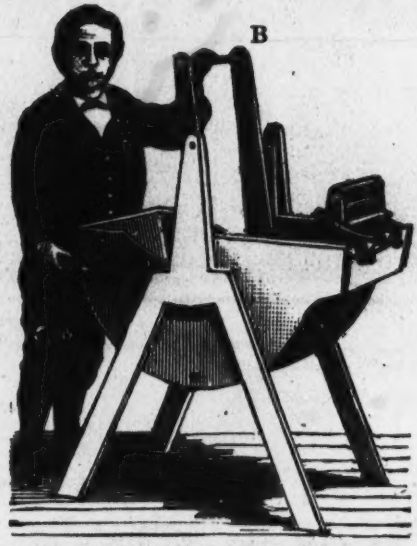
LADIES!

The California Washer

—IS—

THE MACHINE NOW,

AND NO MISTAKE!



I invented the California Washer especially to overcome the objections to the Humboldt and all other semi-circular washers. In the California Washing Machine the axis or journal, around which the rubber oscillates, is supported with hinged swinging boxes at each side; within these boxes are employed springs which press upon the journals from above, and hold the rubber down with any desired tension, while at the same time it is allowed to give and adjust itself to any irregularity of the clothes underneath it. There is an escape passage provided for the dirt and sediment to pass through a false bottom, and there is no chance for the clothes to become entangled. There are two rows of slats in the rubber, set alternately in and out, leaving a two inch space between the slats, so as to fold the clothes in such a way that it washes one-third faster and with more ease than the Humboldt. It washes from the smallest lace collar to the largest pair of blankets.

I say again that the California Washer is THE Machine; it is durable and is a Perfect Washer. It and the Humboldt are both manufactured by

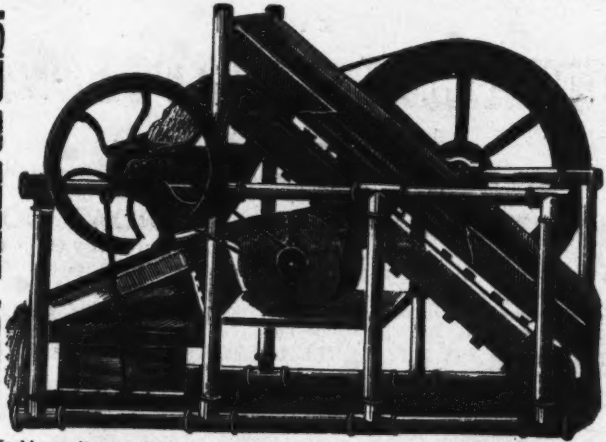
DRY GOLD SEPARATOR

Has been Invented and Patent Applied for by

JAS. HARRIS.



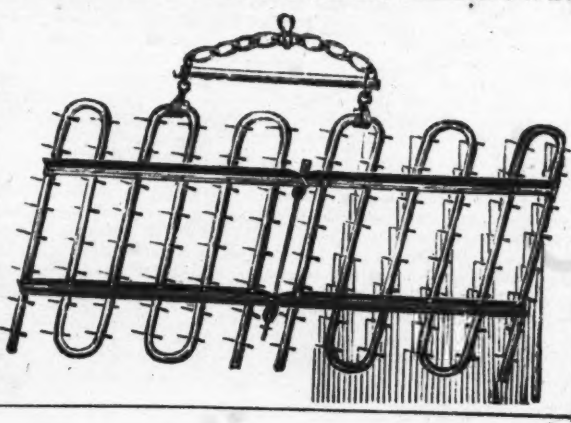
308 MISSION STREET,
Cor. Beale St.,
SAN FRANCISCO.

A Machine, as its name indicates, intended to work placer or gold-bearing earth where there is no water. This machine screens and elevates the dirt, throws away the dross, and saves all the gold with two currents of air. No need of either water or quicksilver.

The Harris Machine is so constructed as to have two currents of air, one to agitate the material and the other to carry off the dross while the gold is being separated. The machine has a good solid frame, made of tubular iron, and can be readily taken apart for transportation, and put together without the use of tools. The dry earth, sand or gravel is then thrown up on a series of screens, and falling through on an endless belt or elevator, is carried up into the hopper, and falling from the hopper to the riffle-board, it passes through the current of air from behind the hopper, falls on the adjustable riffle-board under which a pulsating intermittent current agitates the earth that has fallen there, and carries on a process of concentration, the finer particles of dirt and dust being thrown away by the current behind before falling on the riffle-bed; screenings that contain gold may fall into a crusher or be carried off behind the machine. Riffles are placed at suitable distances on the riffle-board, and behind those the gold is saved. The adjustable riffle-board is constructed so as to save the finest of gold.

PATENT TUBE AND ANGLE IRON HARROWS.

Since the date of the Harrow quite a number have been made and sold every year, and are giving universal satisfaction, and are now found in most sections of the country. They are now thoroughly tested, and do work cleaner and lighter in all kinds of land, and a better pulverizer than any other Harrow known, and is calculated to last a generation, without any care, in any country. Such is the testimony of many who have used them upwards of nine years. They are made light or heavy, large or small, to suit different soils. Prices from $12 to $30.



RAILROAD LANDS

—IN—

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA.

The attention of all heads of families or others contemplating going West is called to the extraordinary offers now being made by the SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD CO.

IN THEIR SALES OF CHOICE FARMING AND FRUIT AND VINEYARD LANDS, LYING ADJACENT TO THE RAILROAD in Stanislaus, Merced, Fresno, Tulare, Kern, Los Angeles, San Bernardino, San Diego, San Benito, Monterey and Santa Clara Counties, which are UNEXCELLED IN CLIMATE, HEALTHFULNESS, PRODUCTIVENESS OF SOIL, AND ACCESSIBILITY TO MARKET, and include the

BEST WHEAT, FRUIT, GRAZING, VINEYARD AND TIMBER LANDS IN AMERICA,

And are adapted to all purposes of profitable agriculture, and may be had in tracts of 40 acres or upward at prices ranging from $2.50 to $20 per acre, according to quality, location, and accessibility to the main line of road.

These lands will increase in value annually. Already thousands of heads of families have purchased lands along the Southern Pacific Railroad, and have erected thereon splendid farms and homesteads, while many hold lands that they purchased a few years ago for from $2.50 to $20 per acre at from $25 to $150 per acre for speculative purposes.

Almost everywhere throughout the counties above named, no snow, and only an occasional frost that does no harm, is ever seen. There is really NO WINTER WEATHER in Southern California, and not one home in one hundred ever has a fire except for culinary purposes. The summer weather is never oppressive, as in the Eastern and Southern States, while the nights are cool the year round.

In Santa Clara, San Benito, Monterey, Stanislaus, Merced, Fresno, Tulare and Kern, the staples are wheat, rye, barley, and wool, which are produced without irrigation. All kinds of fruit and vegetables are raised with irrigation, also cotton, tobacco, and hemp. Wine-making and orcharding are extensively carried on in Santa Clara Co. In Los Angeles, San Bernardino, and San Diego Counties are produced all the semi-tropical fruits, such as oranges, lemons, bananas, figs, nuts, and all the cereals. One-fourth of all the wine and brandy made in California is produced in Los Angeles Co; the finest oranges and lemons to be found in the world are raised in Los Angeles, San Bernardino and San Diego Counties; also the best honey. In 1878, Los Angeles had, according to the assessors' report, 180,000 bearing orange, 30,000 lemon, and 3,000 olive trees; also about 6,000,000 bearing grape-vines. The lands along the Colorado River are as rich as those at the mouth of the Danube or the Nile, and will produce either corn, rye, wheat, tobacco, hemp or cotton. There are several parties experimenting with rice and sugar.

Over 65,000 people have already taken up homes in Southern California since the completion of the Southern Pacific Railroad, and great inducements will be offered to the hundreds of thousands who will follow in the course of the next few years.

Every person contemplating permanent settlement at any point west of the Allegheny Mountains should, before applying elsewhere, get a circular or pamphlet setting forth what has been briefly stated above, which will be sent gratis by applying in person or addressing

PREFACE.

We take great pleasure in presenting to our patrons—who represent, the leading, wide-awake business houses of the vast territory covered by this volume—a Directory which, in magnitude, has never before been attempted. The successful completion of an index to the entire business portion of the residents of California, Nevada, Utah, Wyoming, Colorado and Nebraska signals a great event in Directory work—one which will remain a monument to the energy and perseverance of its projectors for all time. In addition to the compilation of names, we have taken especial care to preface every State, Territory, city, and town of importance with a carefully written sketch, giving a description of its geographical location, the contiguous country, business advantages, climate, etc., which will be found highly interesting to any one desiring a perfect knowledge of the country which we have visited. Starting at the great commercial city of San Francisco, California, we have successively reached every city and town of importance on the Central Pacific Railroad, its branches and connections in California and Nevada, Utah and Northern Railway, Utah Central, Utah Southern, Utah and Nevada, Union Pacific—Main Line—and the Colorado Central, Denver, South Park and Pacific, and Omaha and Republican Valley Divisions of the Union Pacific, Cheyenne Division of the Kansas Pacific, the Denver and Boulder Valley Railroad, Denver and Rio Grande Railway, Burlington and Missouri River in Nebraska, Nebraska Division of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha R. R. The substantial acknowledment of our services which has been tendered us by the business public, is well exemplified by the crowded condition of our advertising space, and the immense edition necessary to supply subscribers. The great number of copies of this large volume, which will be distributed in the territory canvassed, gives our advertisers an immense circulation, bringing them prominently before hundreds of thousands of intelligent people, at a rate far below any other known method of advertising. In typographical appearance it will compare favorably with any of the great publications of the day, and in absolute correctness it will prove a work of the utmost utility to the business public. We submit the volume to the people of these great States and Territories, and invite the criticism of all, believing that it will pass the ordeal unscathed, and receive a generous welcome from its patrons.

THERE is, perhaps, no other in the sisterhood of States that has been looked upon with eyes of such high favor and true esteem as the great and wonderful Golden State, a description of whose unlimited resources and attractive scenic and climatic features must, from the nature of our work, be necessarily brief and incomplete. Although less than a third of a century has been recorded in the world's history since the memorable event took place that witnessed the cession of California to the United States, her broad area is covered with smiling towns, cities, and villages, well improved and thoroughly cultivated farms, and mammoth "monuments of bone and sinew," and handsome temples of justice and learning, while it is checkered with lines of railway, and her rivers are utilized by a large fleet of elegant and well appointed steamers. The vicissitudes of time and the presence of King Commerce have wrought a development that has scarcely been paralleled in other commonwealths. In the remotest corners are found to-day proud evidences of ingenuity, enterprise, and energy, elements so essential to the progress of all countries. The music of industry, whose accompaniments are the hammer, the saw, the stamp, the trowel, and the plane, awakens the echoes of the once uninhabited fastnesses of the mountains, and the clear toned bells of the schools and churches ringing out upon the morning air, the din and clatter of the drays, cabs and truck-wagons, are added to the songs of the farmer in the valleys as he drives his team afield. How magical is the touch of Commerce! How beautiful are the resultants of her twin brother, Manufacture! One cannot conceive the immensity of their combined works until a tour of this powerful dependency has been made. From her extreme northern boundary to the southernmost border, the panorama which is made up of man's genius and Nature's ecstatic charms, is like the figures of a kaleidescope—ever changing, ever beautiful. Those two extreme localities present a diversity of climate that is peculiarly astonishing. In the northern counties in the Winter season an abundance of snow and ice, and a raw and chilly atmosphere, are features most noticeable; while in those of the south, there is perpetual sunshine and a balmy air, ladened with the fragrance of orange blossoms and rare flowers. Here the invalid, whose physique and hacking cough suggest consumption, is found contending with the inevitable, because the soft and tender vespers of the region whisper words of encouragement in his willing ear, while the hardy Nimrod, on his snow-shoes, scaling bulwarks made of ice, is searching at the north for the burly grizzly or the nimble and graceful deer. One need not necessarily "shiver and freeze," or "sweat and burn," in California, for every season of the year can be found at all times! Truly, truly, the climate of California is "glorious!" Her soil is of inexhaustible fertility, her mountains still teem with untold wealth, and her "big trees," and beautiful lakes alive with trout, are factors that must contribute largely to her continued growth and prosperity. Her educational system stands out a prominent example of efficient management and unlimited interest. The youth of the State, under the careful discipline of capable preceptors, attain a greater degree of proficiency in their studies than those of other States, as a rule. The colleges of the State are generally handsome and commodious structures. Be it said to her credit, statements of envious and malignant visitors to the contrary notwithstanding, her morals are of a very high standard, as her thousands of magnificent churches, if that is any criterion, will attest.

RAILROADS.

It fell to the lot of the present century to disclose the fact that rapid progress and development of a country was attended only by the construction of railway lines. The experience was acquired from personal observation and practical solution by those who had great pecuniary interests at stake, and whose ambition was to place California far above the plane of mediocrity, in advance of the natural laws governing her standard, that rapid transportation was afforded only by "bands of steel and the iron horse," and to the end that these requirements might be fulfilled, plans for a railway system such as few other States possess were inaugurated. How successfully the genius of those in whose minds the prodigious scheme originated, resulted, is shown in the presence of numerous lines of railroads penetrating every section of the State. The first of these, the vanguard as it were, was the

SACRAMENTO VALLEY RAILROAD,

Which was constructed from Sacramento to Folsom, a distance of twenty-two and a half miles, in the years 1855-56, at the enormous cost of $1,100,000. The investment, however, proved a profitable one, for its business was immense for several years afterwards. Prosperity of the section it permeates finally sought other "pastures new" for its sustenance, and the earnings of the road gradually decreased, though we believe it is more than self sustaining.

THE SACRAMENTO VALLEY AND PLACERVILLE

From Folsom to Shingle Springs, a distance of twenty-six miles is at present in litigation, and not being operated. The next in order of construction was the San Francisco and San Jose Railroad, which is now known as the

NORTHERN DIVISION OF THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC,

Which runs from San Francisco to Soledad, a distance, with its branch from Gilroy to Tres Pinos, of 162 miles. This road is finely equipped and managed, and traverses one of the most picturesque of California's lovely sections. The country, as it spreads out from the highway, clothed in its dress of verdure, and fringed by the Santa Cruz or Coast Range, with beautiful residences dotting the plains and breaking the monotony which their absence might offer, is delightfully charming. This is a source of great revenue to the owners, and an indispensable convenience to the residents of the famed Santa Clara Valley, whose remarkable yields of berries, fruits, vegetables, and grain, are transported by this line to the "City of the Bay." The next in the State's catalogue is the wonder of the age, whose construction was an achievement that "knowing ones" were assured would be utterly impossible. In thus referring to this gigantic enterprise, need we say that it is the

CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILWAY?

They who furnished the brains and the money that brought about the permanent organization of the company that completed this line, have endeared themselves to the people of the Coast who have its welfare at heart, and have had their names inscribed upon monuments that will crumble only with time. The generations of ages in the labyrinthian passages of the dark and very remote future will point to the success, to the energy, and to the intrepid courage shown in the colossal undertaking which was entailed upon this enterprise of enterprises. The passage of heavy trains of cars at a rapid speed across the towering Sierras seems, even in this age of wonders, this age of broad enlightenment, refined culture and genius, to be a marvel whose creation might be traced only to a fertile mind "rich in fancy but poor in fact." We remove this "vapor of deception" in a trip across these mammoth upheavals, and realize that the work is done. We rub the lamp of magic, and the glories of LABOR stand revealed! The projectors were discouraged by the use of strong argument, and the almost insurmountable obstacles were spoken of in exaggerated terms. But the matured intelligence of Theodore D. Judah, an accomplished and veteran engineer, strengthened by keen perception and sound judgment, was treated with high consideration, and his opinions concerning the feasibility of the enterprise, inspired the "moving spirits" with implicit confidence. These "moving spirits" were Mark Hopkins, E. B. and Chas. Crocker, C. P. Huntington, and ex-Governor Leland Stanford. To the indomitable energy of these gentlemen, the Government in general, and the people of the Pacific Coast in particular, owe the presence of the trans-continental line of railway. Who, then, with the germ of gratitude lying dormant in his breast, will not allow its development through the application of that fertilizer called deep appreciation. It is true they have acquired Crœsus-like fortunes through their connection with the great route, yet who can truthfully or consistently deny that such a reward has not been particularly merited? The assurance that the Central Pacific is under efficient management is made doubly sure by the fact that men of such prominence in railroad circles as E. H. Miller, Jr., Secretary; E. W. Hopkins, Treasurer; W. H. Porter, Auditor; S. S. Montague, Chief Engineer; A. N. Towne, General Superintendent; J. A. Fillmore, Master of Transportation; E. C. Fellows, Assistant Superintendent; J. C. Stubbs, General Freight Agent; and T. H. Goodman, General Passenger and Ticket Agent, are closely identified with its interests. It is a powerful and an indispensable corporation.

THE OREGON DIVISION OF THE CENTRAL PACIFIC

Traverses a rich agricultural section and has contributed largely to the development of Northern California. It reaches from Roseville Junction to Redding, a distance of 170 miles, and its completion to Roseburg, connecting at that point with the Oregon and California Railroad, will no doubt be witnessed ere the lapse of many years.

THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC,

Connecting with the Central Pacific at Lathrop, runs almost through the entire length of the southern portion of the State, and passes through some of the most picturesque country on the coast. Along the line of this great route there are 12,000,000 acres of excellent farming and grazing lands, which the company offer for sale at reasonable rates and on the most favorable terms. It is being rapidly pushed forward to its destination, the object being to open up all that section of country in Arizona and New Mexico that borders its route, and to secure an outlet to New Orleans and the Gulf of Mexico for the multifarious products of Southern California to England and other European countries. The length of this line, which is leased to the Central Pacific, together with its branches, is about 1,000 miles, but when completed will probably be in the neighborhood of 2,000 miles.

THE SAN FRANCISCO AND NORTH PACIFIC

Has its initial point near Petaluma and is completed to Cloverdale, with a branch of 16 miles from Fulton to Guerneville. It permeates one of the richest districts in the State and the "Big Trees," Hot Springs, and Geysers are reached by this route. It was built with private capital and is still controlled by the projectors. It is splendidly equipped and is a valuable auxiliary in the promotion of travel and shipping interest.

CALIFORNIA PACIFIC AND NORTHERN RAILWAY.

The main line of this road has for its terminal points Benicia and Sacramento, being the quickest and shortest route to the capital city from San Francisco. The travel by this line is immense and the country it passes through is perfectly enchanting—agricultural in is nature. Its branches are those which run from Davisville Junction, eight miles from Sacramento, to Knight's Landing, in Yolo county, and from Vallejo to Calistoga, through the beautiful Napa valley.

NEVADA COUNTY NARROW-GAUGE.

The construction of this line was begun in February, 1875, and its completion to Nevada City, 23 miles distant from Colfax, followed on the 24th of May, 1876. It was built by local subscription and cost $590,000, $250,000 of which was cash, and the balance was paid in bonds of the company, drawing eight per cent. interest semi-annually. Close connections with all trains on the Central Pacific Railroad and stage lines leading to Downieville, Camptonville, San Juan, etc., are made. The officers are: John C. Coleman, President; Edward Coleman, Vice-President; George Fletcher, Secretary and Auditor; F. G. Beatty, Treasurer; and John F. Kidder, General Superintendent. The general offices are at Grass Valley.

NORTH PACIFIC COAST

Runs from Saucelito to Duncan's Mills, a distance of 74 miles. The country it passes through is very rich agriculturally and in grazing features.

SOUTH PACIFIC COAST

Narrow Guage line from San Francisco to Santa Cruz, via Alameda, San Jose, and Los Gatos; passes through Alameda, Santa Clara, and Santa Cruz counties. Although it is a narrow guage, the rails are of heavy H pattern. The road-bed, bridges, steam ferryboats (on the San Francisco end) and all buildings are of the most permanent character. Great praise is due the company for this enterprise. They have surmounted many difficulties, at an enormous cost, in making a route through the formidable Santa Cruz mountains, which have seemed to defy railroad construction heretofore. No less than seven tunnels—bored through rock, sometimes as hard as adamant, and aggregating 3½ miles in length—were found necessary in the last twenty miles. The indefatigable projectors are to be congratulated on the success of their scheme, for it is with afew exceptions the greatest work of the kind in America. The scenery along the route from bay to bay is a series of agreeable and picturesque surprises, and the solidity of its construction insures safety, speed and comfort to travelers.

SANTA CRUZ RAILROAD,

Now incorporated with the Southern Pacific, connects with the main line at Pajaro (Watsonville) and runs to Santa Cruz, 21 miles.

VACA VALLEY AND CLEAR LAKE RAILROAD

Is a private line, owned and operated by parties in Vacaville, running from Elmira, Solano county, to Madison, Yolo county, about thirty miles, through a fertile region.

SANTA MARIA AND SAN LUIS OBISPO RAILROAD

Is a short line of eleven miles, connecting San Luis Obispo with the seaboard at Port Hartford.

INTERESTING RESORTS ACCESSIBLE BY THE CENTRAL PACIFIC AND OTHER RAILROADS AND THEIR CONNECTIONS.

The chief and most widely known of California's features is the wonderful Yosemite Valley, whose remarkable chasm,n towering cliffs clothed in eternal snow and ice, rugged peaks reaching to the sky, and its picturesque bed bordered by meandering streams of sparkling water, form a picture that is eulogistic even of Nature's handiwork. By taking the Southern Pacific railroad to Madera, Fresno county, the valley can be reached after a stage ride of 80 miles. No visitor to the Golden State should fail to see these prodigious wonders. The next in importance is the grove of

BIG TREES,

Of Calaveras county, which are reached by stages from Milton, the present terminus of the Copperopolis division of the Central Pacific. The largest tree of this grove is the "Mother of the Forest," measuring 321 feet in height and 90 feet in circumference at the base. The "Father of the Forest" lies prostrate upon the ground, from whose mammoth sides pieces of bark, 30 inches in thickness, and chips have been cut as souvenirs by tourists. It is 435 feet in length and 110 feet in circumference. By the annual lines, indicating its age, it shows that it had stood fully 3000 years before Time conquered.

THE NEXT IN ORDER

Is the petrified forest, which is near Calistoga, Napa county. The trees were evidently brought to this condition by the action of volcanic influence. It is reached by the Napa Branch of the California Pacific Railroad. It is a freak of Nature that would excite the wonder of the geologist or the curiosity hunter.

LAKE TAHOE,

Noted for its great depth and altitude, as well as the want of buoyancy in its waters, which are as clear as crystal. It is a very pleasant summer resort, and is visited by thousands of persons annually. There have been several small villages built on its shores, clothed with forests of evergreens, where the best of accommodations can be obtained. There are quite a number of attractions in the immediate vicinity, besides those offered to the Nimrods or Izaak Waltons, who follow the trail for black-tailed deer, or troll for trout. It is reached by stage from Truckee, on the Central Pacific Railroad, 12 miles distant.

SAN FRANCISCO.

(CLASSIFIED.)

See also, List Received too Late for Regular Insertion.

To the classified lists of business embraced under this head, we have devoted a large portion of our attention. After making a thorough canvass of this great metropolis, visiting each and all places of business and taking notes of the principal articles dealt in and business done in each (no easy task when it is considered that there are over 12,000 individuals and firms doing business) we have made a compilation by which may be seen at a glance all those dealing in certain lines and practicing in certain professions, in alphabetical lists.

This convenient arrangement will, we hope, meet with its proper appreciation in the interior towns where the book is used.

The growth of San Francisco, and her rapid strides in commercial importance, have excited the wonder of the civilized world. Thirty-two years ago, only, the present site of this handsomely built city was a barren waste, a fact that would be doubted were it not known by thousands who are still comparatively young. She has risen to the rank of first-class among American cities in a few short years.

It will not appear strange, however, to those who are acquainted with the advantages which she has always enjoyed, that she should so advance. She is eligibly situated as the western outlet and entrepot of the United States, and is the market and depot for all the prolific states and territories of the Pacific Coast, which tract comprises nearly one-third of the Union. Her prospective position as the second city of the United States is well supported by the argument which a steady uninterrupted flow of emigration offers. Every additional mile of railroad track laid, either as a trunk line or a feeder to it, in the direction of the Pacific, will add glory to this promising young metropolis. The matter of home manufactories is just now being seriously agitated by those having the interests of the Coast at heart, with important substantial results. Factories must spring up for the manufacture of home products, and then will the much bruited question, "Why does not the Pacific Coast partake of some of the prosperity enjoyed by the East?" be answered. Houses more numerous than those already here must be opened to accommodate the increasing trade, and other institutions so essential to a great city must speedily follow.

San Francisco possesses every convenience and comfort usually enjoyed by the greatest cities. Her streets are all brilliantly illuminated by gas and electric light, and traversed by innumerable street railroads running in every conceivable direction, which run also with great velocity over steep hills by means of the much prized wire cable system. Her places of amusement, schools, churches, newspapers, banks, and other institutions are all of the first order. Among her hotels, which are unsurpassed for elegance and magnitude as a whole, she boasts of the largest caravansary in the world—erected and equipped at a cost of $8,000,000. Her parks, with one exception, are small, but handsome and appropriately located. The Golden Gate Park, reclaimed from the sand hills at an enormous expenditure, is four miles in length and possesses a conservatory rich with exotics and rare plants, as well as a system of serpentine drives that are always in perfect condition.

A retrospective glance at the advance of our beautiful "Bay City" will reveal to us a picture of her as she may be expected to appear in the near future.

For NICE, CLEAR COFFEE, USE THE AMERICAN COFFEE POT.

The Superiority of the American Coffee Pot over others in use is in the strainer—the cup with a cloth bottom being used in place of a bag—or perforated tin. It filters better than either, for the reason that the boiling water must pass through the coffee, instead of through the sides of the bag, if a bag is used, and must filter with less sediment and much faster than a tin perforated bottom. It is much easier cleaned or renewed than a bag, and will not corrode or wear out like the tin. The bottom being so easily renewed without expense or trouble, a new or clean one can be put on every few days.

For Sale by Dealers in Tinware Generally.

MUTUAL SECURITY FUND ASSOCIATION

OF CALIFORNIA.

Office, 331 Kearny Street, San Francisco.

INCORPORATED OCTOBER 28th, 1870.

OFFICERS:

J. L. WILBERT, President, J. F. BRENNAN, Secretary.
W. H. WELLS, Gen. Manager. C. S. HALEY, M.D., Med. Direc.

ONE, TWO, OR THREE THOUSAND DOLLARS TO EACH MEMBER.

The Mutual Security Fund System has for its Basis an improved plan of Mutual Protection, which gives perfect Security, for the first time in the annals of Protective Associations, and at the lowest possible rates. Said Basis being the Deposit of a sum "by each Member, corresponding with the grade of Certificate required" for the Security Fund of the Association, which Fund always belongs to the Members, and when once created and deposited, and under the control of the Board of Trustees in Trust for the Members, loss to the Members is impossible, as Article 16th of this Association's By-Laws provides as follows:

"The Board of Trustees shall cause the Security Fund to be invested in United States Government Bonds and other good securities, which shall be Deposited with some Bank in good standing in the City and County of San Francisco, Cal., or in the Safe Deposit Building of said City and County, and this Security Fund to remain undisturbed "together with the interest thereon," for any other purpose for the term of five years.

It can be easily seen that by this Plan the Members Mutually protect each other, with perfect Security and unheard of Safety, and at the smallest possible outlay, for the cost of carrying a Certificate for the first five years "(outside of the sum charged for expenses," is strictly governed by the actual losses experienced. And at the death of a Member the NOMINEE OR LEGAL REPRESENTATIVE will receive an amount according with each Certificate of Membership in force in this Association; but not to exceed the amount named in his or her certificate of Membership. However after the Certificate has been in force five years, or longer, this Association guarantees to pay the Same in full, whenever it becomes a claim by death, or the Member attains the age of Seventy-five years. As article 6th of this Association's By-Laws provides as follows:

"When any Member shall have attained the Age of Seventy-five years, He or She shall receive from the funds of this Association the amount of money designated by his or her Certificate of Membership"—thus making each and every certificate an endowment Membership.

The question may be asked: How many death-losses shall the Association have to pay in the first five years? Not more than four or five in all probability, as there will be hardly any in the first two years, as the Association takes none but first-class risks. And when the Certificate has been in force five years the death assessment will be very Small if anything, as it is reasonably expected that at that time the increase of the Security Fund will be more than ample to pay all death assessments, and at the same time, when a Certificate has been in force, and the member in good standing for five years or longer, the Board of Trustees May Loan Such Member on his Certificate from $100 to $1,000.

To Yosemite and Big Trees!

THE

VIA

Big Oak Flat & Calaveras Grove

SPEED, COMFORT AND SAFETY!

REMEMBER

BY LEAVING YOSEMITE VALLEY BY THE

BIG OAK FLAT ROUTE

And starting from the Valley the same days as Madera and Merced Routes, you arrive at the Overland railroad station, by noon of the SECOND DAY, in time for the trains going EAST or WEST,

Twenty-Four Hours ahead of any other Route!

SOMETHING TO REMEMBER!

Tourists should bear in mind that the

BIG OAK FLAT DIRECT ROUTE

IS THE SHORT ROUTE TO THE VALLEY,

being but eighty-six miles staging, through a Picturesque Mountain and Mining country.

THE ONLY ROUTE

Passing through the Historical Gold Fields of California, and the largest and richest of Mining Camps. That the Direct Route passes through the Tuolumne Grove of Big Trees (the coach passing through the Dead Giant, the largest), without extra staging, as on the Merced and Madera Routes. On these latter routes the staging, including Trees, is 110 miles, 70 miles of which are done in one day, partly over a hot, dusty plain, against 46 miles, the longest day's journey on the Oak Flat. The Oak Flat Road is over a gravelly formation, missing the dust of the plains.

Do not purchase tickets until you have thoroughly canvassed the routes and their advantages; you will surely be disappointed if you do. Do not be misled by interested parties.

ANY INFORMATION AS TO COST OF TRIP,

cheerfully furnished by letter or otherwise, on application.

Alameda.

ALAMEDA COUNTY.

Situated across the bay from San Francisco, this pretty residence burg stretches over more than five miles of the peninsula formed by Oakland Creek and San Francisco Bay. It is chiefly celebrated for its picturesque oak trees, handsome dwellings, public and private grounds and parks, and magnificent bathing establishments. These latter features are rapidly making it San Francisco's favorite resort. Two lines of railroad—the Central Pacific via Oakland, and the South Pacific Coast (narrow gauge), keep up constant communication with San Francisco at all hours of the day, making it convenient for bathing and picnic parties as well as for residents.

PLACER COUNTY.

Auburn, the county seat of Placer county, is one of the oldest and best known mining towns of the State. It is situated on the line of the Central Pacific Railroad, 36 miles northeast of Sacramento, and about two miles from the American river. It is in the foothill region of the Sierra Nevada mountains, the altitude being 1,360 feet. The scenery in the vicinity of Auburn is grand and beautiful, and the climate, though warmer in Summer than that prevailing along the coast, is extremely healthful. For these reasons, the place has become, in late years, somewhat of a resort for tourists and invalids. The town is supported chiefly by mining and fruit growing. Auburn has at present two churches, the Methodist Episcopal and the Roman Catholic. A third church edifice, for the use of the Congregationalists, will also shortly be built. The Episcopalians hold monthly services, but as yet possessing no church edifice of their own. The benevolent institutions comprise lodges of Masons, Odd Fellows, A.O.U.W., and Good Templars. A large and handsome public school building, with four teachers, supply the educational want of the town. Two papers, both weekly, are

Bodie,

MONO COUNTY.

The town of Bodie, in one of the richest mining districts in America, has an altitude of about 8,300 feet, and is built at the foot of Bodie Bluff (8,914 feet), Silver Hill (8,590 feet), and Queen Bee Hill (8,636 feet). It derives its name from W. S. Body, who made the first location east of Silver Hill in July, 1859, and who afterwards perished among the same lofty mountain peaks, which will bring his name into eternal fame. The first Bodie mining district was organized in 1860, changing the orthography to "Bodie."

Bodie's porphyry belt, running for several miles from north to south, has a width of several thousand feet. The formation on the western part of the belt is gold-bearing, while to the east the vein carries mostly silver.

The early history of Bodie, like all mining camps, is one of great vicissitude—changing without success its most valuable property from hand to hand, and inviting unsuccessfully capital for investment, until in 1876 the Bunker Hill bullion property was bonded for $75,000 to San Francisco capitalists, who reincorporated it as the Standard Consolidated Mining Company, and have since extracted (to August 1, 1881) the enormous sum of $6,396,027 93. Those figures for a single mine, with the total of bullion shipments for Bodie from 1877 to December 31, 1880 (including $1,590,293 73 for Standard for the first half year of 1881), brings the export to a fabulous output of $10,137,595 02 bullion. The camp is yet in its infancy, as the rich bodies of ore in sight in the Standard and Bodie, and the promising prospects of Oro, Addenda, Noonday, South Bulwer, Bechtel, Boston Consolidated, Syndicate, and others will make it in its near future a rival to Virginia City. About eight mills, with a capacity of about 140 stamps to crush and work the ore, are within Bodie's limits, and nearly all are now in operation.

The timber region of Mono Lake, distant in direct line about twelve miles from Bodie Bluff, is now being connected by a railroad (35 miles), and will before long bring the iron horse within Bodie's limit.

The distance and travel to Bodie has been greatly shortened since the Carson and Colorado Railroad (transferring at the Round House on the V. & T. R. R.) runs its narrow-gauge through Mason Valley, connecting with the Bodie stage line at Hawthorne.

Chronometers, Watches, Clocks, etc., repaired at short notice, at H. WACHHORST'S, 315 J St, Sac.

The city of Bodie has a population of about 5,000, and a very lively appearance while vast amounts of wood, machinery, provisions, and general merchandise are daily hauled to the mines and surrounding mining districts, under the lash of the team's brownie bull-whacker, and the hardy horse-teamster. It has two banks, a spicy daily newspaper, large business houses, efficient water works, a legion of thriving retail dealers, and a vast amount of mercantile capital, to make it an important mining and business center.

Daily stages run to Lundy (Mill Creek and Tioga districts), Aurora, Bridgeport (ths county seat), Hawthorne, etc. It is generally believed that the iron link will very soon bring Bodie within nearer proximity to the less elevated civilized world.

Columbia,

TUOLUMNE COUNTY.

This place is said to have been the richest gold mining district in the southern mines. It is a very pretty mountain town of over 700 inhabitants, 142 miles from San Francisco, reached via Stockton and Copperopolis Division of the Central Pacific Railroad, and the Nevada Stage Co. Its scenic and sanitary features are manifold, and the number of tourists and invalids drawn hither through these mediums each year is very great. The altitude is 2,200 feet above the sea level; the atmosphere is pure, light and dry, and easy of inhalation; the water is excellent, and society splendid—foreshadowed in the refining influences of the elements found invariably in the presence of good schools and churches. Fruit-growing and mining are extensively engaged in. The place has been destroyed by conflagrations several times, yet it presents a handsome appearance.

Dana,

TUOLUMNE COUNTY,

Is the name of a new mining camp in Tioga district, on the division line between Mono and Tuolumne counties, and its altitude at about 11,000 feet. It is located in the heart of the wild Sierras, being reached by Lundy or the Yosemite Valley, through mountain trails covered by gigantic pines and tamarack, and offering to the traveler some of the grandest sights nature can produce. Dana has a growing population, mostly depending upon the very rich mines—Great Sierra, Bevans and Sheepherder—now being worked and opened by Eastern capitalists. A Post Office has been applied for, and it is expected to see a flourishing town at this high elevation before another year is over.

Grass Valley,

NEVADA COUNTY,

Is a pretty little city of 4,000 inhabitants, 16 miles from Colfax, the junction of the C. P. and N. C. N. G. Railways, on the latter road, whose general offices are located here. The valley in which it is situated is picturesque, and quite productive of most excellent fruit, and the mountains at one time were the source of an abundant mineral supply. Several extensive mines were the outgrowth of this feature, though it is thought that the constant search for ores for a great many years has at last nearly exhausted their wealth. However, this industry no doubt can be carried on with some profit to those who engage in it. The place is supplied with churches and schools. The residences as a rule are neatly and tastily constructed; the business houses are well built, and the streets run at right angles.

Healdsburg,

SONOMA COUNTY,

Is one of the substantial towns of California; has 2,500 inhabitants, a theater, all the churches, gas works, water works, hose company and chemical fire engine; an academy, public library, literary, secret and musical societies. It is an incorporated city, out of debt, governed by a board of five trustees. The famous Geyser, Skaggs' and Litton hot and mineral springs and Magnolia farm are adjacent, and a most wonderfully productive farming, wine, stock and wool growing region surrounds. The rich bottoms of Russian river and its tributaries extend in every direction, and the main track of the S. F. & N. P. R. R. passes close by. The mountains adjacent abound in minerals, and the Oakland, Great Eastern and Mount Jackson Quicksilver Mining Companies, in active operation, with powerful machinery and hundreds of men, make Healdsburg their entrepot. There are two weekly newspapers—the "Flag" and "Enterprise"—both well edited.

Marysville,

YUBA COUNTY,

Is a well-built city of 7,000 inhabitants situated at the junction of the Yuba and Feather rivers, and is also on the line of the Oregon Division of the Central Pacific R. R., 42 miles from Sacramento. It is surrounded by a very fertile and productive agricultural district, from the cultivation of which it derives its principal support, though in its earlier history its dependence was wholly on the placer diggings. It is the county seat, has several beautiful business blocks, elegant churches and school-houses. Its residents are enterprising and hospitable, and show a pride in their little city that speaks well for their loyalty to its interests. The future prosperity of the place is regarded as certain. The manufacturing interests of Marysville are quite important. There are two foundries, the Marysville and Empire. The Empire, among its other productions, manufactures the Little Giant Hydraulic Machine with Mr. Hoskins' improvement. Mr. Hoskins has been furnishing hydraulic mines with pipes and machinery for a great many years, and understands their requisites exactly. W. C. Ogden & Son's wagon and carriage factory is one of the most extensive in the State. Its steam machinery includes a wood worker, rip saw, circular saw, band saw, hub mortiser, planer, shaper, steam hammer and driller.

Marysville Academy of Notre Dame.—Established 1856 by the Sisters of Notre Dame, a society of ladies who, throughout the United States and Europe, devote themselves to the education of the youth, with the primary view of instilling a noble and laudable ambition, and forming girls to be ornaments and useful members of society. The institution is situated in the upper part of Marysville, and is surrounded by an extensive garden and playground, furnished with every facility for the recreation and physical welfare of the pupils. The studies embrace all the modern languages, besides vocal and instrumental music, and other studies essential to a high class academy.

NAPA, CAL.

Nevada City,

NEVADA COUNTY,

Is the northern terminus of the Nevada County Narrow-Gauge Railroad, 22 miles from Colfax, on the Central Pacific Railway. It is the county seat, and has a population of 3,500. Its mines are the chief source of support, from which several hundred thousand dollars in ore are taken and crushed annually. The country surrounding the place is quite productive of fruits and grapes, while its scenic features are numerous. It is surrounded by high, abrupt hills, and in the Spring time, when they don their suit of green, it presents a romantic appearance. The Court House is a very pretty structure, costing $75,000. The High School building is quite an ornament, and cost $15,000. There is a bank with a paid-up cash capital of $30,000. The residences are above the average of places of the same size, the streets are cleanly kept, and the places of trade are well built. There are several breweries, two foundries and several other places of manufacture. The people are hospitable, enterprising and intelligent, and the sanitary condition of the town is excellent.

Oroville,

BUTTE COUNTY,

Northern terminus of the California Northern Railroad, 28 miles from Marysville. This historic town and neighborhood is celebrated for its prolific mines of the past and present. It nestles in the foothills of the Sierras, and is surrounded by a country as rich in scenic features as it is in minerals. It was in California's early days one of the richest mining camps in the State, and still produces largely. It posseses a large flouring mill, two newspapers, and is well provided for in the matter of schools, churches and social institutions. Its business prospects are very favorable, and its trade never appears to lag. Probably one of the heaviest mercantile houses of Northern California is located at Oroville. We refer to that of Perkins & Co., of which firm Governor George C. Perkins is the founder, and in which he still possesses an interest. The house enjoys an almost universal popularity, from always observing the same principles that were inaugurated by its genial founder. Oroville is the county seat. Population, about 1,200.

with a country so rich in these products, it soon took the lead which it now holds, and is at this day one of the most flourishing of the inland towns of California. The city is excellently laid out, the streets are well graded, and its citizens have shown very good taste in the location of their residences. The drainage and sewerage are as near perfect as possible. The public school and church facilities are ample for the inhabitants; in fact, the city has long been a model in this respect. Its population is about 5,000.

Is situated at the entrance of Livermore Valley, on the Central Pacific Railroad, approaching from the west, and forty-two miles from San Francisco. As its name indicates, it is a pleasantly situated village of about 700 inhabitants, well shaded streets, and a thriving town. There is a fine hotel structure built here for the accommodation of Summer boarders from the city. The Rose Hotel will compare favorably with the finest hotels in the State outside of San Francisco. It is well kept by E. T. Stevenson, formerly of San Francisco.

Red Bluff,

TEHAMA COUNTY,

Is the county seat of Tehama county, and has a municipal form of government under a charter of incorporation. Its topography is desirable for the extension of its limits, being on a natural esplanade on the west bank of the Sacramento river, at the head of navigation, and on the Oregon Division of the Central Pacific Railroad, 135 miles from Sacramento, the State capital. Its natural advantages for a permanent and steady growth are of such a nature and so multifarious as to warrant the belief that the place will become a city of considerable importance in a period not very remote. It is surrounded by a very rich body of agricultural land, and the opportunities for developing the stock-raising, horticultural and cereal-producing interests are manifold. These facts are being taken advantage of yearly by persons who engage in the pursuits of the husbandman. New lands are being opened up, and an increase in the acreage sown to grain and otherwise cultivated is annually being made. Everything indigenous to the latitude grows luxuriantly, and large crops are yearly harvested. It is mainly to the agricultural interests that the rapid growth of the place is due, though lumber of splendid quality is manufactured in great quantities. It would be an excellent point for the erection of extensive woolen mills, as the bulk of the wool grown in Southern and Eastern Oregon and Northern California passes through this place. The yearly product of wool of Tehama county reaches almost 2,000,000 pounds, which is a great source of revenue to its capital. With the superior facilities for the manufacture of woolen goods offered by unexceled water privileges taken advantage of, we think an investment in such an enterprise would be a profitable one. The population of the place is put down at 3,500 people, and it has a full complement of factories, mills, etc. Its citizens are endowed with a spirit of energy and public improvement that adds greatly to their high recommendation of intelligence and morality. The public schools are spoken of in the highest terms, a perfect system for the education of pupils seeming to be the result most sought after. All the religious denominations are represented, while a substantial bank supplies the residents with capital, and two newspapers furnish them with

The table and general appointments of the house are really excellent, and mine host authorizes us to state that they will always be kept up to the highest standard. A free 'bus attends all trains. We would call attention to the advertisement of Messrs. Cone & Kimball, one of Red Bluff's heaviest business houses. They carry a large stock of general merchandise, and are large buyers and shippers of wool, etc.

SACRAMENTO.

SACRAMENTO COUNTY.

Situated on the east bank of the Sacramento river, in the lovely valley bearing the same name, is the handsome capital of the Golden State. Until the year 1870 she was the western terminus of the Central Pacific Railway, the nation's greatest highway; but with the construction and immediate consolidation of the Western Pacific with that line, this honor was surrendered to the "surburban city on the bay," and she now contents herself with the title of a station, which that event conferred upon her. However, the possession of the machine shops of the powerful corporation is a source of great revenue, as there are constantly employed about 1,000 operatives, and through this fact her loss amounts to very little. Besides the Central Pacific, there are several other lines of railway which converge and diverge from the city, and they must ever prove valuable factors in the promotion of her commercial interests. Her position, geographically, is decidedly favorable, rendering the business men of the city invaluable aid in enlarging their trade, which, in their absence, must be circumscribed to very narrow limits by the competition of San Francisco merchants. By the energy and enterprise of her citizens, who have always been alive to the development of their city, she has reached the second place as a commercial emporium, and we bespeak for her a continued growth and an honored place in the rank of the most substantial cities of the coast. Her many avenues of trade are ornamented with splendid structures, well paved with cobble stones and brilliantly illuminated with gas, while many of them are traversed by lines of street railway, and well drained by an excellent system of sewerage. In the residence portions of the place the roomy yards, studded with palms and ferns, and ablaze in most seasons of the year with rare flowers, there are many objects of attraction. In the possession of magnificent private homes, Sacramento will compare favorably with any city of the same size in the Union. The railroad depot, constructed in the summer of 1879, and the beautiful capitol building are features of the place that deserve special notice. The former is composed principally of iron and glass, is upwards of 300 feet in length, and is conveniently subdivided into compartments peculiar to itself. The latter is a handsome structure, very commodious and attractively situated in lovely grounds, and surmounted by a dome 180 feet in hight. Its cost was in the neighborhood of $5,000,000. The city is also well supplied with daily and weekly newspapers, the "Record-Union," a morning paper, taking rank in age. The "Bee," an evening journal, is a sprightly sheet, and the "Journal," a German semi-weekly, ably represents the class in whose interest it is published. The press of the city is a credit to it, and the circulation of the papers show an appreciation that is commendable. The construction in the past year of many substantial business houses and residences, and the contemplated investment of capital in similar improvements the present year, is a happy commentary on her future growth. The population is estimated at 26,000.

San Jose,

SANTA CLARA COUNTY,

Is the County Seat, situated in one of the most fertile valleys in the State, bounded by the Coast Range Mountains on the one side and the Santa Cruz Mountains on the other. It was settled more than a century ago by the Spanish missionaries, who gave it the name, which signifies "the beautiful." It ranks among the first cities of California in point of wealth. Its population is 15,000. Its streets are laid out in right angles, and are broad and smooth, and kept well watered throughout its length and breadth. It is particularly noted for its beautiful drives; in many avenues the trees form an arch over the driveway, and the houses are embowered in a dense growth of shrubbery and plants. There are an unusual number of elegant homes of fine architectural designs. Its schools and colleges rank among the highest in the State; its churches are models of beauty, and it boasts the finest Court House in the State. Santa Clara Valley is famed for its genial climate, magnificent scenery, and the fertility of its soil. San Jose is reached from San Francisco by two lines of railroad: the Southern Pacific and the South Pacific Coast (narrow gauge). The unchanging and lovely scenery along either route, made up of hills and dales, dotted with home-like country residences, make the trip one of real pleasure. There are three banks, three daily newspapers, and good hotels, of which latter the St. James gives ample proof, with its good cheer and home-like treatment of its guests.

College of Notre Dame

SAN JOSE, CAL.

This Institution is under the Superintendence of the Sisters of Notre Dame, whose primary object is to instill into the minds of young girls a noble and laudable emulation, to form their hearts in virtue, to fit them to be future ornaments to society.

The College was founded in 1851. In 1855 it was incorporated by the State Legislature, and subsequently the same body so extended the original charter as to confer all the rights and privileges of collegiate institutions in the United States. It is situated in the City of San Jose, Santa Clara County, and is surrounded by a beautiful and extensive play ground, furnished with every facility for the amusement of the pupils. The building, of brick, is large, commodious and well ventilated. The entire front is one hundred and sixty feet long. The east wing runs back to the depth of two hundred and fifty feet; the west wing is one hundred and three feet deep; the whole affording accommodations for a large number of pupils.

MINUTE ATTENTION PAID TO THE COMFORT AND HEALTH OF THE PUPILS, AND IN CASE OF SICKNESS, THEY RECEIVE THE MOST AFFECTIONATE CARE.

Santa Clara,

SANTA CLARA COUNTY,

Is situated four miles north of San Jose, and is a beautiful little city of 1,500 inhabitants. It was settled by the Spanish missionaries and a driveway was planted with willow trees by them from one place to the other, more than a century ago. It is called the "Alameda." It contains the Santa Clara College, carried on by the Jesuits, and ranks with the finest schools in the State. The grounds are beautifully laid out, and the buildings are ample and of the latest architectural designs—combining utility with ornament. The town contains also many fine residences, and is surrounded by an agricultural country in the highest state of cultivation. It is reached from San Francisco by the Southern Pacific Railroad.

Santa Rosa,

SONOMA COUNTY.

Santa Rosa, the county seat of Sonoma county, contains a population of about 5,000. The town was laid out by F. G. Hahman, Julio Carrillo and their associates in 1852, on the north side of Santa Rosa creek, and about two miles from the foothills. To the south, west and north lie the splendid valleys of Petaluma, Santa Rosa and Russian river, unexcelled for productiveness in the State, and filled with a prosperous population. The climate is mild and equable, and the soil produces crops every year—the dry seasons being the best in this valley. The public schools have two commodious buildings, with a numerous corps of teachers. There are also two fine collegiate buildings, eight churches, one foundry and machine shop, one first-class woolen mill, two tanneries, two flouring mills, one planing mill, and numerous carriage and smith shops. De Turks' winery and distillery, one of the largest on the coast, is located here, and crushes over one thousand tons of grapes yearly. There are other wineries in the neighborhood, which are noted for their large production of grapes. Several daily and weekly newspapers published here are a credit to the city and county. That Santa Rosa is one of the best advertised towns in the State is to be attributed to the able efforts of her newspaper men. Sonoma county has received a large share of the wealth and emigration that has drifted west of late years, its resources and advantages being universally proclaimed. The plaza is one of the finest in the State, and the location of the city is unexcelled for beauty. Its main trade is derived from the vineyard and agricultural interests of the locality.

TUOLUMNE COUNTY,

Is the county seat, and distant from San Francisco, via Stockton and Copperopolis division of the C.P.R.R. and the Nevada stage line, 150 miles. In early days placer mining was carried on quite extensively, and now boasts of having one of the richest pocket mines in the State, known as the Bonanza, owned by J. G. Divoll, who is said to have taken out $600,000 in the last year. Its altitude is about 1,800 feet, is very healthy, and has a population of about 2,000, good schools and several churches.

Stockton,

SAN JOAQUIN COUNTY,

Ninety-one miles from San Francisco, is one of the large cities of the great Sacramento Valley, situated on an arm of the San Joaquin river, which affords convenient communication by steam and sail with San Francisco. Upon approaching the city we pass the State Asylum for the insane, the two large buildings for the male and female patients respectively being conspicuous from the train. Stockton has a population of 17,000, is handsomely built, with fine gardens and shrubbery, and is the center of a large trade. The principal hotels here are the Yosemite House, kept by the well-known caterer James Cavin, Esq.; the Commercial, a large and fine house in the business center of the city; and the Grand Central, a new and elegant house, with all modern improvements. This enterprising city is the center of the finest wheat-producing sections of the whole State. It is also rapidly taking rank as one of the chief manufacturing cities of California, an industry which has been sadly lacking

Truckee,

NEVADA COUNTY,

Is a thriving and pretty town of 2,000 inhabitants, situated in the Sierra Nevada mountains, on the line of the Central Pacific Railroad, 119 miles from Sacramento. It depends mainly on the lumbering interests of the locality for its support, though the railroad is a source of revenue that contributes very materially to its growth. It is the terminus of a line of stages running to Lakes Tahoe and Donner, whose beauties are spoken of in terms of greatest and sincere ecstacy. The trout caught from the river of the same name, only a short distance from the town, are very fine, and during the summer season anglers are seen in great numbers trolling for the wary beauties. The schools of the place are good, and the sanitary condition of the place is excellent. The Truckee Hotel, by John F. Moody, offers the best of accommodations.

WASHINGTON COLLEGE.

This Institution oocupies a commanding site adjoining the village of Washington, Alameda County, Cal. It is in the center of a rich agricultural district, occupied by an intelligent and enterprising community. The view from the grounds extends many miles along the San Jose valley, and embraces the larger part of the Bay of San Francisco, and the shores and villages beyond. In the background, at a distance of two miles, rises the mountain range which forms the eastern boundary of the valley. A more inviting and appropriate location, with a range of scenery so wide and varied, cannot be found in the State.

The Location of Washington College

Is within two hundred yards of the Washington Station of the San Jose branch of the C. P. R. R., and may be reached in an hour and a half from San Francisco.

It is easily accessible from all parts of the State,

By railway from San Jose, Hollister, Santa Cruz and the Salinas Valley, and from the great San Joaquin and Sacramento Valleys, by the Southern Pacific and the Central Pacific Railroads.

It has a large corps of experienced and most efficient teachers.

For further information, or for circulars, address,

S. S. HARMON, Principal.

West Oakland,

ALAMEDA COUNTY,

Is within the corporate limits of Oakland, though it has a distinct Post Office. It comprises all that part of the city lying west of Center street, and, as an auxiliary in the creation of funds contributed to the support of the city's institutions, is a factor of some importance. There are quite a number of substantial business houses and handsome residences, several schools and elegant churches, in this quarter of the city. Communication is had by horse and steam cars with Oakland and East Oakland, another division of the city.

Woodland,

YOLO COUNTY,

The pretty little city of Woodland, with a population of 4,000, will compare very favorably with the handsomest cities of the State. Her location on the Knight's Landing Branch of the California Pacific Railroad, in a section remarkable alike for its fertility of soil and equable climate, is an assurance of her future importance. She has quite a number of splendid business blocks and magnificent private residences, and is supported by a wealthy farming community. Her Public Square, studded with shrubbery, rare plants, palms and ferns, is a very attractive feature of the place. Her Court House and jail, combined, is a well constructed building, and an ornament to the place. The society is excellent, schools superior and health good.

Yosemite Valley,

MARIPOSA COUNTY.

NATURE'S GIFT TO THE LAND OF LIBERTY.

To the tourist, pleasure-seeker, student of nature, or traveler, there is no spot on earth, either in the old or new world, which is equal to Yosemite valley. No other place can compare with its natural, sublime and majestic grandeur; language proves weak and fails in attempting to portray its many beauties. This place has attained one of the most meritorious places in the world's catalogue of natural wonders. To "do" America and not visit Yosemite, places a blemish upon the foreigner's tablet of sight-seeing—while to leave New York and other Eastern cities and make this trip to Yosemite, is becoming a matter of regular occurrence. Only a few years since the visitors were received by the hundred; now they are counted by the thousands from all parts of the world; it is also visited by a great many camping parties from far and near. Yosemite is situated in Mariposa county, about due east from San Francisco; at present there are three regular roads leading into it—the most popular being by what is known as the Big Oak Flat route, which affords the best conveniences, it being the most direct, having the least staging, and passing through the most picturesque country, and also the historical gold fields of California and the largest and richest mining camps. It also passes through the Tuolumne and Calaveras Big Trees—the latter being the largest grove in the world. By this route the visitor passes through Stockton to Milton, there taking stage through Copperopolis to Priest's, where a stop is made. The traveler will always remember this place, as Mr. Priest gives his guests the very best meal that is possible for a country hotel to serve, at the very lowest prices; continuing the journey the following morning and arriving in the valley during the afternoon, where ample accommodations are afforded by three hotels, viz.: Leidig's, The Yosemite Valley Hotel, and Barnard's Yosemite Falls Hotel, the latter having been known formerly as "Hutchings," and it has the finest location, being built on the bank of the Merced river and directly opposite the Yosemite Falls, commanding an excellent view of the surrounding scenery. A number of cottages have been erected near the hotel for the use of guests. It also has the advantage of being in the business part of the valley, and is the starting point of all the stages, has the Post Office and only telegraph office in the valley, and is only a few steps from the celebrated "Cosmopolitan" Saloon and Bath House, and A. Linning's fine collection of mountain woods, made into all kinds of boxes, cuff buttons, rulers, etc. Any one visiting the valley should not fail to call at the Cosmopolitan and see the great register weighing 108 pounds, which contains a list of all the visitors to the valley for the past ten years. There is also connected with it the only barber shop in the valley, and the finest baths in the State. A fine reading room and many other comforts are at the disposal of guests. Travelers should call on G. Fagerstein and Geo. Fisk and get a collection of their Yosemite views. Mr. Fagerstein is located near the Cosmopolitan, and Mr. Fisk near "Leidig's" Hotel. The valley is seven and a quarter miles long, and from three-fourths to a mile and a half wide, and is surrounded by peaks or perpendicular walls of rock, averaging 3,500 feet. The altitude of the valley is 4060 feet above the level of the sea, and its highest peaks are Cloud's Rest, 6,150 feet, Mt. Starr King, 5,100, South Dome, 5,000 feet, and Sentinel Dome, 4,125 feet. There are also numerous other peaks which are over 3,000 feet in hight. The Merced river runs through the valley. The waterfalls form one of the principal attractions of the scene. The leading ones are the Yosemite Falls, 2,634 feet, which is composed of three falls, the first being 1,600 feet (the largest in the world), second 434, and the third 600 feet, Bridal Veil, 900 feet, The Vernal, 400 feet, and The Nevada, 700 feet. The whole Merced river composes the last two named falls. Besides these there are countless other things to interest and instruct. Never was a place found in nature which better repays the exertion of visiting than the Yosemite Valley.

BARNARD'S

Yosemite Falls Hotel,

(FORMERLY HUTCHINGS')

YOSEMITE VALLEY, CAL.

THE FIRST CLASS HOTEL OF THE VALLEY.

THIS IS THE ONLY HOTEL IN THIS VALLEY WITH Cottages separate from the main building, and located immediately on the margin of the beautiful waters of the Merced River. Our dining room, also on the river, looks out under shady trees and over green lawns, with a grand view in a direct line of the Yosemite Fall, 2,634 feet high. Invalids and parties who cannot endure horseback riding, can see all the principal points of interest from the porches of this hotel.

The Proprietor of this Hotel, thanking the public for the liberal patronage bestowed on him in the past, takes this opportunity of informing parties visiting the Yosemite Valley (the grandest spot on earth), that his house has been thoroughly renovated this season, and is now open for the reception of guests.

This house was formerly kept by J. M. HUTCHINGS, the present Guardian of the Valley, and is now his home, and he is always ready to impart any information in his power, and to see that all visitors are well treated during their stay in this wonderful Valley.

The Post Office and Telegraph Office, the only ones in the Valley, are in this Hotel. The Parlors are furnished with a first-class Piano, for the use of the guests, and in one is inclosed a living tree, eight feet in diameter, and towering one hundred and seventy-five feet above the roof. This room, with its immense fire-place filled with glowing logs in the cool evenings, has become historical.

COMBINATION HORSE-POWER PUMP,

A New and Simple Apparatus for Pumping Water,

COMBINING PUMP AND POWER TOGETHER.

The most complete, compact, durable and effective machine for the purpose. A sure and quick means of getting water. No waiting for the wind; no fear of it blowing down. It gives a constant motion and a continuous stream. No jerks, fly wheels, tumbling rods or beams, or clumsy contrivances. Pump never needs priming or packing. We guarantee that each machine will run lighter, pump more water, take up less room, easier to repair, move or set in operation than any other one-horse power made or in use. Capacity, 1,500 to 2,000 gallons per hour. Weight, 600 pounds.

Refer to T. Holliday, Live Oak, Cal.; Judge Norman, Gridley, Cal.; Marion Boulware, Biggs, Cal.; and many others.

For particulars, address

Situated between latitude 35 deg. and 42 deg. north and longitude 114 deg. and 120 deg. west. Bounded on the north by Oregon and Idaho, on the east by Utah and Arizona, and on the south and west by California. Its area is 104,125 square miles, being third in extent of territory, Texas and California preceding her in the rank of dimension. Nevada was the thirty-sixth State admitted to the Union under the Constitution. Its counties are only fourteen in number, and necessarily large. The population, which is variously estimated at from 60,000 to 75,000, is decidedly cosmopolitan, Americans predominating largely. The general surface is a table land, with an average altitude of 4,500 feet above sea level, traversed with great uniformity by nearly parallel ranges of mountains, rising from 1,000 to 8,000 feet higher. These ranges have for the most part a north and south direction, and are separated by valleys from five to twenty miles wide, the bases of the mountains having also about the same width. The mountains are frequently intersected by ravines, which form easy passes, and in some places are broken into confused and detached masses. The valleys sometimes extend more than 100 miles, uninterrupted except by an occasional butte or projecting spur, and frequently, where the mountains disappear or contract, unite with other valleys, or expand into broad plains or basins, some of which are unobstructed, while others are dotted with buttes or covered with groups of rugged hills. The rivers of the State are small and not navigable, some of which disappear in "sinks" or sloughs. Others again find their way to the surface after "losing" themselves. This is occasioned by the porous soil that is found there. The vast productions of silver ore which her mines have yielded has resulted in the acquirement of the title of the "Silver State." The "Bonanza" mines have a reputation unequaled by those of any other in the world, though the carbonate deposits of Colorado promise a richer harvest of metals than the quartz mines of this very rich State. The stock raising interests of Nevada are a source of revenue that few States or countries can boast. The cattle raised for beef command a higher price in Eastern markets than those of any other "Far West" State or Territory, while the wool clipped from her many flocks of sheep is said to be inferior to none that ever passed the scrutiny of the argus-eyed inspector at the greatest factories in the world. Besides her deposits of silver there have been discovered lodes of copper, iron and other metals of remarkable richness. The future of the State, while it is perhaps not so promising as it was during the excitement incident to the discovery of the precious ores in such large quantities, cannot be considered otherwise than flattering. Her progress, we predict, will be steady and permanent, and ere the close of the present decade her population will show an increase not anticipated by her most sanguine citizens. Her schools are superior, her people enterprising and intelligent, and her public institutions will compare favorably with those of States that have worn the "cape of time" so many years longer.

The total production of bullion in the State for the last eleven years has reached the fabulous sum of $450,000,000. The valleys are very rich for agricultural purposes, vegetables, grain, tobacco, hay and other products, as experiments show, yielding quite an income to those thus engaged. There are quite a number of industrial enterprises throughout the State, such as saw mills, breweries, flouring mills, wagon-makers and blacksmiths, sash and door factories, smelting works, etc., etc.

RAILROADS.

THE CENTRAL PACIFIC

Is the most important and advantageous, and traverses the entire width of the State from east to west, covering a distance of 452 miles. This road is the outlet to the Pacific and Atlantic seaboards, being a great convenience to the whole population. The 452 miles are divided into counties as follows:

Washoe,	52.30
Lyon,	11.25
Churchill,	29.25
Humboldt,	144.50
Lander,	26.10
Eureka,	35.50
Elko,	152.50

THE VIRGINIA AND TRUCKEE,

Connecting the Comstock and Carson City with the Central Pacific at Reno. Length, 52 miles. Traversing four counties, as follows:

	MILES.
Storey,	6.34
Washoe,	25.65
Lyon,	6.47
Ormsby,	13.29

The management of this road is always deserving of the thanks of the public for its efforts to make the concern in every way a convenience. The roadbed of this line is said to be unexcelled by any in the United States, while the coaches are models of comfort and beauty. The approach to Virginia City is one of the finest pieces of engineering we have ever seen.

CARSON AND COLORADO

Branches from the Virginia and Truckee at Mound House, eleven miles from Carson City. It is being constructed in a southerly direction, its ultimate objective point, we believe, the head of navigation of the Colorado river. One hundred and twenty miles of the road is already laid, and at present writing it is being operated to Hawthorne, 100 miles south of Mound House. Hawthorne is but 36 miles from Bodie, California, and is connected with that place by a beautiful wagon road, constructed at a cost of $60,000 by the railroad company. This magnificent piece of mountain road building at last renders the celebrated Mono district easy of access. The Carson and Colorado Railroad will hasten the development of a large section of Southern Nevada.

NEVADA CENTRAL RAILWAY.

This road is a three-foot gauge, running from Battle Mountain, Nevada, a point on the Central Pacific 362 miles west of Ogden, to Austin, 93 miles south. The road was begun in September, 1879, and completed in February, 1880. For the first year it was unsuccessful, but was sold to the Union Pacific in June, 1881, since which time it has been put in first-class condition in every particular, and is now one of the best three-foot gauge roads in the United States. Besides being the natural route for Austin and intermediate points, it is the nearest possible rail route to Kingston, Belmont, Silver Peak, San Antone, Lone Mountain, Grantsville, Ione, Ellsworth, Downeyville, Lodi, Gold Park, and to all places in Smoky, Reese River, and Smith Creek Valleys, commanding the business of 300 square miles in Southern Nevada. Under the new management the road is very successful, putting forth every effort to secure business and please its patrons; and its officers enjoy the advantage of having the friendship of all with whom they come in contact. It is therefore one of the few roads that can truthfully say: "Our patrons are our best friends." The road will be extended 100 miles south in the near future, thereby opening up one of the richest mineral districts in Southern Nevada. Its present officers are as follows:- S. H. H. Clark, President, Omaha, Nebraska; Sidney Dillon, Vice-President, New York; F. W. Dunn, General Superintendent, Battle Mountain, Nevada; C. W. Hinchcliffe, Secretary G. F. & P. A., Battle Mountain; general offices, Battle Mountain, Nevada. All trains on this road make close connections with trains on the Central Pacific in both directions, both for freight and passengers; and from present indications we would conclude that the enterprise has a bright future before it.

EUREKA AND PALISADE,

Constructed in 1864–5, connecting Eureka and the famous Ruby Hill (generally believed and gradually proving itself to be the richest mining district in the world) with the Central Pacific, at Palisade. This line is a well appointed and substantially built narrow-gauge. Length, 90 miles. The recent discoveries in some of the mines of Eureka have largely increased the business of the road, which is enjoying the prosperity so well deserved by its public-spirited managers. Close connections are made by the Eureka and Palisade with all trains of the Central Pacific Railroad. Freight for Ward, Osceola, Hamilton, Pioche, Tybo, Morey, Hot Creek, Tempahute, Mineral Hill, and Bullion is shipped by the Eureka and Palisade Railroad. The road will be extended south in a short time, with the object of connecting with the Carson and Colorado Railroad. There are productive ranches for thirty miles south of Palisade, raising grain and large quantities of hay—several of the ranches produce about 600 tons each of hay annually.

EUREKA AND COLORADO RIVER.

The route for this road is being surveyed from Eureka southeast to the Utah line, with a probable extension to the Colorado river. The construction of the road is begun, and will be urgently pushed. It possesses all of the elements of a successful enterprise, and will be completed within a short time.

Aurora,

ESMERALDA COUNTY,

Reached from Del Monte station on the Bodie stage road, is the county seat, substantially built, principally of brick houses, at an elevation of almost 7775 feet. In the early history of Nevada this town had a population of about 3500 inhabitants, all depending and flourishing on its only industry, mining. Aurora was once one of the richest mining districts in the country, exporting in a few years over $15,000,000 worth of bullion, all dug out of her surrounding hills, Cottonwood Gulch, Turkey Hill and Silver Hill. Although Aurora has a reduced population now of about 350 souls, the revival of her mining interests may be looked for at no distant date. Eastern capital is directing itself toward this old camp, as the systematic reopening and development of valuable properties like the Real del Monte, the Cortez, the Centennial and other mines, cannot fail to meet with success. The Court House, and some of the principal brick buildings, give the town a solid appearance, and predict that the future will rival the past. The population of Esmeralda county is about 6000, with last vote cast 1283, and the prosperous farming district called Mason's Valley, is in its boundaries.

Austin,

LANDER COUNTY.

Situated at the southern terminus of the Nevada Central Railroad, 95 miles from Battle Mountain, on the Central Pacific Railroad. County seat. Population, 2000. Elevation above sea level, 6475 feet. Austin was the outgrowth of the mining excitement incident to the discovery of rich quartz ledges in the Reese River District, dating its existence from 1863. A year following the first of the tide of immigration which poured ceaselessly for several months into this then remote quarter, witnessed an incorporation of the place; and when it was three years old it had assumed all the importance of a dignified commercial metropolis, boasting a population of 6000. Mills for the reduction of ores and the separation of silver and other metals, were soon erected, and presented an appearance of great activity. It is now a steady-gowing town of 2000 inhabitants, and enjoying a solid trade, but it lacks the bustle and excitement of its prosperous early career. It is a well-built town, containing such buildings that places of greater prentensions cannot boast. Among the most prominent of the buildings are the Masonic, Odd Fellows' and City Halls, while the county buildings are commodious and substantial structures. Its schools are good, people intelligent and hospitable, and the religious denominations are all creditably represented.

The place boasts of but one newspaper—the Reese River Reveille, a daily, which contains telegraphic news from all parts of the world, able editorials and sparkling local and miscellaneous matter. The paper is owned and conducted by that veteran of Western journalists, Mr. John Booth, to whom the community owes a debt of gratitude for the enterprise he exhibits.

Carson City,

ORMSBY COUNTY,

Capital of the State and county seat of Ormsby County. Population, about 7,000. Wood and lumber are the chief industries, and formerly these products were handled here in fabulous quantities. The site of the town is quite pretty, and its improvements are very fine, architecturally. The State Capitol is a towering stone structure, occupying, with park surrounding, four squares. The penitentiary is located one and a half miles from town. It is a solid mass of buildings, surrounded by substantial stone fences with iron gates—quite as adequate for its uses as any similar institution in the United States. Shade trees thickly line the streets of Carson, and give the city a very attractive appearance. Nowhere in Nevada have we enjoyed such grateful shading. Carson has a bank, three daily newspapers—the Morning Appeal, the Nevada Tribune, edited by E. J. Parkinson, and the Daily Index, published by Marshall Robinson—also several manufactures of importance and firmly established. The U. S. Branch Mint is an imposing building. Carson is well supplied in the matter of hotels. The three leading ones are the Ormsby House, Arlington, and St. Charles. The Ormsby is a large building fronting the Capitol, and conducted by the Messrs. Sharp, who also own the celebrated Tallac House, on Lake Tahoe. These gentlemen have a faculty for first-class hotel keeping. The Arlington is a commodious fireproof building of fifty rooms, all furnished in elegant style, and conducted by Mr. C. L. Sherman, a hotel man of many years' experience. Charles Yoemans, steward and barkeeper on the Sacramento boats as far back as 1851-2, is assisting Mr. Sherman in the departments to which he is so well adapted.

Swift's Hot Springs are distant only one and a half miles from town, and are the most popular resort of the vicinity. The different mineral waters possess many good qualities. The mineral swimming and private baths are excellent features. Carson City is the headquarters of the Virginia and Truckee, and Carson and Colorado Railroads.

Elko,

ELKO COUNTY.

County seat. Situated on the C. P. R. R., 558 miles from San Francisco, and 344 miles from Carson City. Elko is the shipping point for an important section of Idaho and Northern Nevada, for which purpose it possesses a very good system of county wagon roads. The location of the town is desirable, being on a natural esplanade. It is the site of the State University, a brick building costing $15,000. It possesses a bank under the direction of J. Henderson, which is the only institution of the kind on the whole line of road between Reno and Ogden. The Independent, a bright daily, is edited by Mr. S. S. Sears, whose experience, and the great interest he takes in the locality, make him especially fitted for the position. The Depot Hotel, kept by Mr. James Clark, is the principal hotel of the place. It has about forty rooms, elegantly furnished, and the fare offered bespeaks the liberal policy of its landlord. Mr. Joseph Lang conducts a commodious family boarding house, just at the rear of the Depot. The Hot Springs, one and a half miles from Elko, are a great attraction. Mineral waters of different temperatures are utilized for bathing purposes, and are considered very beneficial. A comfortable hotel is run in connection with the Springs by the owner, Mrs. J. J. Garrecht. Stages leave Elko for Tuscarora, Cornucopia, and Columbia, daily, except Sundays. The altitude at this point is 5,063 feet. Population, 1,000.

Eureka,

EUREKA COUNTY.

In population and importance Eureka is the second county in Nevada. With the exception of a few men in the employ of the Overland Stage Company, twelve years ago there was scarcely a white man in the territory of which the county is now composed, but with the discovery of the mines of Ruby Hill a source of wealth was opened up which in later years has been only surpassed by the Comstock. Since then a city has sprung up as if by magic; a score of mountain peaks have been searched for their stores of hidden treasure; brilliant engineering feats have been planned and carried to a successful execution; intense activity in every department of mining has prevailed.

The town is the county seat of Eureka County, and is situated about two miles from the principal mines, in a canyon between Diamond and Prospect Mountains, and has an altitude of 7000 feet above the level of the sea. Adams Hill is west two and one half miles on the north slope, which runs from Prospect Mountain to the Flat. McCoy Hill lies directly south, on the first ridge to the west of the canyon. Ajax Hill is southeast of Ruby Hill, and five miles south of the town is Hoosac Mountain, east of the road leading to Secret Canyon, and according to the last census it contains 4207 inhabitants. It has one of the finest public schools to be found on the coast, Episcopal, Presbyterian, Methodist and Catholic Churches, two theaters, three first-class hotels, two daily papers (the Sentinel and Leader), two banks, and its Court-house is one of the best in the State.

RUBY HILL

And vicinity contains 2,116 inhabitants. It is located over and near the principal mines, contains an excellent public school, two churches, a weekly newspaper (The Mining News), and a proportionate number of business places.

HOW TO GET TO EUREKA.

Eureka is 2,943 miles from New York, and the average time required to make the journey is about six days. The town is connected with Palisade, on the Central Pacific Railroad, by the Eureka and Palisade Railroad (narrow gauge), the fare between the two points being $8. The cost of a first-class ticket from Omaha to San Francisco is $100. Should the purchaser not desire to go through direct, the ticket is good at any time. To this should be added $11 for sleeping-car berths and from seventy-five cents to one dollar for meals. The two dividend paying mines of Eureka district make a wonderful showing. The following is their respective total productions: Eureka Consolidated, $4,580,000; Richmond, $2,692,585, which exhibit is only a suggestion of what the district is capable of when developed. Eureka is the county seat, and has a population of 7,000. There are some rich lands in the vicinity, which are a mine in themselves, as Eureka is a good market.

Situated two miles from Virginia City, on the V. and T. Railroad. Gold Hill has shared with Virginia City in all the vast discoveries of the Comstock. Although the prospect at present writing is rather disheartening, there is no question in the minds of experts but that the prosecution of the work on the lower depths will fully reward the several mining companies still engaged in it; while the Sutro Tunnel will facilitate the reduction of low-grade ore at a profit, and give to miners plenty of employment. Gold Hill has a bank doing business with a large capital, and several business houses of importance.

Hawthorne,

ESMERALDA COUNTY,

Is a new and growing town, built in the sagebrush at the foot of Walker Lake, on the borders of Mason Valley. This place promises to become of great importance as a railroad center, being the principal station on the Carson and Colorado Railroad, and the only connecting point for Bodie, Belleville, Candelaria, etc.; distributing also from there the farming products of Mason Valley and the wood trade of the surrounding pineries.

It has a population estimated at 200, not counting the large number of teamsters and woodchoppers employed in the wood camps; with two hotels to accommodate a lively transit travel, a general merchandise store, blacksmith shops, Post Office, railroad depot and warehouses, with a weekly paper appropriately called "The Oasis." Its near vicinity to Walker Lake gives it a healthy and beautiful location.

Reno,

WASHOE COUNTY.

County seat. Situated on the Central Pacific Railroad, at its junction with the Virginia and Truckee Railroad, 154 miles from Sacramento, and 31 miles from Carson City. Reno has been twice visited by serious conflagrations, which have each time completely devastated the business portion of the town; but it would appear that the development of the place has only been advanced by these disasters, for no town in the State enjoys such a steady growth, or presents a more substantial and beautiful appearance to-day, architecturally. It is situated in quite a fertile valley, from which it derives much of its support. Chief among its institutions is Mount St. Mary's Academy, a fine building, occupying a commanding position in the town. It is under the supervision of the Sisters of Charity, and is widely celebrated throughout the State for the thorough manner in which it educates and trains its charges. The course of studies embrace all that is usually taught in first-class seminaries. Reno has two newspapers, both published daily and weekly. The Evening Gazette, edited by R. L. Fulton, is a bright, newsy sheet, extensively quoted as an authority on Nevada matters; and The Nevada State Journal, edited by C. C. Powning, who has a keen appreciation of the way to run a newspaper successfully. The Nevada Theater is a hall capable of seating 1,000 people Its interior and stage facilities are of the best, and everything from pit to dome looks as bright as a new dollar. The Nevada and Oregon Railroad Co. is constructing a line to run from Reno to the Goose Lake country, in Southern Oregon; also a branch that will connect at Beckwith Pass and run through the Sierra and Mohawk valleys to Quincy, and from thence to Greenville and Big Meadows. Several hundred men are at present employed in the work of construction. The First National Bank of Reno, of which D. A. Bender is President, makes the following healthy showing: Paid up capital, $75,000; surplus, $5,000. The hotels of Reno are numerous, but all seemingly prosperous. The Arcade Hotel, by D. McFarland, and the Palace, by Perkins & White, are commodious houses, with fine restaurants attached. They are both conducted on the European plan. There are also the Depot Hotel, at the station, which is a most imposing building, and is one of the best eating houses on the road; International Hotel, French Hotel, Lake House, overlooking the Truckee river; Lafayette House, opposite the depot, and several boarding houses.

Tuscarora,

ELKO COUNTY.

Situated on the Owyhee River Slope, about 50 miles north of Elko, the county seat. Altitude, about 7200 feet. This is one of the most important mining regions in the State. Besides her mines, Tuscarora has several mills of great capacity, some of which are in operation at present writing. The surrounding country is a good agricultural and stock raising district. The Times-Review, published daily by Messrs. Fairchild & Dennis, is a bright and acceptable paper, and looks well after the interests of the locality. The Tuscarora Foundry, Messrs. Dove & Jack, proprietors, has all the improved facilities for manufacturing all kinds of mill and mining machinery. There are several commodious lodging houses at Tuscarora, and a good restaurant—The Gem, under the experienced management of Mr. W. R. Usher. The ride by stage from Elko to Tuscarora and return, being altogether by daylight, is one of the most bracing and healthful that we have ever enjoyed. The roads are hard and smooth, and invariably in excellent condition; while the stock employed by the stage company is always in first-class condition, and spin along from station to station at a pace as fast as a regard for safety will permit.

Virginia City,

STOREY COUNTY.

Situated on the side of Mount Davidson, at an average elevation of 6,150 feet, 52 miles by V. & T. Railroad from Reno (junction with C. P.), and 21 miles from Carson City. The elevated position of this world-renowned city is always a source of consolation to its inhabitants, for in truth its climate is invariably bracing and delightful, and never oppressive. When "stocks are down," it will be observed that Virginians do not hang their heads like devotees of Dame Fortune in other towns less elevated. The atmosphere will not admit of it. A little growl, that hardly suggests complaint, is all that is to be heard, while good humor and pleasant sociability prevail. Speaking of the sociability of Virginians, we know of one gentleman—a photographer—who, although pressed with business to his full capacity, makes as many as twenty calls a day on a friend of his. We have forgotten his friend's name for the moment, but he is another striking example of the sociability of the place. Many of the leading mines on the Comstock are in operation at present writing, but that celebrated lead does not yield anything like its former productions. Although the prospect at present is discouraging, mining experts agree that the prosecution of work on the lower depths will fully reward the companies engaged in it. The Sutro Tunnel will also be a source of future wealth to this historic locality, when mining men come down to the working of the lower grade ores. It takes considerable reflection to realize the magnitude of this vast tunnel enterprise, its cost, and the scientific skill necessary to bring it to completion. It is four miles in length, terminating at Sutro, at the foot of the range. Its history is of great interest, and visitors to the Pacific Coast should not fail to inspect it, as it is one of the greatest triumphs of modern engineering. The most imposing structure in Virginia is its International Hotel building, at the corner of C and Union streets; it is six stories high, gained by an elevator, has 162 rooms above the ground floor, and cost a quarter of a million dollars. Piper's Opera House is a well appointed establishment, in regard to stage facilities, etc., and has a seating capacity for 1,200 people. The Court House, on B street, is a handsome brick with stone trimmings. Barton's stage line to Sutro, Dayton and Silver City, makes close connections with the trains of the Carson and Colorado Railroad for Candelaria, Bodie, Aurora, etc. It strikes the railroad at Dayton, and makes two trips daily, connecting with both south and north-bound expresses. The lodging houses and restaurants of Virginia are all that the traveling public can desire. The Fredrick and Mollinelli House are roomy and well-furnished buildings. The Fredrick is located on the corner of D and Union streets, near the depot, and has sixty odd rooms.

Wadsworth,

WASHOE COUNTY,

Is situated on the C. P. R. R., where that road crosses and leaves the Truckee River, going east, 329 miles from San Francisco. Has a population of 400, and an altitude of 4077 feet. The railroad company's machine shop, round house, car repair shop and Division Superintendent's office for Truckee Division are located at this point.

This may be considered mostly a railroad town, although several valuable farms are in near proximity on the line of the river, and it is the shipping point for Churchill County, extending 100 miles southeast, and also for Pyramid Lake Indian Reservation, situated 16 miles north on the Truckee River, noted for its extensive trout fisheries during the Winter months.

from Sacramento, and exactly 200 miles by rail from Carson City. Altitude, 4,332 feet. It is supported by the important stock raising interests of the vicinity and Idaho (being the chief shipping point on the railroad for that Territory), as well as some rich agricultural country. Paradise Valley, 35 miles from this town, is exceedingly fertile and highly cultivated. Winnemucca boasts a brass and string band, under the leadership of John Cox, of the Oriental Saloon. Stages run daily from this point to all parts of Idaho and Eastern Oregon, and connect with stages for Montana. Mr. L. L. Ricard (Montana Ricard) runs a branch line, connecting at Toll House with the Idaho stage to the Paradise valley and mines. Winnemucca has one newspaper, The Silver State, published daily by Messrs. SITUATED between the 37th and 42d parallels of north latitude, and the 109th and 114th meridians west from Greenwich, lying north of Arizona, south of Idaho and Wyoming, east of Nevada, and west of Colorado and Wyoming, and having an area of 84,476 square miles. It is divided almost equally by the Wasatch mountains, which intersect its whole extent from north to south. On the east side of these lofty sentinels are the Green and Grand rivers, which, with their several branches, form the Colorado, while on the west side are Jordan, Weber, Bear, Timpanogos, Sevier and Salt Creek rivers, to whose waters the cultivation of many thousand acres of land and the reduction of vast quantities of ore can be attributed. The interests which involve the destiny of this promising Territory are dependent on these beautiful and valuable streams. Without their presence, the many blooming orchards, fields of rustling, ripening grain, and the hum of commerce, would be represented by desolation and waste. Irrigation is a necessity for the production of cereals and fruits, of which she can consistently boast in terms of enthusiasm and pride, for in all markets where the products of her soil have been introduced they have acquired a reputation, both for quality and size, that is encouraging. These facts, in addition to the one which experiments in mining industries have demonstrated, are worthy of the consideration of all seeking profitable investment in that direction, and certainly augur most favorably of her future. She is possessed of a multiplicity of features which must prove of advantage to her rapid and permanent growth, and not the least important of these is her climate. In the southern part of the Territory, cotton is grown without risk, and experience proves that the silk-worm can thrive almost anywhere within her confines. Oranges and other tropical fruits have been grown also in some localities, though in some sections the temperature reaches a degree of cold that is disastrous to stock. Lead, copper, iron, silver and gold are all found in paying quantities almost anywhere in the mountains, whose summits also at the present time are rich in the possession of a fine growth of timber, which is confined, however, to the fir, oak, cottonwood and one or two other varieties. Heavy falls of snow are annually witnessed in the northern portion. The mountains are covered during the greater portion of the year with a luxuriant growth of nutritious grasses, on which large herds of cattle, flocks of sheep, and droves of horses, grow sleek and fat, and become a source of great revenue to their owners. Another of her attractive features is the dryness and purity of the atmosphere, while the water which courses constantly down her mountain sides, is cool, sparkling and delicious. The sanitary condition of the Territory is highly gratifying, and her public school system is spoken of in the highest praise. The Great Salt Lake is a beautiful sheet of water, though so strongly impregnated with chloride of sodium as to render it unfit for use in the promotion of the agricultural interests. Very valuable salt is made by evaporation from the water which comes from it. So extremely salt is it that nothing endowed with animal life can exist in it. Its dimensions are 75 by 30 miles, and during the warm season it is visited by thousands of people, for the purpose of bathing in it. The buoyancy of the water is so great that it is found impossible for persons to sink in it. Each succeeding year witnesses an increase in the development of her mines, and the time is not remote when she shall wear the crown which credits her with being the leading bullion producing dependency of the Union. For the year ending December, 1879, Wells, Fargo & Co. handled 2,301,276 pounds of refined, and 26,441,359 pounds of unrefined lead, 3,835,047 ounces of silver and 15,932 ounces of gold, the product of Utah, whose combined value amounted to $5,219,747 69.

When the above figures are added to those of individuals who have not had dealings with the express company, the aggregate will have been largely increased, and when the fact that these interests are as yet comparatively in their infancy is considered, the belief of her importance as a "lustrous gem" in our country's firmament, must become deeply rooted. Her population cannot exceed 150,000 people, though the resources are capable of supporting twenty times the number. Her saw and grist mills are numerous in comparison with other sections, and give employment to an army of operatives.

RAILROADS.

Through the spirit of enterprise which largely predominated in the men who were identified with the history of Utah, her progress was accelerated by the introduction of railways. The progressive spirit of the people of Utah is nowhere so fully displayed as by the enthusiastic manner with which they adopt proposals for this kind of enterprise. The number of miles of railroad in operation at present is quite large, and increasing as rapidly in proportion as the systems of many States far east of here. The railroads in operation are as follows:

THE CENTRAL PACIFIC.

That monument to the enterprise, perseverance and sagacity of its projectors terminates its tortuous track at Ogden and joins hands with the Union Pacific 895 miles east of San Francisco. The completion of this transcontinental roadway of steel was a success unparalleled in the history of railroad engineering and construction. Its machine shops at Ogden give employment to hundreds of men, and through its regular distribution of money the Territory is greatly benefited.

THE UNION PACIFIC

Also has its shops in Ogden. Some of the most difficult and costly railroading on the line of the Union Pacific is in this Territory. The pass of Echo Canyon is made in sight of the most delightful scenery, many celebrated views and objects lying along the road. Substantial iron and stone bridges are used exclusively in this canyon, and the roadbed is as even and the steel rails as smooth as the finest New York railroad.

THE UTAH CENTRAL

Is a consolidation of the Utah Central and Utah Southern, having Ogden for its northern and Frisco for its southern terminus, passing through Salt Lake City; total length, 280 miles; completed July 1, 1881. Two railroads are being constructed west, in Colorado, with the ultimate object, we believe, of connecting with this important line. The Utah Central is all that could be desired in the matter of accommodations and consideration for the traveling public and shippers. Energetic and intelligent men are at the head of affairs in all the departments. Close connections are made with the trains of the Central and the Union Pacific railroads.

THE UTAH AND NORTHERN (NARROW-GAUGE)

Is 378 miles in length, running north from Ogden 78 miles through Utah, 205 miles through Idaho, and the balance through Montana will be completed to Butte City, Montana, early in 1882. The grading for a branch from Dillon, on the Utah and Northern, to Helena, Montana, is also in progress. The distance is only 150 miles, and the line will be completed shortly. Connecting Montana with the great transcontinental railway system, means the development of the immense riches of that Territory, and does credit to the enterprise of our railroad builders. The Utah and Northern makes close connections at Ogden with the Central Pacific, Union Pacific and Utah Central Railroads. It is also the route for the Yellowstone Park region, and passes through some of the most magnificent scenic country that the human eye ever beheld. There is superior agricultural land along this line.

THE SALT LAKE AND WESTERN RAILWAY

(Standard gauge), incorporated in May, 1881. Building from Lehi Station, on the Utah Central, across Utah to the State line of Nevada; crossing State line about the 40th parallel, and then running southwesterly through Nevada and crossing the California State line near Gold mountain, with the intention of making San Francisco the western terminus. One hundred miles of the road is at present writing under contract, and track will be laid before the winter closes (1881). Steel rails are to be used the entire distance.

THE UTAH AND NEVADA,

Organized June, 1874, as the Utah Western Railroad, and changed to the present name, February, 1881. Its present length is 37 miles, and it runs from Salt Lake City to Black Rock, Garfield, and Lake Point on the shore of the Great Salt Lake, receiving freight for Stockton, Ophir, Grantsville, etc. An extension of this road will shortly be operated to Tanner's Springs and Tintic District, Utah, distance 87 miles from eastern terminus. Black Rock, Garfield, and Lake Point are bathing resorts on the lake shore, and in the season, cheap and fast excursion trains are run between the city and these points several times a day. These trips are very popular, nearly everybody turning out in the evening to enjoy a bath in the lake.

THE OTHER LINES

Are the Wasatch and Jordan Valley, Bingham Canyon and Camp Floyd, and Pleasant Valley Railroads. There is also a narrow gauge, running from Park City to Coalville, named the Utah Eastern. This road is a feeder of coal to the important Park City mines.

Logan,

CACHE COUNTY,

Is the county seat of Cache county, 58 miles from Ogden, on the line of the Utah Northern Railroad, and has a population of 4,000 souls. Situated in one of the most delightful spots in that section, with its beautiful homes, enterprising, intelligent people, its delightful climate and fertile soil, and its superior facilities for transportation, it is at once made an attractive place. The Z. C. M. I. own a very large mart, where the principal business of the place is transacted. There is also a woolen mill, recently completed, which cost several thousand dollars, and which will soon give employment to a number of operatives. The population of Cache Valley is 20,000.

The most prominent features of the place are these found in the Tabernacle, a handsome edifice, which cost upwards of $100,000, and the New Temple, now under course of construction, ground for which was broken on the 15th of May, 1877, and the corner stone was laid on the 17th of September following. The site of the structure is very fine and commanding, being upon a high bench, and affording a most excellent place of observation, from which the beautiful valley presents a magnificent picture.

The main building is 171 feet long, 95 feet wide, 85 feet high, with two towers at both ends 155 feet high from the foundation to the apex. The construction of this charming building is being effected by the joint efforts of five counties adjoining. The material being used is a beautiful variegated granite taken from a quarry in Green Canyon, a few miles away. The estimated cost of the Temple is $350,000, though additional improvements on the original plans may augment the sum to $600,000. With the exception of the handsome Temple at Salt Lake City, this building will be the finest in that section of the country.

Bear river is a beautiful stream, from which great numbers of the finny tribe are annually taken, while the mountains afford excellent sport for shooting.

The public school house, erected at a cost of $5,000, is a most creditable building. The sanitary condition of the place is excellent, and the residents genial, extending open arms to all who desire to sojourn with them.

The Union Flour Mills, operated by Messrs. Thatcher & Sons, are of great capacity, and are celebrated throughout the Territory.

Is located near Ogden, in a thriving and prosperous agricultural district, and has a population of 1,400. The town is well supplied with excellent water by several mountain streams, and has four district schools, all well attended, thus showing that an appreciation of educational matters is widely felt, and that the advantages of social and moral standing are conducive to good government and happiness. The residence of Sidney Stevens, Esq., is the handsomest in the city, by whose courtesy of demeanor he has won the respect of the whole community, and has reaped a rich reward and a liberal patronage.

could. It is the western terminus of the Union Pacific, the eastern terminus of the Central Pacific, the northern terminus of the Utah Central, and the southern terminus of the Utah Northern Railroads, and could very appropriately, therefore, be called the "Junction City." It is supported largely by the railroad interests, though the country surrounding the place is emphatically overflowing with the richness of a bountiful soil, being adapted to the pursuits of fruit-growing, stock-raising and the production of grain and vegetables. The scenic features are attractive and grand, the Wasatch mountains forming a background to a picture that is seldom found among the landscapes of Nature's art gallery. The streets are broad and smooth, running at right angles, and the places of religious worship are numerous, while the eye frequently comes in contact with pretty school houses, handsome residences and elegant places of business. Salt Lake City must look to her laurels, else her enterprising sister will outreach her in the grasp for metropolitan honors. The residents are energetic and public-spirited, and so far as morality is concerned, we opine that her condition is truly flattering, though it was hinted, at one time, it could be improved upon." The hotels of the city are good—the Beardsley Hotel and the Keeney House offering accommodations and fare that is not excelled in the Territory. They are both situated at the Union Depot, and meals are served to passengers of all trains at the former house. Mr. Beardsley is an experienced, trustworthy and genial gentleman, and no branch of business is represented by a better man. The newspapers of the place evince an enterprise in the collection and selection of subject matter that is highly commendable. The future of the town is really bright, and we have a confidence in her growth that, if felt by all, would no doubt insure a rapid and very permanent growth. Ogden possesses a woolen mill and a flouring mill, the latter conducted by L. Farr. The bank of Harkness & Co., established in 1877, does a general banking and exchange business. Information regarding Utah Territory is always cheerfully accorded to those desiring it by Messrs. H. & Co. White's Pioneer planing mill and lumber depot, located near the Junction, on the corner of Fourth and Wall streets, employs sixty men, and manufactures 3,000,000 feet of lumber annually. Mr. White is building an addition to the mill to meet the wants of his increased business. Henry E. Gibson's planing mill and lumber yard is also a large establishment, and an important industry.

GOODFELLOW & TROTTER'S

REVISED

TEN COMMANDMENTS.

"He that loveth not wine, women or song, Remains a fool his whole life long."

OLD TESTAMENT.—"Give strong drink unto him that is ready to perish, and unto those that be of heavy heart."—Proverbs, Chap. 31st, 6th verse.

NEW TESTAMENT.—"Drink no longer water, but use a little wine for thy stomach's sake, and thine often infirmities."—First Epistle Paul to Timothy, Chap. 5, verse 23.

—o—o—

I.—When thirsty, thou shalt come to our house and drink.

II.—Thou shalt always keep our name in memory, and forget all others in the same business.

III.—Thou shalt honor us and our bartender, so that thou shalt live long in the land, and continue to drink at our house forever.

IV.—Thou shalt honor us and ours, that thou mayst live long and see us again.

V.—Thou shalt not break or destroy anything on our premises, else thou shalt pay for it—double its value.

VI.—No singing; thou shalt not raise thy voice in song, nor thy feet in gayety.

VII.—Thou shalt not dare to pay thy bills in bad money, nor hang it up

VIII.—Thou shalt not steal from us, as we need all we have, and more too.

IX.—Thou shalt not expect too large glasses, for the landlord must live on the profits

X.—After eating and drinking at our house, thou shalt pay us promptly, for the landlord never likes to chalk, especially to poor customers.

Park City,

SUMMIT COUNTY.

Situated on the Echo and Park City branch of the U. P. Railroad, 26 miles from the junction (Echo), and 66 miles from Ogden. It derives its support from the silver mines of the neighborhood, than which there are no more prolific in America. Disputes between the several companies engaged in developing these mines has led to litigation, which has been the means of temporarily suspending the working of them; but as soon as the questions are compromised or settled work will be resumed, and an immense yield is expected. At present writing the only work in progress is on the Ontario mine and mill, the most extensive enterprise of the kind in Utah. The workings are systematic, and are laid out on a large scale, and the daily yield of ore has been immense, while the reserves already in sight can be definitely calculated, and warrant the expectation that for many years the output will in nowise diminish.

About a mile and a half north of the mine are situated the extensive buildings necessary for reducing the ore from these mines. They consist of a forty-stamp mill for dry crushing, two large chloridizing furnaces, retort and melting room, coal house, ore house, lodging and boarding houses, offices, machine, carpenter and blacksmith shops, store house, etc. These works are valued, in round numbers, at $350,000, and employ a force of fifty men; while the buildings, hoisting works at and around the mine, where one hundred and fifty men are employed, fed and lodged, are estimated, with their stores, to be worth over $175,000.

A new shaft is being sunk, which has reached a depth of 600 feet, and new and heavy machinery designed for working 2,000 feet in depth has been erected, and is now in full operation. R. C. Chambers is superintendent.

Besides the U. P. R. R. connection, Park City possesses a narrow gauge road, the Utah Eastern, running 18 miles to Coalville, the county seat, where it touches the valuable coal fields that are the main source of the fuel supply for the mills and mines. There is an independent telegraph line from Salt Lake City to Park City, 32 miles in length. The Western Union also has a station here. The Park Mining Record (weekly), published and edited by H. L. White, is a newspaper of merit, and ably represents the locality. Judging from its healthy appearance, we presume that it meets with proper appreciation. The Park City Bank, of which institution M. L. Hoyt is resident manager, is doing a business which speaks well for the prosperity of the place. Among the improvements in progress and contemplation is a new planing mill and sash factory about to be erected by George C. Kidder. We expect that the growth of the town, by and by, will keep a mill of considerable capacity running.

Salt Lake City,

SALT LAKE COUNTY,

Is the metropolis and capital of the Territory, the county seat of the county bearing the same name, is situated 34 miles south of Ogden, and has a population of 25,000 people. Its streets are of unusual width, bordered by a beautiful and uniform growth of shade trees, while along the curbs there is a constantly flowing stream of pure and sparkling water, which comes from the mountains that shut out the beautiful valley in which the city is situated from the cold winds of the north. There is an air of comfort eminently noticeable in the roomy yards and commodious places of residence, while the business houses, as a rule, are well appointed, and of splendid architectural design. Of course that peculiar class of persons known as Mormons predominate, and it is due to them to state that the city's beauty and growth is traceable only to their presence. Had not such men as Orson Pratt buckled on their armor of courage and self-reliance a quarter of a century or more ago, and defied the dangers of the tedious journey across the uninhabited plains, Utah could not boast of the cities and happy country homes which everywhere present themselves to-day to gladden the heart of the stranger and make his visits enjoyable. No such monuments of pride and of devotion to religious doctrine as have been erected would be seen; no such development of the mining interests as she has experienced would be apparent; no such traffic as is carried on by the railroads would be witnessed, nor would the merry music of clanking engines, ringing anvils, the hum of saws, and the clashing trowel be heard in the land. But on the contrary, a solemn silence would reign supreme, and the bustle of the hour would be supplanted by "nature's desolation." The Tabernacle and the Temple, whose mute, yet suggestive, fingers point heavenward the whole year through, and "watch the lonely vigils of the night" in courtship with the stars, would be numbered with the "things that are to be," while the mountains, solemn and majestic, would keep sole company with the companions of long ago. No theater such as she possesses would have reared its roof to witness the acting of the best histrionic talent the country produces, nor would the country have been so far advanced in settlement had the "wandering tribe of Mormon" been denied the passage across the plains that stretch out to the eastward so many weary miles. The city is supplied also with a full complement of good hotels, chief among which are the Walker House, the Continental and the Valley House. The two former are kept by that veteran host, G. S. Erb, Esq., whose reputation is too well and favorably known to need special mention here, while the latter is under the care of Andrew C. Brixen, a young gentleman of experience, who, by his courtesy of demeanor and energy, must succeed in his chosen calling. We commend to him a liberal share of patronage from the traveling public.

MUSIC Sent by Mail, Post Paid, to any Address, on Receipt of Price. Frey's Music Store, 107 and 109 Post Street, S.F.

There are two morning journals and one evening paper published in the city, which are indeed creditable to the place. They are ably edited, and work for the the promotion of the city's interest with hearty good will.

The hotels of a city are almost invariably a faithful reflex of the character of its residents, and to this rule Salt Lake City does not prove an exception, for her houses of public entertainment are in strict keeping with the enterprise and public spirit which are seen on every hand throughout the place.

THE WALKER HOUSE

Is the chief of the caravansaries of the city, and in its appointments will compare most favorably with those of larger cities and of greater renown. The proprietor, Major G. S. Erb, through his courtesy of action and genialty of disposition, has succeeded in endearing a host of travelers to him, and acquired a reputation as a host of which he may feel justly proud. The merits he possessed were rewarded by a very rapid growth of his business, and the necessity of more room for the accommodation of his guests soon became apparent, and to meet these requirements he leased

THE CONTINENTAL HOTEL,

With which the Walker is connected by telephone, and which is quite a commodious building, situated two blocks away. The former is supplied with electric bells, gas, bath rooms, cold and hot water, and an elevator, being four stories in hight, splendidly furnished and most conveniently arranged, while the latter is a two-story edifice, differing from the former only with regard to the elevator. The tables are supplied with everything that would please the tastes of the most fastidious epicure, and the discipline of this systematic veteran is noticeable in the politeness of the employes.

GUSTAVESON'S

DOUBLE AND SINGLE ACTION

Life-Lasting Hobble.

This is the best article of the kind in use. It is round, smooth, and lined with soft leather. It does not turn at all on the fetlock, owing to the peculiar construction of the connecting chain, bolt and plate, and hence can never chafe the horse.

On account of the growing popularity of this Hobble, unprincipled parties are placing imitations on the market. All persons are warned that any infringement on this patent will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. None genuine except my name is marked on the Hobble and Feed Bags.

THE EUREKA NOSE SACK

Has many advantages over any other. It will last longer, and is much healthier for the horse. ☞Send for Circular, which I send free to any address.

WYOMING TERRITORY.

ALPHABETICALLY.

The Territory of Wyoming was formed by Act of Congress, approved July 25, 1868, the southwestern portion of Dakota being united to lesser portions of Utah and Colorado for that purpose. It embraces all that portion of the country lying between the forty-first and forty-fifth degrees of latitude, and between the one hundred and fourth and one hundred and eleventh meridians west from Greenwich. It has an area, therefore, of nearly 100,000 square miles—as great as that of New York, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey combined, or more than one and one half times as great as that of all New England.

Within the confines of this vast expanse of land are found a genial climate, a magnificence of scenery which baffles the pen of genius to describe, and a diversity of illimitable resources which are found in no other quarter of the globe, whose dimensions are no greater. In the mountains of the Territory there abound ores of every description awaiting the time when the labor of man shall expose their beauties to the light of day, and the time when they shall become conspicuous as the most important constituents of the world's commerce. Besides being rich in mineral wealth, these mammoth upheavals are possessed of a growth of timber which must, in time, become a commodity whose value can scarcely be estimated. The streams all abound with the "speckled beauties," while the forests afford shelter from the driving storms for wild animals of every known species, native of that latitude. The valleys are all well watered, and the luxuriant growth of grasses, overflowing with nutriment, offer excellent pasturage for the thousands of sheep, cattle, and horses that browse upon them. Along the line of the U. P. Railroad, on what is known as the "Laramie Plains," are thousands of broad acres of land which is inferior for grazing purposes to none other in the world, perhaps, which can be obtained of that corporation at reasonable rates and on most satisfactory terms. To the immigrant with some capital and largely endowed with pluck and energy, this section of the country offers many advantages. None but those who can come to this Territory with ambition and an unswerving determination to succeed, are wanted, for no room is here for the adventurous idler. The drones of society are soon marked and their days of existence are numbered.

Petroleum of very fair quality is found near the pretty little town of Green River, on the U. P. Railroad, 325 miles west of Cheyenne, and it promises to become quite a source of revenue to that locality. Fuel is plentiful, particularly in the neighborhood of Evanston, still further west, where a vein of coal of a superior quality, measuring 25 feet, exists.

Of the industries we can say very little, for the pursuits as yet are very limited, the stock interest taking precedence above all others. In time it is probable that there will be a greater activity shown in the development of mining properties than has been heretofore. A great many rich leads are being discovered by prospectors, and with the introduction of improved machinery the results may prove a glorious event for the Territory. At the present time, however, there are advantages offered to persons with means to establish industrial enterprises that would, no doubt, pay largely on the investment. Instead of exporting wool in its natural state it could be manufactured and sold in Eastern markets at an advance on the original cost. The motive power could be found in an inexhaustible supply of water, which courses down a number of streams throughout the Territory. Leather could also be manufactured profitably, while beef-packing establishments could give employment to an army of men. And the question, why could not the immense deposits of iron, copper and lead be made a source of greater revenue than is found in mere possession? is offered as a nut for capital seeking employment to crack. When we traverse the boundless plains of this glorious Territory we wonder why it is that recognition of these facts has not been made before. Nowhere in the world is there such freaks of nature in her geological features as in Wyoming. There are cathedral spires, skull rocks, scowling battlements, natural bridges, and huge rocks covering an area of 100 square feet that resemble the leaning tower of Italy, though balanced on a mere spindle, as it were. There are, moreover, rocks looming heavenward quite a distance with fantastic shapes, and are indeed "specters grim and tall," while the action of the water, which doubtless covered the whole face of the country at a remote period of the past, has mocked art in innumerable instances. Yellowstone Park, in the northwestern part of the Territory, is fast becoming famous for her geysers and many natural curiosities, and the time is not far distant when the country in the immediate vicinity will be thickly settled, since the lover of nature can find no little consolation in communing with the "invisible forms which speak a various language."

SOILS.

The popular notion of the sterility of that part of the Rocky Mountain region lying within the boundaries of Wyoming is far from correct; that the rock formations underlying its plains and lapping upon its mountains are of the very character to produce fertile soils. Loam in the valleys, sandy loam on the plateaus and mountain slopes are the prevailing characteristics.

Observation and experience confirm theory by showing that, except in limited localities where the surface has been covered to a considerable depth by drifts of quite pure sand, or where there is a superabundance of alkali, the soil either produces, or is capable of producing, not only excellent growths of the native grasses, but thrifty growths of the tame grasses, grains and vegetables. Even the alkali soils, so called, are rich in the elements of fertility, and are readily improvable by means of irrigation—by washing, so to speak—and in course of time become very productive. The apparent barrenness which marks large areas in certain districts now producing little but sagebrush (Artemisia tridentata) and greasewood (Sarcobatus vermiculatus), is very deceptive, therefore. Indeed, where these native growths are vigorous and close, their mere destruction by fire or otherwise is sufficient to insure a fine growth of grass in one or two years.

THE MINING INDUSTRY,

Although for a time somewhat checked in its development by discoveries in the Black Hills, and the yet more remarkable developments at Leadville and other points in the neighboring State of Colorado, and the consequent exodus of some of the Territory's prospectors and miners, again shows encouraging signs of growing activity. New discoveries of gold have been made in the Medicine Bow Mountains, on Douglass Creek, in Carbon County, as well as in Jelm Mountain, in Albany County, in both of which districts mills have been recently planted. Discoveries of silver in Uinta County have also been reported, and are attracting attention. Scientific observers and practical miners are alike firm in the conviction that when prospectors shall have turned their attention to Wyoming with anything like the zeal which has characterized their labors elsewhere, the mountains will be found as productive of the precious metals as any of those sections at present enjoying so remarkable a development.

It was this general conviction that prompted the Legislature in 1879 to make provision for a Territorial geologist and mining engineer, to be charged with the duty of making scientific explorations with a view to new discoveries, and of assisting with his advice as an expert, when solicited, in the economical improvement of mines already opened.

The Territory not only has inexhaustible supplies of coal of excellent quality, and of which some three hundred thousand tons are annually mined and marketed, but likewise immense supplies of iron, graphite, petroleum, soda, and sulphur, with good indications at various points of very extensive bodies of copper ore. It is true that, with the exception of petroleum, which proves to be a superior lubricating oil, and is now in use by the Union Pacific Railway Company, those valuable resources are still lying untouched, capitalists being ignorant of them, or claiming that, owing to bulk and cheapness of product, they cannot be profitably utilized until there can be had lower rates of transportation than those at present offered.

Cheyenne,

LARAMIE COUNTY,

Is the capital of the Territory and the county seat of Laramie county. It is the largest and most important city on the U. P. R. R. between Omaha and Salt Lake City, being 516 miles west of the former and 624 miles east of the latter. It is also the northern terminus of the Colorado Divisions of the U. P. R. R. To these possessions the city can attribute the reception of so much trade from the mining regions of Colorado. The Black Hills country, as well as the several surrounding military posts, also contribute to the support of the place by the purchase almost daily of large amounts of supplies. It is a well built and a most elegantly laid out city, the houses, both private and public, being of brick and stone, and the streets being broad and running at right angles. The public school building is three stories in hight, and is indeed an ornament to the city, and indicates a sincere pride in the improvement and development of the youthful mind. Its cost was nearly $25,000. The soil contiguous to and remote from the city, with proper cultivation and improved means of artificial irrigation, is of inexhaustible fertility, and offers, therefore, excellent inducements to the husbandman who may cast his lot here. The native grasses are of a luxuriant growth, very nutritious, and afford splendid pasturage. As a stock raising country it ranks among the best in the world. The freight which is deposited by the Union Pacific Railroad for the Government alone amounts to 20,000,000 pounds annually. Add to this the supplies of the herders, ranchmen and miners in Colorado and north of the city, and the amount increases at an astonishing rate. As a cattle shipping point Cheyenne has become the most important of all others on the great route—an industry alone that will support a city of some pretensions. The near future must be laden with the fruits of manufacturing enterprises, because the inducements are manifold. There are several fine hotels where tourists and all other travelers will find the best accommodations. Of the newspapers, there are two—the Sun and the Leader—both issuing daily and weekly editions, and doing an extensive business in job printing. The religious denominations are all represented, and all have creditable edifices. The population is placed at 4,500. The U. P. R. R. employs quite a number of men in its shops and offices. The manufacture of native stone and quartz jewelry is successfully carried on at Cheyenne by Zehner, Jackson & Buechner. This industry employs a number of artisans and engages considerable capital.

HEALIN F. L. Postmaster and R. R. agent

Evanston,

UINTAH COUNTY,

Is a thriving little place of 3,000 inhabitants on the Union Pacific Railroad, 955 miles from Omaha, elevation 6870 feet. It is claimed that this is the most favored section of the Territory for those who admire the exercise of the gun and rod, as game of every character is found in abundance in the mountains, while the streams and other bodies of water are fairly alive with finny inhabitants, whose esculent qualities are unsurpassed. Indeed, the stock of fish is so great in Bear Lake, a beautiful sheet of water 50 miles distant, and whose area is perhaps 42 square miles, that all the towns along the line of the railroad, as far east as Omaha and as far west as Salt Lake City, are supplied from it. An air of prosperity pervades the place in every quarter, though the chief support of the place is derived from the U. P. R. R., at whose machine shops and at other occupations are employed about 100 men. The place has a full complement of schools and churches, quite a number of neat business houses, and has a two-story brick Court House and jail combined, which cost upwards of $25,000. During recent years the cultivation of farm produce has gradually increased, and now great quantities of it are brought from the country lying along the banks of the Bear river. This immediate section, however, is not considered so good for the husbandman or the stock raiser as localities further east, since the soil seems to be less fertile and of such a nature as to hold moisture with less tenacity. With advantages for irrigation the crops might be as good and the herds of cattle as great as they are further east; but until some means are inaugurated to secure that end, farming on an extensive scale would not be made a profitable venture. It is a healthy spot, and no doubt would afford persons of a retired nature splendid advantages.

Green River,

SWEETWATER COUNTY.

County seat. Situated on the Union Pacific Ry., 187 miles east of Ogden, and 275 miles west of Laramie. It is expected that Green River will be made the junction with the new Oregon branch of the Union Pacific, as the heavy grade just west of town will render it impossible to run heavy trains to the present junction, to be divided for both routes. As it is, Green River is the end of the division, where a change of train hands is made. The town has also for its support the extensive cattle ranges of this locality as well as the cultivation of cereals and vegetables along the river. It has about 500 inhabitants. The assessable property of Sweetwater county amounts to nearly $2,000,000. The Sweetwater Gazette, published weekly and edited by Robert Smith, Esq., is the only paper in the county, and the official organ. The Desert House is a neatly furnished hotel and sets a splendid table at reasonable rates. Mr. C. W. Kitchen, the managing proprietor of the celebrated firm of Kitchen Bros., caterers, is truly the right man in the right place. The Court House and jail combined is a neat two-story brick building, costing upwards of $50,000. Green River possesses a first-class brewery, brewing an excellent quality of beer from mountain water. We like the beer.

CIRCASSIAN BLOOM beautifies the Complexion, imparts a fresh & lovely bloom, only seen in youth. 50c. Nathan Joseph, 641 Clay St., S.F. Sent C.O.D.

Laramie City

Is the county seat of Albany County, and has a population of 3,000 or more. Elevation, 7,123 feet. It is most beautifully situated, and is handsomely built. On either side of the principal streets are streams of clear and sparkling water flowing and rippling perpetually. The Court House, costing $30,000, is a neat two-story building, while the school house, recently completed, is a two-story brick. It was erected at a cost of nearly $35,000. One of the most interesting features of the place is the rolling mills of the Union Pacific Railroad, employing 300 men, and costing $100,000. The monthly production of this industrial enterprise is 2,000 tons of rails, from which the U. P. and other roads are furnished. As one stands upon the platform of a passing train and sees the dense clouds of curling smoke issuing from the smokestacks of these mills, he is reminded of the scenes which are so familiar in the great manufacturing city of Birmingham. From these features a very great support is derived, as the combined force employed numbers nearly 500 hands. The respective religious denominations are all represented by their own edifices, and St. Joseph's Hospital is conducted under the auspices of the Sisters of Charity. There are two daily papers and a weekly published here, whose columns are filled with miscellaneous and editorial matter of a spicy and interesting character. Stock raising, mining, and the agricultural interests, are superior, while no one can find objection to the system of education as practiced by the instructors of youth. The business houses generally present a very tasty appearance, while the private homes are neat and comfortable. The residents are, as a rule, hospitable and disposed to be genial, and we think, therefore, that the pretty little city would be a desirable place to reside in. It is 57 miles west of Cheyenne.

Messrs. Kitchen Brothers, the celebrated caterers of the Pacific House, St. Joseph, Mo.; Withnell House, Omaha, Neb.; Desert House, Green River; Mountain Trout House, Evanston; Maxwell House, Rawlins, and the Depot Hotel, Denver, also conduct the Thornburgh House, of Laramie. This house is unquestionably the best in the place, having the benefit of the large experience of the above urbane and courteous gentlemen.

COLORADO.

ALPHABETICALLY.

The Centennial State, born when the commemoration of our one hundredth anniversary was in progress, has the form of an exact parallelogram, lying between the 37th and 41st parallels of North latitude and the 102d and 109th of West longitude. The admission of the Centennial State into the sisterhood of States, in 1877, was attended with no little eclat, and her rapid development since that event has elicited the loudest expressions of surprise from the whole world.

It is bounded on the north by Wyoming and Nebraska, on the east by Kansas, on the south by New Mexico and on the west by Utah. It is 380 miles in length by 280 miles in breadth, having an area of 106,400 square miles, or 68,096,000 acres. Its natural divisions are the plains, the foot hills and the mountain country. It has been estimated that the plains occupy one-third of the whole area, which, with a perfect system of irrigation, must become the source of great agricultural wealth, an industry that is as yet but in its incipiency. Experiments in the cultivation of cereals and vegetables have resulted most satisfactorily, though the location of farming lands has not heretofore been the object of the immigration which has found its way to this favored land. With the increase in population, however, a greater interest seems to center in that particular pursuit which calls the mower and the plow into use, and the future is very near, we dare say, when the agricultural products of the State will command a very high respect in her commercial attractions. The soil is inexhaustible, yielding abundantly, with proper cultivation, everything indigenous to the latitude.

As a grazing and dairy country it is claimed that Colorado has scarcely an equal, since at no season of the year is there a time when nutritious grasses of many varieties cannot be obtained by the cattle which roam at large, requiring no shelter save that furnished in the valleys. These facts are alone sufficient to proclaim to the world that her agricultural capabilities are very great, and that no risk other than that made in all new countries is necessary in order that success may be attained. In the possession of the famous Rocky Mountains, which intersect the State from North to South, Colorado is eminently fortunate, not only because of their illimitable deposits of precious ores, but because they are probably richer in scenic attractions than any other range of mountains in the world. Such a variety of sublime and picturesque scenery as is presented in every section of this noble range, it is universally conceded, is nowhere rivaled, not even in the renowned Alps of Switzerland. A visit to the garden of the gods, Estes Park or Clear Creek Canyon, is attended with most pleasing results invariably, for in each of these places nature has exerted herself to the utmost in her most exquisite handiwork.

The following description of Colorado from a published history of the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, with whose growth that of the State is so closely identified, presents the topography of this wonderful region consecutively, and just as it strikes the visitor:

THE DENVER AND RIO GRANDE RAILWAY

Was commenced in 1870, a few months only after the Kansas Pacific Railway had crossed the plains and reached the foot of the Rocky Mountains at Denver. The object of its projectors was to construct a railway along the eastern base of the backbone of the continent, and then to pierce the mountains by branches to reach the mining districts whenever and wherever they proved to be sufficiently productive. With this definite purpose in view a three-foot gauge was chosen, which ten years' experience has proved to be eminently adapted to meet the requirements of the country. The mountain-base line was gradually constructed due south from Denver to El Moro, two hundred and six miles. The first mining branch was that to the coal fields near Canyon City, which preceded by one year the completion of the road to the coal fields at El Moro. Then followed the extension over Veta Pass, heading toward the silver mines of the San Juan country. Next came the extension to Leadville, which was delayed for a year by a bitter legal contest with a rival road for possession of the Grand Canyon of the Arkansas.

No sooner was Leadville reached than the extraordinary mining activity developed throughout the mountains of Colorado, which has placed this State foremost in the production of precious metals, justified the unprecedented feat of carrying on the construction of no less than seven extensions at once. In the effort to reach the spots where nature hides her treasures the greatest engineering difficulties yet encountered on this continent have been overcome, the deepest gorges have been traversed, the loftiest ranges have been climbed. In five different places the summit of the Continental Divide has been crossed, and the "Pioneer Line" on these extensions is following the course of streams whose waters lead to the Pacific.

By way of introduction we will briefly enumerate the characteristic features of interest to the traveler on the different divisions of this railway, which is justly termed "The Scenic Line of America." It skirts along the western edge of the Great Plains, the vast and sublime treeless expanse that hardly a score of years since was known as the Great American Desert, for over two hundred miles, at just the proper distance to show in all their majesty and sublimity two of the loftiest snow-clad ranges of the Rocky Mountain system. From Denver to La Veta, a distance of one hundred and ninety-one miles, the panorama of mountain and plain seen from its cars has no equal, as regards extent of vision, on the North American continent. To the traveler from the eastern sections of the Union it seems to open a new heaven and a new earth. Accustomed to the limited horizon of the East, with wonder and delight he finds his vision ranging over spaces vaster than he had ever dreamed could be compassed by human sight. From beholding mountains a hundred miles to the north, he turns to see other mountains a hundred miles to the south. To the east the plains, solitary and untrammeled as the ocean, rise up to meet the sky. Lying in depressions of the plains, like parts of a mosaic, are rapid mountain streams, along whose narrow, fertile valleys are beautiful cities, neat villages, and attractive farms, over whose surfaces flow the tiny crystal rills from the irrigating ditches, without which even the hardiest shrubs would wither and die. Vision is assisted by the wonderful transparency of the atmosphere, and objects many miles distant appear near at hand, while even the furthest mountain peaks lie clear-cut and distinct against the sky.

Bayard Taylor has said that nowhere along the entire extent of the Alps is there a point from which they can be seen to so good advantage as the Rocky Mountains are beheld from Denver. Hence there could be no more fitting starting point for what is essentially a Rocky Mountain Railroad.

But to return to the railway. Fifty-two miles southward from Denver the summit of the watershed which separates the valleys of the Arkansas and the Platte is crossed. Here is a lakelet, the shore of which the train skirts for half a mile. Then it glides down the Valley of the Monument, and twenty-three miles further arrives at Colorado Springs, from which point a branch line, five miles long, leads to Manitou.

Forty-five miles southward we come to Pueblo, where the chief objects of interest are the Pueblo Smelting and Refining Works, and the iron furnace and steel works of the Colorado Coal and Iron Company.

Delightful as the scenery is from Denver to Pueblo, it is merely an introduction to the greater wonders that are unfolded when the railway penetrates into the fastnesses of the mountains, and lays bare the very "heart of the Rockies." Half a score of branches, varying in length from five to three hundred miles, penetrate the famous mining regions of Colorado, in most of which they are the pioneer and only rail line—the enthusiastically welcomed herald of civilization, trade and progress. Of the eight hundred miles of road now operated, in fact of the entire twelve hundred that will be completed before the end of the current year, it can safely be said that there is scarcely a mile of tame scenery. Everywhere the attention is held by the shifting phases of the mountain view, near or distant, the beauty of the extensive parks, or the picturesque grandeur of the canyons and mountain passes. The scenery changes with every mile.

Diverging from Pueblo, one hundred and twenty miles south of Denver, the railway enters the mountains by three avenues—through the majestic gateways of Veta Pass, Grape Creek Canyon and the Grand Canyon of the Arkansas. One mile above Canyon City it dives into a cleft in the granite rock, and—passing through an awful gorge three thousand feet in depth—emerges above it into the upper Arkansas valley, where the constant succession of beautiful and varied scenery, mountains and canyons, parks and pleasant valleys, are a constant wonder and delight as the train skirts the roaring torrent of the Arkansas, which dashes headlong eastward toward the plains.

At South Arkansas, fifty-six miles from Canyon City, the line for Poncho Springs, the Marshall Pass mines, and the Gunnison, diverges to the southwest, and at Nathrop, eighteen miles further, the branch to Alpine runs westward into the mountains. About fourteen miles from Leadville the station for the Twin Lakes, four miles distant, is reached.

Leadville is situated in old California Gulch, four miles east of the Arkansas river. We call it old because it is so relatively, having been the scene of one of the earliest and most successful gold excitements in the history of Colorado Territory. It is estimated that this gulch has yielded over twelve million dollars from its gold washings, and it is reported that gold seekers of early times were quite familiar with what they termed the "heavy sand," which they, however, failed to recognize as the now celebrated "soft carbonates."

At the mouth of this gulch stands Malta, the older town, although now known only as a suburb of Leadville. Here the road again diverges, one branch passing Leadville, and crossing the Continental Divide at Fremont Pass, the highest point yet reached by any railway in North America, 11,540 feet above the level of the sea, to Robinson, Kokomo and beyond. At Fremont Pass the track reaches the very verge of timber line, surrounded by bare and forbidding peaks that hold during the hottest summer the snow and frosts of winter. Amid these awful and lonely surroundings is the wonderful curve around the tiny springs that are the head-waters of the Arkansas river. From the storm-swept summit the traveler views with rapt surprise the Mountain of the Holy Cross, bearing aloft its mystic symbol in tracks of virgin snow. The western branch continues straight up the Arkansas valley from Malta, crosses the continental water-shed at Tennessee Pass, penetrates the mining districts of Eagle river, and the romantic scenery at the foot of the Mountain of the Holy Cross.

Immediately west of the huge mountain barrier which forms so grand a feature in the landscape to the left of the railway, all the way from the canyon of the Arkansas to Leadville, lies the Gunnison country. For a distance of two hundred miles the great Sangre de Cristo range has but one well marked depression, and that occurs opposite the mouth of the South Arkansas, whose stream is fed by tributaries taking their sources in and about the depression. Through the gap, Poncho Pass, to the southward, leads into the San Luis valley, in the drainage of the Rio Grande; Marshall Pass, deviating to the westward, leads to the valley of the Tomichi, a main tributary of Gunnison river. The streams which flow southeastward down the Poncho and Marshall Passes unite with the South Arkansas near Poncho Springs.

The Gunnison Division of the railway starts from a point near the mouth of the South Arkansas river, follows that stream to Poncho Springs, sends off a branch to Maysville and other mining towns near by, and then crosses Marshall Pass, and so down the Tomichi to Gunnison City, situated on the stream from which it takes its name. From Gunnison City most of the chief mining districts of this great division of Colorado will be reached by branches running up the tributary streams which spread out like a fan from Gunnison City as a center.

One mile above Canyon City, and just at the entrance of the Grand Canyon, the Wet Mountain Valley branch leaves the main line and, following up Grand Creek in a southwest direction for thirty-two miles, through a canyon of wonderful beauty, terminates at Westcliff, from which point the mines of Silver Cliff, Rosita and Bassick, numerous stamp mills in the vicinity, and a large agricultural population are supplied. The agricultural importance of the Wet Mountain Valley and its scenic beauty will be found fully described in their proper place.

Returning to Pueblo we now follow the railway southward and westward. From Pueblo to Cuchara, a distance of fifty miles, the line has few attractions beyond the ever-varying features of the Spanish Peaks viewed from the cars as the train describes a tortuous course across the drainage of the country. At Cuchara the line branches. The El Moro Division makes straight for Fisher's Peak, the most prominent headland of the Raton Mountains, but fails to arrive at its destination, for five miles beyond El Moro it runs to ground in the enormous coal veins which flank the mountain. At El Moro the entire coke supply of Colorado is manufactured. Over 26,000 tons of coke were shipped from this point during 1880, and supplied sixty-one out of the sixty-eight furnaces in the State. A very striking view is to be seen nightly from El Moro. It is a semi-circle of two hundred coke ovens all aglow, backed by the dark, basaltic columns of the Raton range.

The line from Cuchara westward ascends the fertile and picturesque Cuchara Valley for twenty-two miles, and then climbs up Veta Pass, rising by short curves and steep grades into the very realms of cloud-land, nearly two miles above sea level, affording magnificent and far-reaching views of the Spanish Peaks, Veta Mountain and the romantic valley between. Thence the railway traverses the great inland basin of the San Luis Valley, striking the Rio Grande two hundred and fifty miles from Denver and one hundred and thirty from Pueblo, at Alamosa. From Alamosa the line runs almost due south twenty-nine miles, leaving the river ten miles to the eastward, to the Mexican settlement of Antonito, where it again forks.

From this point the traveler may be prepared for entering a new world—whether he goes south, to find himself among the still living remains of Montezuma on the tributaries of the Rio Grande, or hastening along the edge of the stupendous Toltic Gorge, over the dizzy hights of the Chama summit, on through the dense forests of the Tierra Amarilla, reaches the great San Juan country, a land so entirely unlike in verdure, in climate and in scenery anything to which he is accustomed in the Rocky Mountains, north and east, that he can scarcely believe himself still in Colorado.

Born of the new era—the railroad era to the San Juan country—is the now famous town of Durango, already the metropolis of Southwestern Colorado.

The New Mexico division extends from Antonito, ninety miles south, to Espanola, New Mexico, twenty-three miles from Santa Fe, which gap is bridged by an excellent line of six-horse coaches. Climbing the mesas at the foot of San Antonio Mountain, the railway passes over an elevated country, underlaid with volcanic rock, and covered with park-like forests of pinons (pinos edalis), the edible nut-bearing pine of the Rocky Mountains. The cones which contain the seeds mature about once in three years, at which periods all the denizens of the forests, the deer, coneys, bears, squirrels, wild turkeys and prairie dogs, grow fat. The nuts are delicious eating, and are frequently sold as an article of commerce. Sixty-four miles south of Antonito, at Barranca Station, is the place of divergence for the celebrated Ojo Caliente hot springs, twelve miles distant by stage.

Just below Barranca the railway makes a rapid descent of some 1,200 feet in seven miles, through the Comanche Canyon, and reaches the banks of the Rio Grande at Embudo. For several miles below this point the large, black, basaltic boulders, which lie in great profusion to the west of the track, are many of them covered with Indian hieroglyphics which can plainly be seen from the car windows.

A short distance from Embudo we enter the populous portions of the Rio Grande Valley, where the banks of the river on both sides are thickly studded with Indian pueblos and Mexican plazas. Twenty miles above Embudo, on an eastern tributary of the Rio Grande, is situated the Pueblo de Taos, the most interesting of all the Indian fortifications, in which the native population still live the primitive life of times long past. Nor is the end of the road, called Espanola, by any means devoid of interest. The fine plaza of Santa Cruz lies directly opposite, on the east side of the Rio Grande, with its rudely ornate church. About a mile immediately below the depot is the Indian pueblo of San Juan. In the high bluffs opposite the pueblo, as well as many other places in this region, are to be found the remains of cliff dwellings, which have very naturally attracted much interest.

If the health-seeker requires more than pure air and grand scenery, the railway takes him to the famed effervescent soda and iron springs of Manitou, the hot mineral springs of Canyon City, Ojo Caliente, Pagosa, Poncho and Cottonwood, the soda springs of Leadville, and many others less known, but equally valuable.

Throughout the mountains, in close proximity to the railway, there are hundreds of parks, valleys and canyons, in which pleasure-seekers may find secluded camping places, hunt and fish as long as they please, and even, if they wish, so hide themselves that they shall hardly see a human face during the Summer. In the vastness of the mountains "the elbow room" that they afford in which to escape for a time from the fierce struggles and intense mental strain of modern civilization, lies their chief attraction to many travelers.

For people from the East who seek health through a change of climate and associations, Colorado offers inducements that are nowhere surpassed. The pure, dry air of the plains and mountains, rarefied by an elevation of from one to two miles above the sea, and often in a high degree electrical, is bracing and exhilarating to the lungs. For asthma it is an almost unfailing specific, as hundreds of persons, confirmed asthmatics before coming here, are here able to breathe with comfort, and in the enjoyment of health, will make haste to testify. Those who have weak lungs, or who are in the incipient stages of consumption, seldom fail of relief in this climate, especially if they live out of doors as much as possible, and are not afraid of the sunshine, which is one of the crowning glories of Colorado. During some seasons a cloudy day is almost as rare as an eclipse, and there can be no doubt that cheerfulness and bodily and mental activity are promoted by the absence of dark days, fogs, mists and dampness. If, as Longfellow sings,

"Some days must be dark and dreary,"

In this climate they are reduced to the minimum, and during some years happily missed from the calendar altogether.

While its scenic attractions and advantages of climate will always conspire to make the Denver and Rio Grande Railway popular with tourists and health-seekers, its existence is principally due to facts of another nature. The millions of dollars expended in its construction have been furnished by capitalists for the purpose of opening highways to the rich mineral deposits of Colorado, now the leading bullion-producing State of the Union. The phenomenal rapidity with which it pushes forward half a score or more of extensions at the same time, through tortuous canyons, where frequently the surveyors who locate the line have to be let down over precipices by ropes, and over rugged mountain passes, higher than any railways in the world except some in South America, overcoming obstacles which a few years ago would have been considered insurmountable, has its explanation in the wonderful development of mineral production which has been witnessed in Colorado during the past three years, and the many valuable discoveries that are constantly being made in the districts into which it penetrates. Let us consider the record of three years. In 1878 the entire bullion production of the State, including copper and lead, was about $8,000,000; in 1879 it was $16,000,000; in 1880 it was $24,000,000. No one acquainted with the present condition of the mines estimates the probable bullion product of 1881 at less than $30,000,000 to $32,000,000, while many place it much higher. Those best informed in regard to the mines assert that mining in Colorado is yet in its infancy, and that there will be abundant opportunity for prospectors for a hundred years and more. There are large areas that have hardly been prospected at all, and others that have been but superficially skimmed over; while even in the oldest districts new lodes are continually being discovered, and forsaken ones developed into paying mines. During the entire history of mining for the precious metals in America, it is doubtful if any section has ever afforded better opportunities for acquiring wealth by legitimate mining operations than are offered by Colorado to-day. The railway takes you at

RAILROADS.

It seems incredible, when gazing upon her complete railroad systems, penetrating the most remote corners of the State in every direction, and surmounting gigantic difficulties, that Colorado, in 1869, possessed not a single mile of railway in the Territory. Yet such is the fact. When the cost of railroading in this mountainous region is considered, the premium must be awarded to Colorado over every other State in the Union for enterprise and energetic pushing. She now has over 2000 miles of track at a cost per mile exceeding any railroad in the world—and this in a little over a decade.

THE DENVER AND RIO GRANDE RAILROAD

Is a narrow-gauge, the first of its width ever built in the United States. The forerunning description of Colorado embodies a history of the road and a sketch of its lines of route.

THE DENVER PACIFIC RAILROAD.

The Denver Pacific Railway forms a most important link in the chain of the great Union Pacific system of railroads. Uniting with the Kansas Pacific division of the Union Pacific at Denver, it extends directly north 106 miles to Cheyenne, where it connects with the main line. For a distance of fifty miles from Denver the road traverses the far-famed valley of the South Platte, passing in its course numerous thriving agricultural settlements, towns and villages, till the substantial and prosperous town of Evans is reached. Here the Platte takes an easterly direction while the road pushes northward on the higher prairie lands, reaching the settlement of the justly celebrated Union Colony of Colorado—the town of Greeley. The wonderful results in the way of agriculture, that follow from a system of irrigation properly applied, are nowhere better exemplified than in the Greeley settlement. Gardens, orchards, wheat fields and meadows, rich with verdure, stretch out for miles on every side, while the town itself, with its broad and level streets and avenues, substantial dwellings, stores, banking-houses and hotels, schools and churches, all nestling in a forest of cottonwoods, presents a picture of thrift and prosperity surpassed by no other town or settlement in the West.

The Denver Pacific road from its initial to its terminal point presents to the tourist and traveler one of the most charming, grand and beautiful panoramas of mountain scenery in the world. The road runs parallel to the mountain chain and about twenty-five miles from its base; near enough to render every feature distinct, yet far enough away to reveal the snowy range. The lower mountains are covered with verdure and evergreen timber, and they rise ridge above and beyond ridge in grand billowy masses culminating in the supreme, serrated chain of craggy peaks clothed in eternal snow and ice.

The Denver Pacific Company received from the Government a grant of the alternate sections of public lands extending for twenty miles on each side of its line of road, equivalent to twelve thousand eight hundred acres per mile. Of these lands much yet remains unsold, and are now offered to the public at low prices and on long time. Irrigation canals are already constructed and in operation, notably so in the Platte valley, where the intending settler will find his needs in that direction already anticipated.

The agricultural area in Colorado is very limited, and the best efforts of our farmers cannot supply the demands even of our home markets. This fact alone insures to the agriculturist a ready market and good prices for his products, which makes farming in Colorado one of its most profitable industries.

THE DENVER, SOUTH PARK AND PACIFIC RAILROAD—NARROW GAUGE,

From Denver to Leadville (172 miles), Gunnison, San Juan and some of Colorado's most popular resorts. This road branches at Nathrop and runs west to the town of Gunnison. At present writing this branch is being advanced still further into the San Juan region. Its route is bordered by scenery whose grandeur defies description.

THE SOUTH PARK REGION.

Hartsell Hot Springs are situated on the South Platte River, in the southern portion of South Park, seven miles from Garo's Station (Denver & South Park Division U. P. Ry.), and 104 from Denver. Hotel accommodations are superb. The water is celebrated for its wonderful cures of rheumatism, neuralgia, and chronic diseases. Daily stages from the railroad.

Cottonwood Springs, twelve in number, are located a few miles from Buena Vista, 135 miles from Denver. Carriages convey passengers by an easy drive to and from trains of the South Park Division. A fine hotel, sanitarium, and bath house have been erected, and many sufferers from rheumatism and other chronic diseases, as well as "disciples of rod and gun," are patrons.

Heywood Springs, on the line of the Gunnison extension of the D., S. P. & P. Division, 148 miles from Denver, possess waters of a very high temperature, and are attracting much attention, now that they are accessible by rail. Though hot, they are agreeable to drink, and resemble the Cottonwood Springs. Good hotel accommodations.

Leadville Soda Springs are among the most prominent health and pleasure resorts in Colorado. The waters are a delicious and almost ice-cold beverage, highly recommended for disorders of the digestive organs, while hotel accommodations are among the best in the Colorado Mountains.

The Twin Lakes may be reached either from Leadville or Twin Lake Station, on the Denver and South Park Division. From the former place it is about twelve and from the latter about three miles. These charming sheets of water, known as "The Gems of the Sierras," are 9,400 feet above the level of the sea, and many are attracted by their grand scenic surroundings and the fine fishing and hunting. Hotel accommodations unsurpassed.

THE COLORADO CENTRAL RAILWAY

Is the only road leading directly from Cheyenne and Denver to the gold and silver bearing leads of Gilpin and Clear Creek counties, whose fame through the glorious medium of their wonderful mineral wealth has penetrated the remotest corners of the globe. The narrow gauge branch of this line diverges from it at Golden City, Jefferson County, twelve miles distant from Denver, and passes through the renowned Clear Creek Canyon, among the most wonderful of all mountain gashes in the world. It follows the meanderings of the swift-running stream from which the canyon is named until it reaches Forks Creek, where the road branches again, one leading to Central City and the other to Georgetown, from whence it will ultimately be extended to Leadville. This route has already been surveyed, and as it passes over the Rockies at points of great altitude, it has been appropriately called the High Line. The construction of this road through the celebrated canyon necessitated the expenditure of a vast amount of labor and money, since the removal of mountains of solid rock from its pathway was unavoidable. When the work of blasting the mammoth walls of stone which nature had placed in the course of the road was begun, it was found necessary to use swinging scaffolds that the process of drilling could be done. The skill of an experienced engineer only could have pushed a work of such immense proportions to a successful termination. The traffic in bullion and ores of the Colorado Central is a source of great revenue, while the number of passengers that annually pass over it is perhaps exceeded by that of no other line in Colorado.

The scenery along this very popular and unique route has been spoken of in most glowing yet truthful terms elsewhere in these pages, and to refer to its sublime grandeur at this time would lead us to a repetition of our remarks.

For the development of her richest and most reliable mines and her wonderful prosperity, Colorado owes a great deal to the Colorado Central Railway, for it alone has been the leverage power which unearthed the millions of hidden treasure which now stands to the credit of the "Centennial State."

THE DENVER AND BOULDER VALLEY RAILROAD

Is operated jointly with the Denver Pacific, with which it intersects at a small station a few miles from Denver, called Hughes, and terminates at Boulder, one of the prettiest little cities in Colorado, where the State University is located, and near where the celebrated Caribou mine pours out its wealth by millions.

THE KANSAS DIVISION U. P. RAILWAY.

The inauguration of the enterprise which resulted in the construction of this pioneer line across the boundless prairies of the great States of Kansas and Colorado was the signal of a vast immigration to and wonderful development of a section that our proud nation may now look upon with feelings of pride. With that foresight which is a predominant characteristic of all shrewd, energetic business men, the originators of the undertaking took advantage of the earliest opportunity to carry out the plans by which railroad communication could be had with the capital of the "Centennial State," and by the encouragement of the Government in donating each alternate section of land on either side of the road they received a stimulus that assured its early completion. In 1864 the first rail was laid at Wyandotte, on the west side of the Missouri river, and ere the close of that year the track was finished to Lawrence, thirty-seven miles distant, and was at that period the only railroad in the State. A very short time elapsed before Lawrence began to doff the garments of infancy and to substitute the dress of maturer years, and from a town of 3,000 inhabitants she sprank to the front rank of the important cities. Topeka also advanced toward the seat of metropolitan honors with the advent of the railroad, and at the present time has a population of 10,000 souls. With the advance of the railroad civilization kept steady pace, and to its presence the country owes the progress of this vast empire. The lands which skirt the line of the road are of exhaustless fertility, and by proper cultivation are capable of producing everything to perfection that is indigenous to the latitude, a fact that has been demonstrated time and time again.

The country is opened and ready to receive settlers who have a disposition to increase and develop its interests. Lands can be obtained at low figures and on easy terms of the railroad company, while building material in the form of magnesian limestone can be procured in abundance in every quarter. The stone when first taken from the quarry is of the nature of soapstone and can be reduced to any size or shape by the use of edged tools, but after it has been exposed to atmospheric influences a while it undergoes a very great change and becomes extremely hard. It is used very extensively in all the towns in Western Kansas. To those seeking cheap homes in a new country, where the soil yields up its richness in a multiplicity of products, where the smiling face of health is perpetually radiant, where labor is rewarded liberally, and where morality is at a high premium, the section that the railway penetrates offers superior inducements. Truly, railroads are the vanguard of civilization, of development and permanent growth and of indispensable necessity. They are the motive power of progress, the elevating influence of improvement, the stimulant of business activity.

THE GREELEY AND FORT COLLINS RAILROAD.

Track is now being laid connecting these important points, and trains are expected to commence running in the spring (1882).

THE DENVER, LONGMONT AND NOTHWESTERN RAILROAD.

Mr. John H. Wells, local director at Longmont, has laid at present writing twelve miles of a new direct railroad from Longmont to Denver, which by this route (through the Erie coal fields) is only thirty-two miles distant.

Alma,

PARK COUNTY,

Is surrounded by some of the richest and most productive gold and silver mines in Colorado. As a mountain town it stands unrivaled. Its first important feature was the erection of the Boston and Colorado Smelting Works in 1873. The company took up twenty acres of placer ground and obtained a patent for it. The town site of 160 acres was next taken up and secured by patent by a building association. The present town was then laid out in streets and blocks. They are respectively named Maine, Pine and Buckskin, with others higher up the hill, which are only partly built over. The starting of the smelting works gave a stimulus to the mining interests, inasmuch as the miners could obtain a market for their ore. Hundreds of mines along the mountain sides were opened, from some of which millions have been produced. The prospecting and location of claims is still going on, and in a few years there will not be an acre of unclaimed mineral land in this district. Enterprise is a peculiar feature with the people; here may now be seen neatly laid out streets, a plentiful supply of pure water from the perennial springs and melting snows flowing down Buckskin creek. The town lands present a gentle incline to the Platte river, which flows through the township, affording perfect drainage. There being no swamps, miasma is unknown. The altitude is about 9,500 feet. The atmosphere is always clear; average temperature, 65 deg. The snowfall in the valley does not exceed six inches, except in heavy storms. A meteorological record very carefully taken at daybreak, noon, sunset and midnight, on Mount Bross for two years, was furnished the Medical Congress at Philadelphia by Prof. C. S. Richardson, and which, with an illustrated, comprehensive description of the entire geology of the country, may be seen at his Alma offices. They are very interesting to the scientist.

The town has a population of 800, with 300 more who live on the mines. For a mining community they are far, socially and morally, in advance of many other mining districts. There are three churches—Union, Catholic, and Methodist. We especially recommend the St. Nicholas as a first class hotel. Mrs. E. D. Killduf, proprietor, is a lady who knows the wants of her patrons. The genial clerk of the house, Mr. E. B. Potter, is a gentleman of experience in the hotel business. The town has a post office, a telegraph station, two fire companies, two sampling works, one newspaper and job printing office, and extensive placer works, in full operation on the river, returning large amounts of gold annually. Coaches arrive and depart daily from Red Hill, Fairplay, and Leadville, being only 11 miles to Red Hill, 5 miles to Fairplay, and 18 miles to Leadville.

The municipal corporation consists of a Mayor, four Aldermen, Police Judge, City Clerk, Marshal, and Assessor. During the winter the town hall was destroyed by fire, but a new one will soon be erected. The old smelting works has been dismantled, but two new works, on improved principles, are now in course of erection by a firm in Buckskin Gulch.

A railway to Fairplay, on the Denver, South Park and Pacific Railroad, only five miles distant, has been surveyed and grading on it is in progress.

Black Hawk,

GILPIN COUNTY,

Is about two miles from Central City, and is reached by a stage line and the Colorado Division of the Union Pacific from the latter place. It and Central are really one and the same place, as the street which passes through the business portion of one extends to the other. The altitude of Black Hawk is 7400 feet above the sea, just 800 less than that of Central City, and it will therefore be observed that the ascent is very great between the two places, in consequence of which the railroad company found it necessary to approach the highest city by a succession of plateaus, which leave the course of the road in the form of an inverted Z. Its population is variously estimated from 1800 to 3000. It is noted for the great number of stamp mills and other mining works.

Boulder,

BOULDER COUNTY.

County seat. Situated on the Colorado Central Branch of the U. P. Ry., 44 miles from Denver and 91 miles south of Cheyenne. Altitude, 5536 feet. Population, 3200. Boulder derives its support from the important mining enterprises of the neighborhood and agriculture. Besides the mines there are smelting works, sampling mills, two flouring mills (one of them conducted by the Yount Company, of 212 sacks per day capacity, manufacturing the "IXL," "Legal Tender" and other brands of flour), a good-sized foundry and machine shop (owned by the Messrs. Develine), a planing mill, and many smaller manufacturing shops. The mining claims being worked within a radius of twenty miles of Boulder are of the richest in this great mining State.

The State University, which was constructed at a cost of $35,000 originally, but which subsequently absorbed $10,000 more, is located here. It is a beautiful three-story building, standing on a rise of ground at a little distance from town, and, with its surroundings, presents a charming appearance.

The water supply of Boulder is brought from the mountains one mile, through a ditch to a reservoir, and from thence to town by a main. The pressure is very great, which advantage, combined with the celerity to which the "fire laddies" have been trained, insures a perfect safeguard against serious conflagration. The pressure is said to throw a stream 150 feet high. Boulder has never been devastated by fire. The water is the best in the State, being free from all the disagreeable qualities of the water of other localities and the wells.

There are three weekly papers and one daily published here. The principal hotels are the Brainard, described below, the Sale Hotel, a comfortable brick house, and the American, a good family boarding house.

BRAINARD'S HOTEL.

A brick building situated at the west end of town, and forming quite a business center in that locality. It contains forty spacious rooms, as well as a commodious reading room, social parlor, sample rooms (for commercial men), baths, closets, and all the other modern conveniences. It is throughout elegantly furnished and decorated. The culinary department is delegated to none but artists, and superintended personally by Mr. Brainard himself, whose long experience insures satisfaction to his numerous patrons.

Canyon City,

FREMONT COUNTY.

Is the western terminus of the Arkansas valley division of the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, forty miles from Pueblo, the county seat of Fremont county, and has a population of 2,000. It occupies a beautiful location on the banks of the Arkansas river, and at the mouth of Grand Canyon, one of the mightiest and grandest of Colorado. The country surrounding the place is rich in mineral and agricultural advantages. The State Penitentiary is located here. Rich copper ore and oil wells of great value are also found here. The geniality of the climate has been a subject of great remark, and it is acknowledged to be more equable and agreeable than that of any other quarter of Colorado. The schools will compare favorably with any in the State; the water is unexcelled, and the general health is very fine. The residents are all intelligent and energetic, evincing a disposition to improve the country in every particular, and displaying a degree of hospitality toward strangers that is highly commendable. It is 160 miles from Denver, with which it has direct railroad and telegraphic communication.

Central City,

GILPIN COUNTY.

Has a population of 3000, and is the county seat of Gilpin county, which was named after ex-Governor Gilpin, a pioneer of Colorado, and a gentleman on whom the Centennial State looks with honorable pride. Such men as he, endowed with intelligence, energy and patience, have made Colorado what she is to-day. The place has quite a number of smelting works, which employ a great number of operatives, and from which the bulk of Colorado bullion is turned out. It is a mining town in every sense of the word. The scenery in the immediate vicinity is picturesque and grand; there are several hotels, a public school, a theater and several churches. The sanitary condition of the place is excellent, the people moral, intelligent and industrious.

The Granite House, by Mr. L. M. Freas, is a first-class hostelry, dispensing polite attention and good fare.

Colorado Springs,

EL PASO COUNTY,

On the line of the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, 76 miles from Denver, is a beautiful and thriving city, and is the county seat of El Paso county. It is fast acquiring a widespread reputation as a summer resort for tourists, being the point from which the renowned peak named after the "Pathfinder" and the celebrated Garden of the Gods are reached. There are also quite a number of medicinal springs at this place, a great attraction to invalids on account of their excellent curative properties. The streets are broad and level, some of which are bordered by a beautiful growth of shade trees, through which clear and cold water from the mountains flows continually. The business houses and private homes are quaint and comfortable.

When the Denver and Rio Grande Railway Company began building south from Denver its projectors determined to plant another colony, and purchased for this purpose the discarded plateau at the foot of Pike's Peak. They invited General Cameron to come and assist them; they framed a colony organization, which prohibited the sale of intoxicating liquors; and they inaugurated a very liberal system with reference to the disposal of colony lots. Two-thirds of all lots, uniformly distributed, were designated colony lots, and were sold to actual settlers at very low figures. The money so received, less a small percentage representing the actual cost of the land per acre, was devoted wholly to permanent improvements. Under this arrangement a fine irrigating canal, supplied both from the Fontaine-qui-Bouille and Monument creeks, was constructed; the streets were planted with long avenues of shade trees, which were watered by lateral ditches along each side of every street, and were well cared for year by year. Parks were laid out, fenced and planted, and an experimental garden was established. The railway company made its headquarters here, and gathered to this point a small and efficient staff, composed principally of young and enterprising Philadelphians. Nor was the British element altogether wanting, for the little group of pioneers have in vivid remembrance the tall, handsome form and Spanish features of Maurice Kingsley, the oldest son of the great author, and of his heroic and devoted sister, who fought out the coldest winter known in the annals of Colorado Springs in a thin board shanty far worse than a tent. The only other woman, be it recorded, at this early stage of the little colony, namely, that of Christmas, 1871, was Mrs. Giltner, who still presides over the little boot store which the early colony was so proud of.

The growth of the town at first was not as rapid as that of Greeley, but the little nucleus, on the principle that "birds of a feather flock together," gathered around it a number of cultivated and energetic people. By degrees the bright sunlight, the dry, healthy location of the town, its clean, well-kept streets and inviting residences, drew to it many who found that their physical condition required them to make a home for themselves in a mountain region. Thus the town grew and prospered. On July 31, 1871, the first frame house, if it deserves the name, was commenced. Now Colorado Springs contains 5,000 people, numerous churches and public buildings, including a beautiful stone college, a large school house, and an Episcopal church, also of stone, several churches of wood, some of which are large edifices, the State Asylum for Deaf Mutes, and a well constructed opera house, furnished with the latest stage appliances, similar to those of tre Madison Square Theater, in New York. Many of the residences are well worthy of special notice, but we do not feel justified in giving undue publicity to the dwellings of private citizens. Colorado College was founded in 1874. The central block of the building is now completed, and the wings will soon be added. Both ladies and gentlemen are admitted. Only teachers of eminent ability are employed. The location is peculiarly adapted to the health of students, and to the pursuit of studies in natural science. The town is lighted with gas, and exceptionally well supplied with excellent water. This water is carried seven miles in pipes from Ruxton creek, which flows down one of the loveliest canyons above Manitou, where no impurities can ever reach it. The water arrives as clear as crystal, under high pressure; and, as no mechanical power is required, the water rates are very low, and water is furnished gratuitously for fountains and garden purposes.

Colorado Springs is the capital of El Paso county. The beautiful stone which is obtained from the Manitou quarries, and ranks highest among the many good building stones of the State in the Denver market, would form a fitting material for State buildings, and is used for all the choice structures in the town.

El Paso county is one of the richest in the State, and has always maintained a high credit. The first public work of importance was the construction of a free county road through the Ute Pass into the South Park, an undertaking both costly and difficult, but one which has contributed far more to the commercial prosperity of Colorado Springs than its originators ever anticipated; for during two years of the most active growth at Leadville, this excellent road induced most of the trade destined for California Gulch to seek Colorado Springs and the South Park route as the best highway to Leadville. The cattle interests of the county are important, and many of the chief cattle men have their residences at Colorado Springs. The same may be said of a number of gentlemen interested in the mines throughout the State, especially in Leadville and the San Juan country. Their families reside here.

There is a fine view of Pike's Peak from every part of Colorado Springs, but a still better one is obtained five miles further off, to the northeast. Cheyenne Mountain, forming the southeastern extremity of the range, stands up in majestic grandeur in full view of the town, and is a "thing of beauty and a joy forever" to the inhabitants. The objects of interest in the vicinity are many, and the livery stables, which supply the means of visiting them, are numerous and excellent, for the best Kentucky stock, both for riding and driving, is owned by the livery men. To briefly enumerate the places best worth visiting we will begin south of the town, and progress to the east, north and west.

Bear Creek Canyon is reached by taking the road to Colorado City, and thence turning to the left. This is a beautiful drive of five miles, at the end of which the Government trail to Pike's Peak carries pedestrians and horsemen to the summit. Bear Creek canyon itself is a picturesque, wooded glen, with a dashing torrent, and abounds in wild flowers. Bears are still frequenty seen here, and are much more alarmed at the stranger than the stranger has any reason to be at them.

The Cheyenne Canyons are three and a half and four and a half miles distant. The road to these favorite resorts for picnics and pleasure parties starts in a southwesterly direction across the Fontaine, and is common to the two for two miles and a half, at which point it separates, the left road leading to South Cheyenne Canyon, the Cheyenne Mountain toll-road, and the seven lakes, and the road to the right leading to North Cheyenne Canyon only, the more distant of the two. Both these canyons are fine specimens of Rocky Mountain gorges. They are deeply cut into the sides of the beautiful mountain, and expose grand faces of magnificent red granite many hundred feet high. The Rocky Mountain pine, the Douglas spruce, the white spruce, and that most lovely tree of all, the Picea Grandis, grow luxuriantly in both canyons, while in the autumn season the Virginia creeper, two species of clematis (a mauve and a white), hop vines, and other climbers, lend a grace and charm to many a shady bower. North Cheyenne Canyon is the more open of the two, the stream is larger and more uproarious, and at many places the sides of the gorge can be easily climbed, and fine vistas thus obtained of the surrounding scenery. In South Cheyenne Canyon, on the contrary, the walls are very precipitous and imposing, and can only be scaled in one or two places by those accustomed to climbing. The stream, although smaller than its neighbor, forms, about two miles from its mouth, a fine cascade, falling about 500 feet in seven leaps.

The Cheyenne Mountain toll-road is well worth seeing. It ascends the mountains about one half mile south of the entrance to South Cheyenne Canyon, and winds for about ten miles, with easy grades, through very fine scenery, at times affording glimpses down into the canyon below.

The Seven Lakes are reached from the end of the above described road by means of a good horse-trail about ten miles long. The lakes are picturesque, as such sheets of water usually are among the mountains, and there is an inn for the accommodation of visitors.

"My Garden" is a very favorite resort discovered by H. H., the authoress and poet. Take the Cheyenne road one and a half miles from Colorado Springs, then follow due south past Broad Moor dairy farm, half a mile, then through a gate across the "Big Hollow," and "My Garden" is reached—a lovely pine grove crowning a plateau, with an exquisite view of the range behind it.

Austin's Bluffs are five miles from Colorado Springs. Take the old Denver road, due north toward Templeton's Gap, for four miles, and then bear to the right into the Bluffs. There is no fear of missing the road, and when the Bluffs are reached, not only does the plain present a limitless expanse, the influence of which few can behold unimpressed, but mountains hitherto unthought of suddenly appear. Apparently from the southern plains rise the twin heads of the Spanish Peaks, while the still loftier and more pointed crags—the topmost summits of the Sangre de Cristo range—uplift their snow-capped crests to the southwestern sky. The Spanish Peaks are a hundred miles distant; the tops of the Sangre de Cristo range, which are visible from this point, are at least thirty miles further. They equal Pike's Peak in elevation, and really lie on the other side of the by no means insignificant chain of the Greenhorn mountains, from behind which they rear their snow-clad summits.

Denver,

ARAPAHOE COUNTY,

The city of Denver lies, at an altitude of 5197 feet, near the western border of the plains, within twelve miles of the Rocky Mountains, the Colorado or front range of which may be seen for an extent of over two hundred miles, forming a magnificent feature of the extended landscape. The plains encompass the city, stretching for hundreds of miles to the north, east, and south, and westward to the mountains. Reaching Denver from the east, after traveling for hundreds of miles over the bare and lonely plains, the sensation is not unlike first stepping on land after a voyage at sea. The contrast is delightful between the great rolling, verdureless tract, whose magnitude can hardly be realized by those who have never crossed it, and the beautiful city which the traveler comes upon suddenly, lying in a slight depression, embowered in thick-set shade trees. Denver is well entitled to the appellation "the Queen City of the Plains," by which its citizens delight to designate it.

The city was born of the first Pike's Peak gold excitement in 1858-9. In 1860 it was a straggling camp, consisting principally of log cabins and tents in about equal proportions. In 1870 the United States census showed a population of 4579; and the last census, June 1, 1880, enumerated 35,719 inhabitants. Since that date over 600 buildings have been erected, and the population has increased to over 40,000. The annual directory for 1881 shows a gain of 6043 names over the year previous, and the publishers, with accustomed liberality, place the number of inhabitants at 50,000. An examination of the census returns, and a glance at Denver's building improvements since 1876, will show that no city in the Union is having a more rapid and substantial growth.

The principal business streets are Blake, Holladay, Larimer, Lawrence, Fifteenth, and Sixteenth; but business is by no means confined to these, being scattered over a large area. There are four National and two State banks, the aggregate deposits of which October 1, 1880, were $6,123,358 86. The amount of Eastern exchange drawn during 1880 was $65,000,000. There are two fire insurance companies, one live-stock insurance company, and three co-operative life insurance associations. The water supply is taken from the Platte River above the city, and conveyed to a large reservoir, known as Lake Archer, from which it is distributed by the Holly system. Gas was introduced several years ago, and the Denver Gas Company have extended their pipes to nearly all parts of the city; but during the present year gas will be superseded, as a means of lighting the streets, by the Brush electric light The Denver Steam Heating Company have over two miles of pipe laid. The telephone is in general use, and the large poles that support its numerous wires add to the metropolitan appearance of the streets. A branch of the United States Mint is located here, but is used only for assays, and not for coinage. Denver is the capital of Colorado, and contains the State offices and the United States Courts for the District of Colorado. It is also the county seat of Arapahoe County, a fine Court House for which is now in process of erection at a cost of $250,000.

The public schools of Denver are free to all residents, and are regarded as among the best in the country. The course of study at the high school is quite as extensive and thorough as that of the best schools of similar character in the East. The school buildings are all substantial structures of brick or stone, conveniently arranged in modern style. Aside from the public schools there are several important educational institutions, the most prominent of which are the University of Denver, and Colorado Seminary, under the control of the Methodist Episcopal Church, recently inaugurated in a fine building erected in 1880; Jarvis Hall, boarding and day school for boys, and Wolfe Hall Seminary for young ladies, managed by the Episcopal Church; Brinker Collegiate Institute, Colorado Business College, and St. Mary's Academy, a large Roman Catholic institution.

The Windsor Hotel is a large and handsome structure, 125x200 feet in size, ground measurement, and five stories and basement in hight. The two façades are of a beautiful pink-tinted Colorado stone. It was opened in 1880, and is furnished and kept in first-class style, taking rank with the best hotels in the country. Its location is but four blocks from the Union depot, at the corner of Larimer and Eighteenth streets, convenient to the business center of the city. The Tabor Opera House, begun last year and completed this summer, has a frontage of 125 feet on Sixteenth street and 225 on Curtis street. The exterior will be of iron and Colorado pressed brick, with Manitou stone trimmings. The auditorium is designed to accommodate 1,600 persons, and will be fitted up in a style equal to that of the best Eastern theaters. The Tabor block, corner of Sixteenth and Larimer streets, was completed in 1880, at a cost of $225,000. It is built of Ohio sandstone, and, from its lofty hight and architectural beauty, is one of the most noticeable buildings in the city. In addition to these, the Glenarm Hotel, now used as a State House, the King Block, the new Episcopal Cathedral of St. John s, the Central Presbyterian Church, and many other important buildings, are evidences of the solid character of Denver's remarkable growth. The number of beautiful and costly private residences is in keeping with the character of its business blocks. Fourteenth street and Capital Hill, an eminence in the southeastern part of the city, are the sites of many tasteful and expensive dwellings. Hotel and boarding-house accommodations are ample and of superior quality, and the rates but little higher than in seaboard cities.

The works of the Boston and Colorado Smelting Company, at Argo, in the suburbs of Denver, are among the finest and most extensive gold and silver reducing establishments in the world. The buildings are of immense size, and are constructed of cut stone, with corrugated iron roofs. The large ore house alone is 450 feet long by 120 feet wide, and the principal smelting furnaces occupy another building nearly 300 feet in length; besides which there are the refining works, offices and other large buildings. No expense is spared, either in chemical and practical experiments or machinery, to enable the company to treat all classes of ore, including the most refractory, and their success has been a marked factor in the mining development of Colorado. Their shipments of gold, silver and copper in 1879 were $2,449,500, and in 1880 they were $2,730,500. To produce these results there are thirty great kilns for roasting and desulphurizing the ore, and requiring wood for fuel; ten ore calciners, or roasting furnaces; eight calcining furnaces in the refining department, and five melting furnaces. Each of the thirty large furnaces has a smokestack 100 feet high. The consumption of coal reaches one hundred tons per day, this being a species of consumption for which the climate of Colorado is not an antidote.

The Colorado Coal and Iron Company has a rolling-mill situated on the south side of the Platte, opposite the Boston and Colorado Smelting Works. The mill is adapted for making all ordinary sizes of iron rail and merchant iron, and it is proposed to erect puddling furnaces here to work pig iron from the company's furnaces at South Pueblo, and to put in machinery for the manufacture of railway splice bars, spikes, bolts, etc.

The Union Depot, used by the Denver and Rio Grande Railway and the Union Pacific lines, is a beautiful stone structure, 503 feet long and 63 feet wide, with a French roof, and tower 165 feet high. It is two stories in hight, the upper floor being used for railway offices and a hotel. On the first floor, conveniently located, are the baggage room, 62x75 feet; ladies' waiting room, 56x59 feet; gents' waiting room, 60x62 feet; dining room, 44x62 feet; two express rooms, each 30x62, with fire and burglar proof vaults; mail rooms, telegraph and ticket offices, barber shop, lunch and check stands, fitted with all modern improvements for the convenience and comfort of the traveling public. The freight depot of the Denver and Rio Grande Railway, between Tenth and Eleventh streets, is a large, handsome stone building.

The car and repair shops of the Denver and Rio Grande Railway, in the south part of the city, constitute the largest manufacturing establishment in Denver. Over 550 workmen are constantly employed, and it is frequently necessary to greatly increase this force. All repairs of locomotives and rolling-stock are made here, and both freight and passenger cars are manufactured, although the former have been in such demand that but few coaches could be built. The present capacity of the works is about five new cars a day, but with the completion of the car shops now building it will be easy to turn out double that number. The buildings are all of brick, with corrugated iron roofs, and are exceptionally high, well lighted, roomy and convenient. The office, which fronts the main track, is 35x60 feet in size, two stories high, with large windows, making it a model office building. Back of it is the store-room, having the appearance of an extensive hardware store, 208x57 feet in size, with a high roof. Under it is a basement of equal size. Next is the machine shop, 290x75 feet, with a truss roof that does away with the use of columns. Surmounting the roof is a skylight 26 feet wide and 280 feet long. Adjoining are the engine and boiler rooms, both models of neatness and convenience, a tool room and brass room, 60x28 feet, and a tin shop of similar size. The smokestack, 107 feet high, is built square at the bottom, but rises in octagonal form, with panels. The car shops, now building, comprise a machine department, 260 x 60 feet, and an erecting department, 240x60, with a second story of the same proportions, which will be used for cabinet work. The dimensions of the paint shop are 55x280 feet. The present car and blacksmith shop is 250x50 feet. Besides these are two large round-houses, one with stalls for fourteen locomotives, and the other with fourteen tracks for car repairs, and a drying kiln for lumber, 75x38 feet. The transfer table, between the machine shop and blacksmith and car shops, is in three sections, which may be used jointly or separately, and two men can readily move a heavy locomotive to any point where it may be desirable to place it. Both broad and narrow-gauge supply tracks run between the store room and machine shops. All the buildings are heated by steam in winter, and are so arranged with ventilators and sliding doors and windows, and are so lofty and airy that the workmen are not annoyed by heat in summer. Seen from a distance the shops constitute a noticeable feature, being so arranged, with the tall chimneys and highest roofs near the center, as to fall into a harmonious group, none the less picturesque and imposing in appearance because it is a temple of Vulcan.

The new Republican building approaching completion, three stories, occupies 25x100 at 290 Sixteenth street. The Republican will have the most complete newspaper and job office west of the Missouri river.

Real estate in Denver is in active demand, and many buildings are in course of erection. Messrs. Marcus Finch & Co. cheerfully accord to strangers any information regarding city property and Colorado farming land. They have many bargains on hand at present. Messrs. Finch & Co. are also agents for the sale of some of the most choice mining property in the Rocky Mountain regions.

The Denver Transfer Co. has established an excellent system for transferring passengers from the Union Depot (where trains of all lines arrive and depart) to the hotels and residences. Omnibuses for each district are in waiting when trains arrive, and without any fuss or excitement passengers and baggage are domiciled ten minutes after reaching the city.

To the Mining Interests, the Merchant, Mechanic and Citizens of Colorado generally:

With this card the COLORADO ARTOTYPE COMPANY present their compliments, requesting the attention of the public to a new branch of industry now two years since introduced in Denver, namely, the ARTOTYPE; which is a photo-mechanical process particularly adapted for reproductions of anything in nature of which a negative can be made. Its advantages are, that while it is equal to photography in truthfulness and minute detail, it excels it in permanency and is much less expensive. Its productions are as fine as steel engravings and equally as durable, but unlike those incur no expense in engraving; for permanency it is the only reliable process in portraiture.

Anything made by it can be reduced or enlarged, preserving the exact proportions; therein being a valuable acquisition to the Draughtsman, the Architect and the mining interests in duplicating plats, plans and drawings so frequently required in illustrating their works, as well as to the Merchant and Mechanic as an advertising medium.

In giving orders, all that is necessary is a correct copy of the subject to be reproduced, be it in ink, pencil, crayon, photograph, or oil painting.

Negatives will be taken of Buildings, Interiors, Machinery, etc., in any locality, upon application. Send for samples. Address

COLORADO ARTOTYPE CO.,

Fairplay,

PARK COUNTY,

Is the county seat of Park county, on the line of the D., S. P. & P. R. R., eighty miles southwest of Denver and eighteen miles from the famous mining camp of Leadville. It is beautifully situated in the South Park valley, and the mountain scenery in the immediate vicinity is perfectly grand. The Platte river, which runs through the place, furnishes all the water necessary for all purposes. It has two churches, a weekly newspaper, and a handsome Court House and Jail combined. The mines are all paying well in the vicinity of the town, and developments warrant the belief that they will furnish employment to labor and capital for years to come. The population of the place is about 1,000.

Fort Collins,

LARIMER COUNTY.

County seat, situated on the Colorado Central Branch of the U. P. Ry., 65 miles north of Denver, and 45 south of Cheyenne. Fort Collins is the metropolis of the most important agricultural and pastoral region of the State. For miles, in this locality, are visible the products of agricultural pursuits. The growth of the town has been rapid. The population is now estimated at 2,000. At present writing we notice many completed new brick buildings, as well as a number in course of construction. One of the most important additions to the town is the new opera house and hotel building on College avenue. Mr. Blake intends opening a hotel here in grand style to meet a want felt by the growth of the town, and so that the ambitious neighbors of Fort Collins may not boast superiority in this particular. The hotel portion contains ninety large rooms, social hall, billiard room, parlors, etc., all richly furnished. It is the intention of Mr. Blake to make it, in every sense, a first-class hostelry. The Commercial Hotel, by D. M. Harris, holds its own as a popular house with the traveling public. Fort Collins has no less than three banks. The foremost of them, the Larimer County Bank, is doing business with a paid up capital of $50,000, and shows a healthy surplus. The gentlemen connected with this institution cheerfully accord to strangers any information required relative to their section of the State.

Ramer & Abbott, wholesale and retail grocers, have just erected a new brick on College avenue.

The Collins House, pioneer hotel of the place, is now under the proprietorship of F. O. Rogers, and is doing a large business.

There are two newspapers published at Fort Collins: the Express and the Fort Collins Courier. The latter, a very able weekly, is published by Watrous & Sturdevant, two gentlemen fully alive to the interests of the locality, which they intelligently and sincerely advocate.

Georgetown,

CLEAR CREEK COUNTY,

A flourishing city of 5000 inhabitants, is the county seat of Clear Creek county, the western terminus of the Colorado Central Railroad and 52 miles from Denver. The place is located in a valley which lies between the Republican and Alpine peaks of the Rocky Mountains, which reach an altitude of more than 2000 feet. The valley terminates suddenly at Leavenworth mountain on the south, at whose base the town is built, and where the eye, looking north, is greeted with the towering peaks known as Democrat and Douglas, while to the left the snow-capped summit, glistening with entrancing splendor in the mellow, golden sunshine of "old Gray," intrudes itself upon the vision of the spectator. Nature has indeed lavished her charms upon this favored section, for it is here where the scenic wealth is illimitable. Such grandeur as is exhibited here has nowhere else in the world perhaps been so bounteously bestowed. No other mountain views carry such grand, such inspiring sweeps of distances, and such a majestic union of elevation, perpendicular and horizontal extents. Any position affords a view that is plethoric of interest, whether made up of mountain, dale or valley. With the face turned eastward, a sight of the endless yet sublime plains, affords a relief from the exertion which the wildness of the scenes presented by the nude and craggy sides of the mountains, "grim and tall," entails upon the vision. As the distance becomes greater in extending the view, the mountains seem to grow higher, higher still, until their uplifted faces appear just below the horizon, far, far away. The little city is in the fork of South Clear Creek, whose formation comes from the junction of the south and west branches, after which the famous canyon takes its name. It is claimed that, for a distance of ten miles, this stream is supplied with a sufficient quantity of water to furnish motive power to all the mills that could be built 200 feet apart. Why it is that this wonderful fact has never been taken advantage of, why the water has not been utilized in this direction, is a question that none but the "old fogy" must answer. The stream plunges in foaming torrents, dashes through byways which its power created, down its rocky bed, amid scenery as charmingly wild and as full of grandeur as one could expect at the hands of transcendental nature. The varied powers of the Creator are everywhere discernible in the immensity of the gorges, the gigantic, overtowering peaks, and the lovely landscapes which are everywhere interspersed. The town is situated at an altitude of 8400 feet, and it is to this fact that the energy and vigor of mind and body so generally exhibited in her citizens is attributed, since the purity and lightness of the atmosphere of that elevation tend to stimulate the whole system to a remarkable degree. The sanitary condition of the place is rendered superior also by this fact, in addition to that of excellent sewerage facilities. Her schools are of a high order, while the society will compare very favorably with that of any other place in the Union. The place depends principally upon the mining interests for its support, though the mountain ranges and valleys afford excellent pasturage for great numbers of stock. The place is called the "Silver Queen of the Rockies," because of its having produced more of the precious ore than that of any other town in the State. The production of silver and other metals in Clear Creek county since 1863 aggregated the enormous sum of $30,000,000, about 20 per cent. of the amount being gold, the most of which was taken from the placer diggings, near Idaho Springs and Empire, in the early Territorial days. The amount yielded by the mines of the county for the year ending December, 1878, was something more than $2,500,000. The attractions for the tourist in the summer months are quite numerous, and as the hotel accommodations are ample, no one need have any fears of faring otherwise than pleasantly in that direction. Green Lake, a lovely sheet of water, is one of the attractions, beneath the surface of whose clear waters can be seen the outlines of trees that are petrified, while speckled trout abound in great numbers. It is one of the highest bodies of water in the world, being something more than 8,200 feet. The McClellan Opera House of Georgetown is an elegant place of amusement, with ample seating capacity, and all the fittings of a well-regulated theater. Mrs. C. McClellan is the proprietress.

Georgetown, the Terminus of the Mountain Division of the Colorado Central Railroad, is the Nearest Point to Gray's Peak, Green Lake and Many other Points of Interest. It is the Center of the Silver Mining Region of Clear Creek County.

Golden City

Is the county seat of Jefferson county, sixteen miles directly west from Denver, the capital of the State. Population, about 4000. It was first settled in 1859, when the fame of the placer mines became wide-spread. It is conspicuous as a manufacturing city, containing several extensive smelting works, sampling works, flouring, paper and saw mills, a brewery, and factories of various kinds. The Court House, which commands an excellent view, of the city and surrounding valley, is situated on an eminence overlooking the town, and is an elegant-looking structure. Its cost was nearly $35,000. The huge clouds of curling smoke which are belched forth from the numerous smoke-stacks of the various factories, smelters, etc., reminds one somewhat of Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, or Birmingham, England. It is to this fact that the city owes its distinction as the "Pittsburg of Colorado." The machine shops of the Colorado Central Railroad are located here, and the place is also the headquarters of that company. The country surrounding the place is strictly mineral in its production, and it is from the several quartz mines in the vicinity that the sampling works, etc., are supplied. It has quite a number of hotels, six churches, and a public school with an average attendance of 450 scholars. As a place of residence it is decidedly "first-class." There are also two weekly newspapers published here.

Greeley,

The county seat of Weld county, with a population of 1,500, is on the Denver Pacific Railroad, fifty-two miles from Denver and fifty-seven from Cheyenne, on the Union Pacific. It is most beautifully situated, and is very tastefully laid out, the broad avenues running at right angles, and the far-reaching branches of the stately shade trees vying with those of their neighbors on the opposite side of the street for possession of the greatest extent, make it at once most attractive. It has a history that is plethoric of interest. It was founded in April, 1870, by the Union Colony of New York, and took its name from the lamented Horace Greeley, one of the principal promoters of the organization. The colony originally purchased twenty sections bordering the Cache a la Poudre river, and immediately instituted measures for the location of a town site, which was subdivided into 483 business lots, 660 residence lots, and 81 lots were reserved for schools, churches, etc. The remainder of the purchase was divided into sections, ranging from five to forty acres, one of each being selected by every colonist. The system of irrigation is inferior to none in the State, a necessary supply of water being obtained at all seasons with no difficulty. The public school building is a handsome edifice, and as a monument of learning, stands out most conspicuously, a mirror of the intelligence and progression of the inhabitants. There are two weekly newspapers published here, the Tribune and the Colorado Sun, the former bearing a fac-simile of Horace Greeley's autograph at the head of its title page. The country surrounding Greeley is strictly agricultural, which yields immense amounts of cereals and vegetables; indeed, it is said to be the wealthiest district in the State. Greeley has a new hotel, built by a number of merchants of the place. Its cost is $15,000.

important mining districts of the neighborhood and the San Juan country; will always be the market town and business center of this wide scope of country. Gunnison merchants are alive to the interests of the town and are making it attractive in many respects. Substantial business buildings are being erected and all the stores contain heavy stocks of assorted merchandise. Soon another railroad will touch Gunnison, the Denver, South Park and Pacific, an extension of D. and S. P. R. R. This branch will connect at Nathrop. The rapidity with which the railroad systems of Colorado are multiplying is illustrated by these two roads—the D. and R. G. and the D., S. P. and P. As late as ten days previous to our visit to Gunnison no railroad was within 30 miles of the town, and in that time the line has been built and trains are running, while the D., S. P. and P. is approaching with giant strides. It is an actual fact, that, so recent is the advent of the railroad, there are citizens of Gunnison who have not yet seen the thing operated at present writing.

Gunnison is divided; one part of the town being some distance west of the main portion. This is a peculiarity that will not be noticed, as the rapid building fills the intervening space. The efficiency of the local authorities preserves the best of order notwithstanding the prevailing element usual to a frontier town. Citizens, Mayor and Council are in perfect accord in working to this end.

The safety of property is no better insured anywhere in the State. Gunnison has two newspapers, the Gunnison Review, weekly, and the News-Democrat, daily and weekly. The latter is owned by E. A. Buck, proprietor of the New York Spirit of the Times, whose faith in the future of Gunnison is sincere and very great. He has erected an elegant stone building for his printing establishment, than which there is no more complete in the West. The paper is a live daily and is typical of the spirit of the town. The Review works assiduously for the county's best interests. Chief among the manufacturing enterprises is Park & Co.'s planing mill and sash factory, which is constantly running to its full capacity. It employs thirty men (skilled mechanics). The firm began business as contractors when the town started in 1879, and established the mill in August, 1880. In the year ending July, 1881, they manufactured nearly 2,000,000 feet of lumber. The new school house, of brick relieved with stone, is a handsome ornament to the city. Treadwell's quarry, one-half mile west of Gunnison, produces a useful article of sandstone for building purposes, and the same is in great demand. Gunnison possesses hotels of all grades, and many boarding houses together with good restaurants. The principal hotels are the Tabor and Mullin houses.

The Tabor House (first-class) is a three-story stone building, situated on the main street of the town. It contains a large number of spacious rooms; but the house is so popular that "doubling up" is in order sometimes. The house contains all the modern improvements.

The Mullin House is the principal feature of the "West End" of town. This is a commodious establishment recently enlarged, so that now it contains about fifty rooms handsomely furnished. The Mullin is conducted upon strictly first-class principles. Livery stable, billiard and bar room attached.

Idaho Springs,

CLEAR CREEK COUNTY.

The valley in which this village is situated is more fertile and more attractive than any other in the mountain counties. The valley proper is about two miles in length by about a quarter of a mile in width. Until quite recently the only connection the place had with the "outside world" was that made by the stage coach; but at the present time the iron horse, thanks to the enterprise and indefatigable energy of the Union Pacific officials, is driven through the place regularly twice a day by the combined powers of steam and man. There are quite a number of streams, in whose crystal waters the highly prized trout abound in great numbers, thus offering amusement for the angler who may indulge himself in his chosen pastime. The hot springs come from Soda Hill, which has long been famous for its vast deposits of carbonate, the temperature of whose waters range from 100 to 110 degrees of Fahrenheit.

Leadville,

LAKE COUNTY.

Proudly pre-eminent among the mining towns of the United States stands the city of Leadville. No other city can boast of so marvelous a growth under such adverse circumstances. To the stranger who visits it for the first time, riding in a Pullman or reclining-chair car up to a large depot, thronged with hundreds of people, and flanked by side tracks covered with long trains of freight cars, and who rides in a fine carriage or four-horse omnibus over paved streets, lined with solid brick blocks, past large churches and costly public buildings, to a first class hotel, its history sounds like the wildest romance. Here he finds a city that on the 1st of June, 1880, had 15,185 inhabitants, not counting the thousands of miners and prospectors whose cabins dot the neighboring mountains, and who as fully belong to Leadville as those who actually find a domicile in it, and which has been steadily growing ever since; a city with Holly water works, gas works, an extended telephone system, an efficient fire department (uniformed and drilled), a uniformed police force, several military companies, and a large number of prosperous and well-constituted civic and secret societies. He finds, further, three large daily newspapers, comparing favorably in size, amount of matter published, dignity and ability, with the best newspapers in cities of 100,000 inhabitants at the East, yet well supported and paying large dividends to the proprietors; and he must perforce believe that he is in the midst of an educated community pervaded with intense intellectual activity. He finds six fine church buildings, and eight religious organizations, paying salaries of $2,000 a year and upward to their ministers, and is sure that at least a few of the salt of the earth are gathered here to leaven the mass of devotees at the shrines of Mammon set up amid the sandy gulches and beds of grimy ore. He finds a stately brick Court House, and knows that Justice balances her scales over the fierce struggle for wealth that has wrought all these marvels. He finds a grand Opera House that cost $78,000, and knows that fashion has kept pace with wealth. He finds a large and well-appointed public hospital, and feels that the glitter of gold and silver has not blinded the eyes of Charity. He finds a thorough system of public schools, and a high school building that cost over $40,000, and is surprised more than ever. He finds five banking establishments, and learns that one of them alone received $31,000,000 in deposits during the year 1880. He is shown ten large smelting establishments running thirty furnaces, also three stamp mills, amalgamating works, extensive sampling works, and other works for handling ore, costing in the aggregate millions of dollars, and shipping during the year 1880 $15,750,000 worth of ore and bullion, or over $1,000 to every soul in the place, as shown by the census. He looks around him and sees no lack of any of the appliances of the most advanced civilization at the marvelous hight of 10,139 feet above sea level.

Such is the Leadville of to-day. Revert backward to a description of the same spot as it existed in 1877. Far up among the mountains, two miles above the sea, was a narrow gulch lined with sage brush, and bordered by sloping hills that, followed upward a few miles, proved to be benches of the mountain chain rising above timber line into the region of perpetual snow. Three miles below, the little rill that gurgled through the gulch emptied into the Arkansas river, itself no more than a good sized trout brook, finding its source in the mountains ten or twelve miles above. About the gulch there were a few cabins, and in the mountains near its source a few dozens of prospectors, a little elated by the recent discovery of "carbonates." There also lingered about the gulch reminiscences of a lively camp of gold diggers that had existed there seventeen years previous. But the isolation of the place was extreme; and its altitude was against it, for at that elevation frost came every month in the year, and gardens were an impossibility. It was a lonely, desolate spot, more than a hundred miles from the railway, and further yet from any city, in the remote recesses of the Rocky Mountains, far up the slope of one of the highest ranges, frowned upon from the other side by Mount Massive, one of the largest, most rugged and lofty mountains in the continental divide, on whose sides thousands of acres of snow lingered till August. The roads or trails leading to it were difficult and often dangerous, crossing some of the highest passes in the mountains above timber line, where fierce snow storms frequently occur in July and August.

Presto, change! A few of the great carbonate mines were developed, and soon the long, tedious roads leading to the plains were lined with a living tide of men and teams in a mad rush for the "Carbonate Camp." Through dust and through snow, down in deep canyons and high up among the crags, they paused not till the "Magic City" was won. No matter if hay was $200 a ton, and oats thirty cents a pound, teaming must go on, and the eager thousands must be fed. Wealth seemed to leap from the ground and prices were almost fabulous. Bootblacks got twenty-five cents a shine, and barbers fifty cents a shave, and either made from ten to twenty dollars a day. Saloon keepers charged twenty-five cents a drink for cheap whisky, and grew rich in a few months. The rent of a log shanty on Chestnut street was several hundred dollars per month. New and better buildings were erected as fast as possible, the streets were improved, and the camp one day found itself a city. It is a notable fact that the Leadville of to-day, great and marvelous as it is when we consider the brief space of time in which it was built, was practically constructed while everything had to be freighted there in wagons.

Meantime the railways were employing thousands of men in a race for the New El Dorado; and up the long valley of the Arkansas, and down deep in the awful cleft of the Royal Gorge, the mountains reverberated with the blasts of gunpowder, as the track builders cut their way through the rocks. In July, 1880, the Denver and Rio Grande Railway was completed to Leadville, and the isolated camp beside the forsaken gulch became a near neighbor of the cities of the plains. To those interested in railway matters the manner in which Leadville is supplied with railway facilities is worthy of notice. A difficult approach is ingeniously overcome, and the line is so located as to supply an independent branch track to nearly every one of the many smelters in and around the town.

The rush is now over, and Leadville seems to be entering upon a career of steady and abounding prosperity. The yield of bullion for 1881 will exceed that of any previous year, while the cost of mining it will be greatly reduced. The tourist who wishes to see something of mining and mining processes will find in Leadville the most productive mines in the world. Whoever would understand Colorado must go through the Grand Canyon to Leadville, thus in one trip visiting the grandest of gorges and the greatest of mining cities.

LOCALITIES NEAR LEADVILLE.

The object of prime interest at Leadville is the mines. California Gulch, once so famous for its placers, still yields considerable quantities of gold dust, and is worked within the limits of the city. Fryer Hill and Carbonate Hill both rise from the suburbs of the town, and are practically located in it. On these are many of the most famous mines, easily reached by good carriage roads. On the sides of Fryer Hill are Stray Horse Gulch and Big Evans Gulch. California Gulch runs up to the southeast, past Oro City (near which are several productive gold mines), about three miles from Leadville. South of California Gulch is Iowa Gulch, starting seven or eight miles from Leadville, at the foot of Mount Sheridan. Near this gulch are many valuable mines, and much fine scenery. To the northwest, above Malta, is Tennessee Park, a broad expanse of beautiful meadow land, bordered by pine forests that rise up to timber line on the mountain slopes. West of the city, at the foot of Mount Massive, reached by an excellent carriage road, are fine soda springs, of great repute with all who have tried the waters. The scenery viewed from these springs is magnificent. To the east the landscape embraces Leadville, Mosquito Pass, and the famous gulches leading up into the mountains, whose desolate summits stand in bold relief against the sky. To the south the Arkansas Valley stretches away to the Sangre de Cristo range.

Longmont,

BOULDER COUNTY,

Is situated on the Colorado Central branch of the U. P. Railway, in the midst of an important agricultural section. This town has enjoyed an unusually rapid growth, and continues to advance with giant strides. Its bright prospects are marked by the erection of many large and substantial structures, as well as by the multiplicity of her new railroad connections. The Denver, Longmont, and Northwestern R. R. Co., of which Mr. John H. Wells is the local director, has, at the present writing, laid six miles of a new direct railroad to Denver, which, by this route (through the Erie coal fields), is only thirty-two miles distant. It is expected that the road will be completed by October 1st, 1881. Grading to the amount of $13,000 has already been done by a party of gentlemen constituting the Longmont, Middle Park, and Pacific Railroad Company. The intended route runs west and northwest, with the ultimate intention of running through Dakota.

Longmont possesses two flouring mills. The St. Vrain Mills, Messrs. Fox & Greene, proprietors, is located in the center of the town. It is of 200 sacks per day capacity, and manufactures the celebrated Magnolio brand of flour. Two weekly newspapers are published here—The Press, by Mr. E. F. Beckwith, and the Ledger, by Mr. J. J. Jilson. Both have a large patronage, betokening an enlightened and liberal community. There is an extensively stocked livery stable here, conducted by Messrs. Newby & Robinson.

THE EWBCK HOTEL

Is a large brick and stone structure, occupying a commanding position in the town. From its balconies extensive and lovely views may be had in every direction. To the south Pike's Peak is always visible, although a hundred miles away. The hotel contains 61 rooms, all elegantly furnished. Electric bells connect every room with the office. Its halls and rooms are richly carpeted, decorated and lighted. The dining room is a marvel of neatness, and is conducted in a style that exhibits the long and valuable experience of the host, Mr. Currier. The house was opened on the first of May, 1881, and the event is marked as the greatest stride that this promising town has made. Travel to Longmont has visibly increased since the opening, showing that a good hotel is an important factor to a town's advancement. The Zweck cost over $50,000. Visitors to and from Estes Park, the summer home of Colorado, find this just the place for resting a day or two.

Manitou Springs,

EL PASO COUNTY.

Situated at the base of Pike's Peak, 5 miles distant from Colorado Springs, are the famous mineral springs of Manitou, in which so much interest has been centered of very recent years that they have been called the Saratoga of the West. Thousands of visitors come here annually, a great many of whom are pleasure-seekers, while a majority are invalids who come to drink of and bathe in the wonderful waters which gush from their subterranean homes incessantly. The scenery in the vicinity is claimed to be the most magnificent in all this land of wonders. The hotels are very fine, both at Manitou and Colorado Springs, whose spacious dining halls afford excellent accommodations for those who seek enjoyment after the shades of evening have fallen in tripping the light fantastic toe. The Manitou House, which is kept by Mr. S. B. Jennings, is the nearest to the depot. The house is beautifully located, with a park and fountain separating it from the dust of the road. The Beebee House (F. W. Beebee, proprietor) is next in order from the depot. The house was formerly the Manitou Mansions, and is the largest of the hotels in Manitou. The house has rooms for 250 guests, and controls numerous cottages. The Barker Hotel is centrally located, and is opposite the Shoshone and other springs. The proprietor, Hon. C. W. Barker, is an old and experienced hotel man, and does all in his power to make his house a home for all. The Cliff House has the advantage of lying at the very gate-way of Ute Pass and the entrance to Williams' Canyon, with its Cave of the Winds, and in the center of the numerous springs. A thickly foliaged park in front of the house contains the Soda Springs and one iron spring, with a pretty pavilion amid the trees. The proprietor, Mr. E. E. Nichols, his wife and assistants, will do all in their power to make the "Cliff" a pleasant, cheerful place for all who will stop with them.

Maysville,

CHAFFEE COUNTY.

Located on the Maysville branch of the Denver and Rio Grande Railway, seven miles from the junction—Poncha Springs—and 229 miles from Denver. Maysville is a beautiful little place of 600 inhabitants. The town is comparatively new, but well supplied in the particular of hotels. The principal one is the Hughes House, opposite the Post Office. It contains a large number of spacious and well-furnished rooms, and its fare is all that could be desired. The "Hughes" is deservedly popular. Venable's Hotel, conducted by Mrs. J. I. Venable, is a good family house, and the Williams offers good accommodations on the European plan.

Morrison,

JEFFERSON COUNTY.

The prosperous little town of Morrison is beautifully situated between what is known as the foot-hills and the Hog-back, on Bear creek, and took its name after George Morrison, the original settler. The town site was laid out in 1870, and now boasts of 500 inhabitants. There is a good district school. It is a beautiful summer resort, has a healthy climate, mineral springs and good accommodations for health-seeking invalids.

Pitkin,

GUNNISON COUNTY.

The town of Pitkin, pleasantly situated in a level park on Quartz Creek, 9,100 feet above sea level, and hemmed in on all sides by lofty peaks, is generally acknowledged to be the most beautiful of the Rocky Mountain towns. Gold, silver, lead, iron and cal veins abound in the adjacent mountains. The Denver, South Park and Pacific and Denver and Rio Grande Railways both pass through the town, and within five miles, by a good carriage road, are hot iron-sulphur springs, of great medicinal value. Near the town are good fishing and hunting grounds. The climate and scenery are unequalled, and already the town is becoming noted as a popular summer resort.

Poncha Springs,

CHAFFEE COUNTY.

Derives its name from the celebrated mineral springs, situated about one mile distant from the town. These springs are fifty in number, and are rich in the qualities so favorable for invalids. The waters are used both for drinking and bathing, and have proved very beneficial to hundreds of frequenters of the place. The town offers very good accommodations to people frequenting the springs, there being several very good hotels there. The Poncha Springs Hotel is a large building and the principal hotel of the place. Mr. H. A. Jackson, the proprietor, understands running a first class house, and spares no pains to make his place popular. The Cottage Home Hotel is delightfully situated in a retired part of the town and surrounded by trees of such rich foliage as to produce a most exquisite picture of rural felicity, especially at night. The place is very well adapted for families and invalids, for whom there are accommodations in the pretty detatched cottages. Poncha is situated five miles from Salida and 222 miles from Denver. It is on the Gunnison Branch of the D. and R. G. Ry. Climate temperate and all that could be desired. The site of the place is very pretty, and it strikes us that the opulent business men of Colorado could not select a better location for country residences than this delightful locality. Poncha possesses a weekly newspaper, smelting works, and several business houses of good standing. Population, 450. Altitude, nearly 8,000 feet.

Pueblo,

PUEBLO COUNTY,

Has a population of about 7,000, and is the county seat. It is situated on the banks of the Arkansas river, near its junction with the Fountain Qui Boille. Besides having direct communication with the East by the A. T. and S. F. R. R., and being a station on the Denver and Rio Grande, it has railroad communication with Leadville by the last named road. It is in the very heart of the richest agricultural region of Southern Colorado, is the principal city of that section, and has advantages in traffic that are exceptionally fine, the whole mineral district to the west being, by force of circumstances, reliant upon it for supplies. It was, a brief period since, one of that class of towns which, in the history of Colorado, was styled "an adobe," but the advance of civilization has in a great measure replaced them with substantial and sightly buildings. The city is situated on a wide and level plateau, at an altitude of 6,000 feet above the sea level, has a cosmopolitan population, a certain proportion of whom are Mexicans, and is regarded as an unusually healthy place. Its growth, while not characterized by that thrift which is so noticeable in some mining towns of the State, is of a permanent and gradual nature. There are several places of industry in the town, prominent among which are the rolling mills and smelting works. The churches and schools are well attended, and the papers, the Chieftain and Pueblo News (both having daily and weekly editions), are ably conducted, and are in a prosperous condition.

The Lindell House, a fine three story brick, is kept by Mr. Geo. T. Breed, a fine and genial gentleman, and of whom the common saying is fully true, "He knows how to keep a hotel." The Mt. Pleasant Hotel, kept by the Kircher Bros., is pleasantly located, one block from the business portion of the city, upon a high knoll overlooking the entire town.

Rosita,

CUSTER COUNTY.

Rosita is beautifully situated about eight miles from Silver Cliff, in the midst of the Greenhorn hills, and is the supply point of many mines in this locality. The view of the Sangre de Christo Range from this point is really very beautiful, almost rivaling that of Silver Cliff. Further up on the summit of Game Ridge, we think the view the finest in Custer County.

Rosita is now about eight years old, and contains about 1,000 people, directly or indirectly depending upon the product of the mines for a subsistence.

The mines about Rosita are already noted ones, and are capable of a large production of ore. The mineral is found generally in fissure veins, which are capable of being worked to a great depth, and we predict as the years go on, and greater depth is attained, those mines will prove among the richest in Colorado.

THE MOST POPULAR RESORT OF MINERS, TOURISTS AND COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS.

Salida,

CHAFFEE COUNTY,

Formerly called South Arkansas. Incorporated under its present name as a town September, 1880. It is situated 217 miles from Denver, by the Denver and Rio Grande Railway, at the junction of the Gunnison branch with the main line; altitude nearly 8,000 feet. The Gunnison branch is already being operated to the town of Gunnison, 74 miles west of Salida, and is being extended to Crested Buttes, 28 miles still further. It is expected that the extension will be completed by the fall of 1881. This branch will ultimately connect with the Utah R. R. system. Salida is prettily situated on the banks of the Arkansas river, and has many advantages as a trading point. New railroad shops are in course of construction, which will give the growth of the town new impetus. Salida has one weekly newspaper, published by Messrs. Moore & Olney, the Mountain Mail. Its healthy appearance and large circulation speaks well for the intelligence of the community. The Hawkins House—the principal hotel—accommodates over 100 persons, and can be recommended as a first-class hostelry.

Silver Cliff,

CUSTER COUNTY,

Is situated in the heart of Wet Mountain Valley, one of the finest mountain parks in Colorado, thirty-one miles from Canyon City. The park is about ten miles wide and forty miles long, having a large number of cultivated farms on Grape Creek, which runs through the center of the valley. The city contains about 6,000 inhabitants, and is surrounded for miles with good mines, stamp mills and smelting works, and the view of the mountains in all directions is magnificent. Altitude, 8,000 feet.

Silver Cliff is an incorporated city, and the principal town of Custer county.

The Daily and Weekly Republican, Daily and Weekly Prospect, and the Mining Gazette are all published here, giving the news from all the mining camps in Wet Mountain Valley and southern mining districts.

Cor. C and Third Streets, Teller City, Colorado.

Trinidad,

LAS ANIMAS COUNTY,

Is an incorporated city of about 4,500 inhabitants, and situated in the southern part of the State of Colorado, and distant about thirteen miles from the boundary between Colorado and New Mexico. The Purgatoire river flows through the town, and is a stream of water large enough to irrigate the valley for over 60 miles. The city was founded about twenty years ago, and until the past three or four years the inhabitants were mostly Mexicans. The southern extension of the A. T. & S. F. R. R. passes through the town, and the D. & R. G. R. R. terminus is about four miles below the town, which connects with Trinidad by stage. For miles in every direction the coal is seen cropping out of the hills, and coal mining is one of the leading industries, although there has never been any steps taken to manufacture iron. Yet iron ore of good quality and averaging 35 to 40 per cent. is abundant. There are several stone business blocks and several in course of construction. Almost every denomination hold services, and Lodges of all beneficial societies are in operation. The town is supplied with water by an engine which pumps the water from a cistern which is supplied by a conduit 300 feet long, drawing its supply from subterranean springs. The Trinidad Gas Works were completed this year. Building material of almost every kind is found in the vicinity of the city. Among the principal manufacturing industries of the city is the Trinidad Steam Stone Sawing Works and Grindstone Manufactory, which commenced operations in the Spring of 1881. The stone used by these works is a beautiful blue sandstone of a very superior quality. This is the only industry of the kind on the railroad line from Kansas City to California, and is destined to become an important manufactory.

The First National Bank of Trinidad does business with a capital and surplus of $100,000. It has excellent facilities for making collections in Southern Colorado and Northern New Mexico.

The United States Hotel here is conceded to be one of the best in the State. Its cuisine and accommodations are of the first order.

West Las Animas,

BENT COUNTY,

Is on the main line of the A., T. and S. F. R. R., 200 miles south of Denver, and 96 miles from Pueblo. It is the county seat of Bent county, and has a population of 600 souls. The town derives its name from the Rio Las Animas river, which flows into the Arkansas at a point about two miles away. It depends almost exclusively upon the live stock interest for its support, great herds of cattle and flocks of sheep being owned by the residents of the place. Its schools are in a flourishing condition, and the place is a very healthy one. Its prospect for becoming a town of some importance is very bright.

We are led to speak of Charles B. Kaufmann, who has leased the Pearson Baths, of Idaho Springs, for a number of years. The baths are furnished with commendable taste and liberality. Invalid bathing tubs—two for the use of ladies and two for the use of gentlemen—are placed in comfortable and convenient private rooms, set apart for that purpose alone. The attendants are quick, intelligent and obliging, which, together with the general air of elegance and cleanliness which pervades the massive building, makes the Pearson Hot Bathing Establishment a most desirable place of resort, both on account of the benefit to be derived from a proper and systematic use of the baths, and also the health-giving and bracing atmosphere in and around Idaho Springs, which cannot be rivaled in Colorado, and Colorado, it is well known, is unrivaled in the world for the brightness of her skies and salubrity of her climate.

THE ATCHISON, TOPEKA AND SANTA FE.

THE NEW AND POPULAR ROUTE THROUGH THE FERTILE VALLEY OF THE ARKANSAS AND THE RICH MINING REGIONS OF COLORADO, NEW MEXICO, ARIZONA, AND SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA.

A more interesting and delightful trip cannot be found than that now afforded by the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe and the Southern Pacific railroads, stretching across the continent from the Missouri river at Kansas City and Atchison to all the principal cities on the coast of California. Passing through Topeka, the beautiful capital city of Kansas, the traveler crosses the fertile fields and grazing lands of that State and enters the mining regions of Colorado through the pivotal city of Pueblo. Or, following the main line from La Junta, the tourist may cross the Raton Mountains by a picturesque pass into the Territory of New Mexico and descend through enchanting mountain scenery, past the famous Hot Springs of Las Vegas to Santa Fe, the capital of the Territory and the oldest city on the continent. Thence the route lies southwest through the mining regions of New Mexico and the vineyards and gardens of the valley of the Rio Grande to Deming, where connections are made with the Southern Pacific Railroad for Arizona and all points in California. From Rincon, on the east bank of the Rio Grande, a branch of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe runs to El Paso, where it enters Mexico.

The climate of this wonderful region is as mild and agreeable as that on the shores of the Mediterranean. The fact that mining may be pursued here all the year round without interruption from the snows and storms which make it impossible for half the year in more northern mineral districts, together with the unequaled richness of this section in gold and silver, has brought it into prominence as the most profitable field for mining operations on the continent. Alexander Von Humboldt declared in 1803: "Here will the wealth of the world be found," and the prospector of 1881 has verified the predictions of the celebrated scientest by proving with pick and shovel that this is the bonanza land of the continent. From the Raton Pass, where the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad enters the Territory of New Mexico, to the point where New Mexico, Arizona and Chihuahua corner, the whole Territory is one vast bed of ores and gems. Gold, silver, copper and lead abound. Genuine gold ores have been found in the White Oaks district which assay from $100,000 to $250,000 a ton. The mountains about Santa Fe and Socorro abound in turquoise, agate, cornelian, topaz, jasper, onyx and other precious gems, some of the finest gems among the crown jewels of Spain having been taken from the turquoise mines in the Cerillos Mountains. In the development of this great treasure house of the globe capital and labor find more profitable employment than can be found anywhere else.

But the resources of New Mexico are not confined to her mineral wealth. In the Valley of the Rio Grande is found the finest fruit-growing country between the Missouri River and the Pacific Coast. Along the whole valley, from El Paso on the south to Santa Fe on the north, is found one of the best wine-growing districts in the world. The native wines of this section have become popular all over the country, far surpassing in richness the much-vaunted vintage of California, and equaling the renowned wines of France and Spain. In the wide valleys sheep and cattle range in countless numbers, requiring no more attention in Summer or Winter than the guarding of a herdsman. Here also the American farmer cultivates every variety of cereal with success, and with his improved farming machinery is fast supplanting the native and his ruder implements of agriculture.

In brief, the laborer may find here abundant employment, at good wages; capital and enterprise, rich fields for investment; the miner will find more gold than in California and more silver than in Colorado, with no interruption of his work by snows and the rigors of Winter; the fruit-grower and agriculturist may find blooming valleys and fertile fields; the stock-grower, rich grazing lands; while in the thrifty and growing cities of New Mexico every branch of trade is afforded opportunities for profitable development.

ALPHABETICALLY.

Nebraska was acquired by the United States in 1803 by what was known as the Louisiana purchase; organized as a Territory in 1854 and was admitted to the Union as a State in 1867, when Lincoln was selected as the Capital and Omaha was shorn of her legislative honors. Bounded on the north by the promising Territory of Dakota, on the east by the important States of Iowa and Missouri, on the south by the smiling and prosperous State of Kansas, and on the west by the State of sublime scenery and exhaustless mineral and pastoral wealth, Colorado, and the great Territory of Wyoming—a constellation of States and Territories, which for a wide range of productions is perhaps not surpassed, if equaled, by any other section of the globe. Nebraska! Glorious Nebraska! The center of this great group, the "bright, particular gem" of this most royal assemblage of provinces, is just beginning to enjoy the glories of her millennium and to have her claims to high distinction as a favored spot recognized in every quarter of the great world. Her population is rapidly increasing and is decidedly cosmopolitan, made up, however, of an industrious, intelligent, enterprising, God-fearing people. Her boundless acres of productive land, rich in alluvial and vegetable deposits, require only the magic touch of cultivation that the beauteous results of labor may be revealed. The plow and the hoe are implements that can be made wonderfully creative in this land of genial climate and virgin soil. They are the counterparts of the famous rod of Aaron; to their touch the bosom of Mother Earth is laid bare and her multiplicity of charms are surrendered without a murmur. Here are, indeed, the fountains of youth and fortune, whose crystal waters flow perpetually through the depths of her soil under the stimulating and preserving elements of a clear sky and pure atmosphere. Millions of acres of rarely productive land still remain open for entry and settlement free to all under the pre-emption laws, which are so familiar to all that it may be unnecessary to mention the course to be pursued by persons who may desire to avail themselves of the privilege of acquiring a homestead; but we will say that for surveying and entering the land a fee of $14 is charged, and after six months shall have elapsed the person in whose name the land is entered must begin to make improvements on it and make it his actual residence for five years thereafter. When he shall have made proof by two competent witnesses at the Land Office that all the law's requirements have been complied with, and when he shall have paid an additional fee of four dollars, then he will receive a clear title to the land from the Government and may do with as it he sees fit. A title to a homestead may be acquired before the expiration of five years by proving that it has been settled and cultivated up to date and paying $1 25 or $2 50 per acre, the Government price for land. Or by complying with the provisions of an Act of Congress, recently passed, to encourage the growth of timber on the plains of the Western States and Territories, one can secure a homestead without being required to become a resident on the land. By planting one sixteenth of the tract to timber which he may take, and which is limited to 160 acres, he can obtain a patent for it in eight years, which is exempt from taxation and from liability for debt during that period, though the timber must be kept thrifty and in a growing condition all the time. Thus it is that cheap homes can be had in Nebraska.

The number of acres of land in the State set apart and reserved for the several Indian tribes is about 1,000,000, which embraces some of the very best within the confines of the great State. It is thought that the exigency incident to the advance of civilization will result in destroying the tribal relation which at present exists, and in this event "Lo" will probably become a "man and brother," and the roaming life that he leads will be led no more. The refining influences of association with the whites will probably bring him to a sense of his capabilities, and the land that is now idle will be made to blossom as the rose, and the world will feel its benefits.

The advantages for the education of her youth are manifold and are eminently superior. For the support of public schools two sections of land in every township have been given, from which a very good revenue, in most counties, is obtained. The school-houses throughout the whole State are of beautiful design, well constructed and are creditable institutions. Besides a Normal School at Peru, a small town on the line of the Brownville branch of the B. and M. Railroad, there is a University of classical education at Lincoln, under the exclusive control of the State.

RAILROADS.

The rapid development of the State of Nebraska and her wide-spread fame as one of the richest agricultural and pastoral commonwealths of our great nation, are probably due more to her railway system than to any other cause. The remarkable fertility of her soil and her superb climate were features that were brought prominently into notice through the medium of her railroad corporations. Pamphlets faithfully descriptive of her wonderful resources were published and distributed gratuitously throughout the whole country by the several lines which were constructed in her early history, and in consequence of a vast tide of immigration began pouring into her borders, and she fast assumed an important position among the foremost States. There are in Nebraska several lines of railway, which penetrate her richest and most thickly settled sections.

THE UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD

Is the pioneer line of the State, which passes through the entire length of it, along whose route there are some of the finest bodies of land that mortal eyes ever saw. It controls several short lines which diverge from the main line, while it has in contemplation the construction of others. Its line to the Black Hills will probably be the most profitable of its investments. Although the project of constructing this line of railway across the continent was entertained as a feasible undertaking by a civil engineer of some prominence as early as the year 1836, a preliminary organization of a company for that purpose was not effected until October, 1863, when a capital of $100,000,000 was authorized, and a contract for building was let, but not until the 5th of November, 1865, was any practical demonstration made toward the accomplishment of that end, when the ceremony attending the breaking of ground at Omaha was performed. Of course this event was hailed throughout the civilized world with feelings of joy, yet the consummation of such a task was looked upon with eyes of doubt, and knowing ones in our own country shook their heads and declared such an undertaking to be an utter impossibility; and some even went so far as to express their belief that the Government's financial standing would be dangerously impaired because of its aid to the great enterprise. Despite complaints and discouragements, the projectors worked incessantly and with wonderful energy until the curtains of doubt were uplifted and its completion was announced. Such progress in the art of railroad building astounded capitalists, engineers, and even Governments, for the undertaking was considered so gigantic that its perfection was deemed impossible by the most practical minds as well as moneyed power. Congratulations followed the announcement of the completion of the road in rapid succession from all quarters of the world, and the opinion that America was destined to become foremost among the enterprising and progressive nations was conceded. To the courage, then, of that kind of bold men who had inaugurated the great scheme which afterwards challenged the astonishment and admiration of the world, our country owes her gratitude, in a great measure, for the position she occupies to-day. Such men lay the corner-stones of nations that are not easily removed, and the spirit which has characterized the Yankee as a "piece of human mechanism without limited forces" has made us undoubtedly what we are. Men of indomitable energy, of shrewd judgment and excellent management, are the ones who had control of the Union Pacific Railroad, and its presence gloriously illustrates the results of those qualities. The Pacific Railroad is indeed America's greatest wonder.

In 1860 the population of the States and Territories of the Far West, although it had greatly increased during the decade previous, was but a mere handful in comparison with that of the present time. When the happy intelligence flashed across the telegraph wires that the great work was finished and communication by rail could be had by the seaboard cities of the Atlantic with those of the Pacific, people began pouring into the Great West from all parts of the world, seeking free homes and a land of plenty. The tide of immigration still flows, and as a result the country which but a few short years ago was uninhabited by the Caucasian race now presents a spectacle in the form of smiling cities and villages, happy homes and well cultivated farms, that makes the pride of every true American glow with ecstacy. What an era of prosperity, of improvement and happiness, was preceded by the great overland route to California. The most magnificent scenery the world can boast of borders the pathway of this great line, and as the trip from Omaha to the beautiful metropolis of the Pacific Coast is of only four and one-half days duration it should be taken advantage of by every one who seeks the pleasure of travel. The Golden State offers every attraction to the tourist, a fact that can be appreciated only through actual observation.

The lands along the Union Pacific are susceptible of a high cultivation, yielding abundantly to the industry of man, which can be obtained from the Company on most reasonable terms. Of course the excellent inducements which are held out have not been lost sight of by thousands of people, though all the available lands are not taken yet. Those which border the road through Wyoming are inferior to none for pastoral or agricultural purposes. The country is filling up very rapidly, and it will not be a great while ere the choicest bodies are disposed of. To those, then, who have in contemplation a removal to this section, we would say that it is inimical to your interests to postpone the trip. The iron is hot, strike!

The following roads and branches are also owned or controlled by the Union Pacific, and traverse fertile and beautiful sections of Nebraska:

OMAHA AND REPUBLICAN VALLEY BRANCH,

Running from Omaha to Lincoln and Stromsburg, and Grand Island to St. Paul. Length, 132 miles.

OMAHA, NIOBRARA AND BLACK HILLS BRANCH,

Running from Columbus, Nebraska, to Norfolk and Albion, 81 miles.

ST. JOSEPH AND WESTERN,

From St. Joseph, Mo., to Grand Island, Nebraska, 252 miles.

MARYSVILLE AND BLUE VALLEY BRANCH,

From Marysville, Kansas, to Beatrice, Nebraska, 38 miles.

THE BURLINGTON AND MISSOURI RIVER, IN NEBRASKA,

Is powerful and wealthy, and is making extraordinary efforts to secure the greatest portion of the trade in the southwestern part of the State. Its eastern terminus is at Plattsmouth, on the Missouri River, whence it runs to Lincoln, and from there to Kearny, where it connects with the Union Pacific. It also operates what was formerly known as the Midland Pacific, but what is now called the Brownville branch of the main line. This powerful road penetrates some of the finest grazing and agricultural quarters of the State, and to its presence the citizens certainly are indebted for the wonderful development of the country, where towns and beautiful farms are profusely scattered. Cereals of every kind are extensively cultivated, and the immense yields of that section of vegetables, corn, barley, oats, wheat and hay have contributed very largely to the support of the road, whose receipts are annually augmenting at an astonishing rate. The country that is traversed by this line is picturesque, and its possibilities are hard to estimate. Its success is due to the liberality and efficiency of its management.

Some of the most fertile and beautiful lands of the West lie along the main line and branches of this road, and are owned and for sale by the Company at low rates and on easy payments. Parties wishing to look at lands owned by the Company can procure tickets of passage at reduced rates.

Besides touching the Union Pacific at Kearny Junction they also have branches running from Lincoln to Columbus and Central City and other points on the Union Pacific. The branch or main line running from Lincoln, via Crete, Beatrice, Blue Springs and Red Cloud, to Culbertson, a distance of 205 miles from Omaha, is soon to be extended through to Denver, making a very direct route to the metropolis of the Rocky Mountains.

The Atchison and Nebraska division is also controlled by this Company, running from Lincoln to Atchison, Kansas.

CHICAGO, ST. PAUL, MINNEAPOLIS AND OMAHA RAILWAY

Operate 152 miles of railway in Nebraska, under what is known as the Nebraska Division, with Geo. V. Morford as Superintendent, and J. A. Monroe, General Agent, at Omaha, Neb. This branch of their road follows the Missouri valley northward, and very closely to the river, through the finest farming and stock district of Nebraska, and through the beautiful Logan valley and Omaha Indian Reservation. Pullman sleeping cars run daily without change between Omaha, St. Paul and Chicago; also between Council Bluffs and Kansas City.

THE SIOUX CITY AND PACIFIC RAILROAD.

Between Sioux City and Missouri Valley Junction, 76 miles, the train follows the pleasant valley of the Missouri. The route is bordered by fruitful farms, which are largely devoted to corn plantations and grazing. From Missouri Valley Junction, Council Bluffs and Omaha are reached in twenty-five miles.

The Western Division diverges at California Junction, the cars being transferred across the Missouri river by ferry. Blair, on the west bank, is the junction of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha Line. At Fremont connection is made with the Union Pacific Railway. Thence the route turns northwest through the Elkhorn valley, a richly productive region, settled largely by the Germans and Norwegians. From O'Neill the line is extending up the Niobrara Valley.

The Niobrara branch diverges from the main line at Norfolk Junction and runs in a northwesterly direction, following the valley of the north fork of the Elkhorn river 42 miles to Creighton, the present terminus, where a daily line of stages connecting with trains, runs to Niobrara, on the Missouri river.

Beatrice,

GAGE COUNTY,

The county seat, is delightfully located on a prominent plateau, through which the Blue river flows. This little stream, besides its wondrous beauty and purity, possesses a vast supply of motive power, which must, in the near future, be utilized by extensive manufactories. The surrounding country is devoted to stock raising and farming, and the town enjoys a princely revenue from the heavy shipments of stock and produce at this point. It is fifty miles from the metropolis of Lincoln, and abounds in elegant private residences and substantial business houses, and sustains a population of about 2,000. Well conducted newspapers are the rule, ably supporting the interests of the section. The educational facilities are of a high character. It is on the B. and M. and U. P. Railroads, and there is abundant evidence of its continued prosperity.

THE PACIFIC HOUSE,

The principal hotel, is under the experienced management of Messrs. Renshaw & Gelsthorpe, who keep a strictly first class establishment, one in which the stranger may make his home and feel at ease. It is pleasantly situated, within two blocks of the B. and M. and U. P. depots. The table, to which we gave our undivided attention at proper intervals, is one of the best to be found west of the Missouri river. The rooms are elegantly and tastefully furnished, and commercial travelers are provided with convenient sample rooms. To travelers, we recommend the Pacific, believing that they will find Messrs. Renshaw and Gelsthorpe the right men in the right place.

Columbus,

PLATTE COUNTY,

Is on the Union Pacific Railway, 92 miles from Omaha. Population, 2,500. County seat. Court House cost $25,000. Elevation of town, 1,432 feet. The location is a healthy one, and the country around is a rich agricultural section. The country gently undulates from the city, and is recognized as being the most productive in the State. Railroads come into Columbus from each of the four points of the compass. Three weekly newspapers—the Columbus Democrat, published and edited by Messrs. A. B. & J. B. Coffroth; the Journal, by Messrs. M. K. Turner & Co.; and the Gazette, by Wm. Burgess & Co. Columbus would seem to be the headquarters for the sale of railroad lands. Two offices are open here for the disposal of it. Desirable virgin land in fair location can be bought at prices ranging from $3 to $5 per acre. The demand is quite active, and we presume that these prices will be greatly enhanced shortly. Columbus is one of the most important shipping points on the road. The annual shipments of grain from this point will aggregate one million bushels. All of the useful institutions, including societies, churches, and schools, usually possessed by a city of the second class, are represented.

Crete,

SALINE COUNTY,

Is a growing town of 2,000 inhabitants, on the B. and M. Railroad, in Nebraska, at the junction of the Beatrice branch of the same road, 20 miles west of Lincoln. The country surrounding the place is picturesque, and owing to its great fertility offers excellent inducements to all who wish to engage in agricultural pursuits. The different branches of mercantile business are pretty well represented, and a fair proportion of manufactories, including a good brewery and flouring-mill. A good weekly paper is published here, and the various religious denominations and public schools are in a prosperous condition.

David City,

BUTLER COUNTY.

County seat. On the Omaha and Republican Valley branch of the Union Pacific Railway, and touched by the Atchison and Nebraska Railroad, 19 miles south of Columbus. Population, 900. The business portion of the town surrounds a plaza, which is an unusual and pleasant feature. The location of David is favorable, and it only needs a little enterprise to make it the center of considerable trade. Good lands are for sale in this vicinity at very low prices, considering the location. A fine school building has been erected, which two years ago was supposed to be sufficient accommodation for any contingency, but the events of the past two years prove that the very liberal designs of the architects are inadequate, and an addition is under consideration. This is the banner town for babies. The county officials are cooped up in 7x9 quarters, while the school buildings stretch out over several acres.

Fairmont,

FILLMORE COUNTY,

Is located on the B. and M. Railroad in Nebraska, 53 miles west of Lincoln and 108 miles from Omaha, in a rich agricultural section, and is in a prosperous, thrifty condition, having a population of 1100 progressive, enterprising, wide-awake and intelligent people. The shipments of grain and cattle from this place are large, while a perceptible increase in the amount of imports is highly gratifying. The productions, the soil being an exhaustless vegetable mold, are only limited to those indigenous to the latitude; and the country has a capacity for supporting a much greater population than is there at present. It is improving with the rapidity which characterizes that quarter of the State, and it would not be risking too much say that the place will rank among the cities of the second class ere the lapse of a great while. An ably edited weekly paper, sparkling in its local departments, is published here, while good schools and churches are attractive features of the place.

Fremont,

DODGE COUNTY,

Is on the Union Pacific Railway, 47 miles west of Omaha. County seat. Population, 3,200. Elevation, 1,176 feet. This place is situated in the extreme eastern portion of the county, on a delightful plateau, near the junction of the Platte and Elkhorn rivers. The country which is contiguous to the place for miles around is remarkably productive, and is tolerably thickly settled. It depends almost entirely on the farming and stock raising interests for its support, and the country is capable of much greater population than at present exists there. The most attractive features of the place are the public park, thickly studded with a beautiful growth of native shade trees, under whose dense foliage visitors and residents spend the long summer afternoons in "whiling away the time" to escape the enervating effects of the scorching sun. The public buildings are the opera house, one of the best in the State, the Court House and jail combined, and an elegant school edifice, the cost of which was more than $25,000. The first named building cost $8,000, and was built by a joint stock company, and is capable of seating 800 persons. Precautions for escape from fire have been taken by making it fireproof. It has been authoritatively stated that the thriving little city is among the very handsomest of the State, whose residents are wide awake, and evince a public spirit that is truly commendable. The several religious denominations are all represented, whose congregations are very creditable indeed. The benevolent societies are also pretty well sustained. The private estate of Theron Nye, Esq., is said to be the handsomest of the residences in the State, being built with an eye to convenience and architectural beauty, surrounded by beautifully laid out grounds.

The town is very well represented by two spicy and ably edited papers—the Herald, a daily and weekly; and the Tribune, a weekly publication.

The Sioux City and Pacific Railroad also touches Fremont. The manufacturing interests of the town consist of a foundry, flour mill, and a fruit-canning factory (which in time promises to become an important industry). There is also a carriage factory, operated by Messrs. Lowry & Markey, established two years ago, and employing a number of skilled mechanics. Eno's Hotel, formerly the Occidental, under the proprietorship of the popular E. L. Eno (whose genial countenance is a true index of the principles upon which his house is conducted), has been reopened in elegant style, after a thorough renovating and refurnishing. It is now in every particular one of the best hotels in the State.

CLAY COUNTY,

On the line of the B. & M. Railroad in Nebraska, 136 miles from Omaha, and 81 miles west of Lincoln, is beautifully located on a gently rolling prairie, and has a population of 900. The products of the land contiguous to the place are corn, wheat, oats, barley, potatoes, etc., which are a great source of revenue to the town. It has a two-story frame school house, surmounted with a cupola, costing $4,000. There are two weekly papers published here, the Sentinel and the Clay County Journal, both edited in an able manner, and conducted with quite a degree of conservatism. They both believe in promoting the interests of their section, though they do not indulge in exagerating its condition or resources. It is a lively shipping point and is ranked among the best on the railroad. Good schools and churches afford excellent facilities for imparting education and improving the morals of the people.

Hastings,

ADAMS COUNTY,

Is a bustling, thriving little city of 3,372 inhabitants, the county seat of Adams county, and at the junction of the Republican Valley, St. Joseph and Denver, and a branch of the Union Pacific Railroads, with the Burlington and Missouri in Nebraska, 94 miles from Lincoln, the Capital. Its citizens are endowed with indomitable energy, and are full of enterprise. It dates its growth from the year 1871, which has been constant and permanent. The country in the vicinity is rich in the production of cereals and other agricultural products. It is an extensive shipping point, many hundred carloads of grain and hogs being annually transported from this point. As a stock-raising and grain-growing section this immediate locality is conceded to be inferior to none other in the State. Every branch of trade and a great many industrial enterprises are well represented, though with the increase in its population there is a strong probability that the extent of commerce may demand an increase in the number of firms. An elegant public school building speaks volumes in praise of the intelligence of the residents, while the mute, yet suggestive figures of several handsome church edifices point heavenward. There are three good papers published here. The future of the place is laden with bright promise, and we feel safe in predicting its becoming one of the important commercial centers of Nebraska.

Kearney,

BUFFALO COUNTY.

This pretty and bustling town was laid out in the spring of 1872, and assumed the more dignified responsibilities of a city, the following year, when it acquired a charter from the Legislature; its streets present scenes of great activity, and it is conceded to be one of the most promising towns of the State. It is the county seat of Buffalo county, and has a population of 2,500 or more. Its natural advantages are superior, and its prospects are made exceedingly bright by the fact that it is at the junction of the B. and M. Railroad in Nebraska with the Union Pacific. It is distant from Omaha 196 miles, and 136 miles west of Lincoln. It has a beautiful location, the country gradually sloping towards the picturesque valley of the Platte. The schools and churches of the place are creditable institutions, being well attended and liberally supported. The main school building cost $25,000 and is of handsome and useful design. The State Reform school is located here. There are several papers of good reputation for editorial ability published here.

Lincoln,

LANCASTER COUNTY,

Is the county seat and capital of the State. But a few years have elapsed since the original survey was made, and now we have a city of 13,000 people, with broad streets, running at right angles, handsome homes shaded by the luxuriant foliage of thousands of ornamental trees, and numberless substantial business structures. The growth of Lincoln has been rapid and vigorous, and of a permanent character, betokening unbounded confidence in its future. The extensive country surrounding Lincoln, with a soil of inexhaustable fertility, contributes largely to its prosperity. Her citizens are possessed of energy and determination, and will ere long make their beautiful city a power in the land. The business portion of the city is of fine architectural design, and the dealers carry heavy and well selected stocks. The five lines of railway, that render Lincoln easily accessible from all points, are resources that draw to Lincoln a heavy trade, and substantiate her claims for continued and increasing prosperity. Among the chief attractions of the city are the State House, the University and the Post Office. The estimated cost of the State House is nearly half a million dollars, though when completed the amount may exceed that sum. The grounds that inclose it are pretty, and will be a most delightful place when a little more time has been given to their ornamentation. The University is a beautiful brick, four stories high, and occupying a very conspicuous position. The endowment of 236,000 acres of land is the source of its support. Its cost was nearly $200,000. The Post Office building is the handsomest of the kind that we have ever seen. It stands in the central business portion of the city and commands an excellent view of the country for miles around. It is constructed of native limestone, of cream color, is four stories high and cost $200,000. The Penitentiary, Insane Asylum, Opera House and High School buildings are all marvels of architectural skill, the Asylum and High School buildings costing respectively $100,000 and $45,000. The city is well supplied with illuminating gas and newspapers, both daily and weekly, which are ably conducted and whose typographical appearance shows the result of enlarged experience and prosperous condition.

THE COMMERCIAL HOTEL.

This popular caravansary, under the proprietorship of J. J. Imhoff, has for years been recognized as "headquarters" at Nebraska's Capital, and contains all the modern improvements found in any first-class hotel in the United States. Good sample rooms for the convenience of commercial travelers are arranged on the first floor, and every facility conducive to the convenience and comfort of the traveler, including a system of baths which are unsurpassed on the American continent. Electro-thermal, hot and cold, medicated, mineral, Russian, salt and fresh water, shower, swimming, Turkish, vapor, and all other kinds of baths are administered in the best possible manner.

The B. & M. R. R. Lands.

About 200,000 acres of the South Platte and 400,000 acres of the North Platte Land Grant of the B. & M. R. R. are left unsold. These lands are situated In the eastern half of the State, in the valleys and parks, on the tables and rolling prairies, and are among the finest in Nebraska for farm and stock purposes. Every advantage of climate, water, soil, wood and grasses inhere to them. They are in the midst of a country where the rough work of pioneering is already done. Towns are founded, railroads, mills and bridges built, daily mails are running, societies, churches, and schools are organized, farming and grazing have been attested by a dozen years of unexampled success. Good people from every land have founded hundreds of happy homes here, and the settler has only to select his land, build his home, plant his roof-tree, break up the prairie and grow into independence.

During the past eight years this Company has sold nearly 2,000,000 acres to 18,000 persons, and within the limits of the B. & M. Lands are the majority of the population and wealth of the State. This Company yet owns, in the counties named below, quantities of lands as stated, amounting in the aggregate to 600,000 acres:

Nebraska City,

OTOE COUNTY,

Is situated on the west side of the Missouri River, 57 miles from Lincoln, via Brownville branch of the B. & M. Railway, in Nebraska, and 43 miles from Omaha. It occupies the site of old Fort Kearney, and dates its growth from 1854, being one of the very oldest places in the State. Its population is estimated to be 4,800. Since the advent of the railroad the advancement of the place has been characterized by that thrift which the presence of such enterprises entails. There is no reason why the prosperity of the place may not be greatly enhanced, since her facilities for transportation and her advantages for production are eminently superior. With her wide-reaching valley, her splendid water power, her excellent educational privileges, her intelligent, wide-awake business men and her very desirable location as a place of residence, why, we ask, should not her advancement be great? The fact that there are several daily and weekly papers published here that will compare favorably in the mechanical, as well as the editorial, department, with those of places whose pretensions are greater, is one that adds great weight to the testimony which is highly eulogistic of her people's intelligence. There are several manufacturing enterprises in the place, among which are a flouring mill, with a capacity of about 30,000 barrels per year, two large plow factories, a distillery, etc. Three school-houses, one of which cost upwards of $30,000, afford ample accommodation for the education of the youth of the place in the lower branches of study; while at a College of Divinity, under the charge of the Episcopal Church, a great many young men are fitted for the ministry. Besides these places of learning, there are two female seminaries, controlled by the Benedictine Sisters and the Episcopal Church. It is the county seat of Otoe county, and the Court House and Square reflect great credit on the appreciation of the citizens. The "temple of justice" is a two-story brick building, and the county officers are efficient and courteous gentlemen.

Situated 50 miles from Columbus, the nearest point on the U. P. Ry., and approached from there by a branch of the Union Pacific. It is also touched by the S. C. and P. R. R. 70 miles from Fremont. Its railroad facilities are multiplying, and soon the town will have connection with Minnesota. A road is being projected to St. Paul with a branch south to Omaha. Population, about 900. Norfolk possesses a bank and three weekly newspapers. Messrs. Mathewson & Lowe, of the bank, whose card we print, cheerfully extend to strangers information regarding the lands of Northern Nebraska. They advertise choice unimproved farming lands at from $3 50 to $5 per acre.

The Depot Hotel, situated at the S. C. & P. R. R. depot is a strictly first-class house and eating station, Mr. F. H. Babbitt, proprietor.

The Norfolk House, situated in the center of town, opposite the Post Office, offers good accommodations at low rates to the traveling public.

The gentlemanly barber of the town has organized an association (consisting of himself) and held a meeting, at which it was unanimously resolved that his establishment shall be closed

North Platte,

LINCOLN COUNTY.

On the Union Pacific Railway, 298 miles west of Omaha. Population over 2,000. Altitude, 2,789 feet. County seat. Branch railroad shops main support of the town. Works employ at present writing 400 men, and will soon increase the number to 600. New boiler shop, 50x120 feet, is being constructed, which will render the shops at North Platte entirely independent of the Omaha shops, except for foundry facilities and for constructing and repairing. G. W. Vroman, General Foreman; J. H. McConnell, Master Mechanic.

North Platte exhibits a very rapid and healthy growth, principally denoted by the number of handsome new buildings under construction; which, together with the important public buildings already completed, render the place one of the most substantially built towns in Nebraska. The Court House and school building are especially noticeable pieces of architecture. The former, a two-story brick, trimmed with terra-cotta and surmounted by an attractive cupola, cost $20,000; the school house cost $15,000. The religious societies are well represented, while benevolent and charitable orders are strong in point of numbers. The Lodge of Odd Fellows (Walla Walla, 56), for instance, numbers 75 members. This Order is erecting a substantial brick building. The town supports three weekly newspapers, all ably conducted in the interest of the town and county. They are: the Telegraph, Republican, and the Western Nebraskian. With her advantages as a manufacturing town, and the support she derives from the immense stock interests of the vicinity, North Platte has excellent prospects.

Omaha.

The county seat of Douglas County, and the metropolis of Nebraska, occupying a most delightful location on the west bank of the Missouri River, opposite Council Bluffs, Iowa, has a population of 30,518 souls. It, like most other Western cities of commercial and manufacturing importance, has grown with marvelous rapidity, and its blocks of substantial business houses, its broad and cleanly-kept streets, its handsome private and public edifices, warrant the belief that it is one of the permanent cities of the New West. Its nine lines of railway alone are almost capable of supporting as great a population as she contains, not to mention the multitude of other enterprises with which she is blessed. The Burlington and Missouri River Railroad in Nebraska, the Union Pacific, and Omaha and Northern Nebraska Railroad enter the city; while on the opposite side of the river, at Council Bluffs, which is in reality but an extension of Omaha, the following roads converge: Chicago and Northwestern, Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, and Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, the three trunk lines from the East; the Kansas City, St. Joseph and Council Bluffs, Wabash, St. Louis and Pacific, and Sioux City and Pacific Railroads, all of which occupy in common the Union Pacific depot. The workshops of that giant of railroad lines, the Union Pacific, cover thirty acres of ground, in which several hundred artisans are kept busy the year round. During the season of navigation connection is had with St. Louis and the Upper Missouri and Yellowstone River points by several lines of steamers. The residences of the city occupy commanding sites on the chain of hills which surround it, while the business portion of the place is in the valley which extends from their base to the river. The chief features of attraction are the bridge which spans the river, the High School building, the Post Office and the Union Pacific headquarters. The first named is one of the handsomest bridges in the world, constructed at an expense to the various lines of railway of $1,600,000. It is made entirely of iron, abutments and all. It is a marvel of engineering skill, and its plans were drawn by the genius of T. E. Sickles, Esq., Chief Engineer of the Union Pacific. The High School building is one of the handsomest structures of the kind in the United States, costing upwards of a quarter of a million of dollars. It is of beautiful architectural design, Roman-Italian in its nature, and crowning the bluffs which recede abruptly from the river, commands an elegant view of the picturesque valley beyond. The Post Office and Custom House is a magnificent structure, a perfect gem in its way, and one that the residents may justly feel proud of. It is constructed of sandstone of a greenish tint, is three stories high, surmounted with a mansard roof, and cost $350,000. The city's geographical situation is an assurance of her future prosperity, being necessarily the gateway to the great Far West. It is distant west from Chicago 500 miles, north from St. Louis 500 miles and 365 miles from the beautiful capital of the promising State of Minnesota. Her citizens are intelligent, enterprising and generous, while the morals are superior, the society being noted far and near for its excellence. The institutions of divine worship are numerous, in whose erection means have not been spared to make them comfortable and ornamental. There are several lines of street railway. Of the private homes of the city there are quite a number, principal among which are those of Herman Kountz, a banker, Thomas L. Kimball, Esq., General Ticket and Passenger Agent of the Union Pacific, Mr. Chas. Stebbins, Dr. Graff and others, which are surrounded by beautiful grounds and are very attractive indeed. The press of the city will probably surpass that of any other place in the country no larger, and will stand a most rigid comparison, in many respects, with that of our metropolitan cities. The educational facilities of Omaha are of a high order, the excellent Public School system being nowhere surpassed. Principal among the private institutions is the Protestant Episcopal Seminary for Young Ladies, Brownell Hall, situated on an eminence overlooking the city of Omaha, under the care of Bishop Clarkson and Rev. Robt. Doherty, assisted by an able corps of instructors; terms for board and tuition, $300 a year. Among the papers and periodicals are the Omaha Bee, issuing a morning and evening edition, the leading paper; the News, the Herald and Republican, both issued in the morning; the Post, tri-weekly and weekly, the Center-Union Agriculturist, a weekly, the High School Journal, the Rural Nebraska, Saturday Times, Nebraska Watchman, Church Guardian, Journal of Commerce, Portfolio, and the Western Magazine. In addition to the above there are the Danske Pioneer, printed in the Danish language, the Westra Posten, the leading German paper, the Daheim, Courier, Freie Stienmen Aus Dem Reiche Gottes (semi-monthly), Folkebladet, German, and the Pokrok Zapadu, a Bohemian paper.

Omaha is well supplied with good hotels and two excellent theaters, and is fast taking rank as the great commercial center of the country west of the Missouri river.

Plattsmouth,

CASS COUNTY.

Situated on the main line of the Burlington and Missouri River Railroad, on the west bank of the Missouri river, is a town of steady growth and sustbantial business outlook. The rich country surrounding Plattsmouth makes it a prominent shipping point, and enables her merchants to carry on a lucrative trade with the farming population. The private residences are neat and homelike, and the streets are beautifully laid out and shaded with hundreds of ornamental trees. The business blocks are of solid and imposing structure, and bear abundant evidence of the prosperity of the town.

THE PERKINS HOUSE,

The leading and in fact the only first-class hotel of Plattsmouth, is a fine new three-story brick building, situated one block from the depot. This house has lately been opened by Mr. John McKeever, who has had long experience in the hotel business, and gives universal satisfaction to his guests.

Schuyler,

COLFAX COUNTY,

Is 76 miles west of Omaha, on the Union Pacific Railroad. It is the county seat of Colfax county, which is so called in honor of an ex-Vice President, the town and county forming both his Christian and surname. It has a population of 1500, and is beautifully situated on the Platte River, which is spanned at this point by a substantial wooden bridge. The Court House is a neat and good building, costing $12,000. The school and church edifices are as good as the average, with a good attendance. It is located also in a rich agricultural district. The soil is very fertile and yields abundantly all kinds of grain. Stock-raising is another pursuit that is somewhat extensively engaged in. All branches of mercantile business are well represented, while there are

Seward,

SEWARD COUNTY,

Is a pretty little town of 1800 persons, growing rapidly and the county seat of Seward county. It is situated on the Nebraska Railway division of the B. and M. R. R. R., 25 miles from Lincoln. The country surrounding the place is well adapted to the cultivation of cereals of every description, large quantities of which are shipped weekly during the season. The place is beautifully situated on a gentle incline between Plum Creek and Big Blue, along whose banks there is a heavy growth of timber. Another stream, noted more for its crooked features than any other, and which is called Lincoln creek, forms a junction with the two other streams near here. The place is especially fortunate in the possession of these streams, since they are capable of affording illimitable motive power to a vast amount of machinery. With the addition of a Court House to the public square, around which the business houses of the town are constructed, it will present a handsome appearance. The site for the town was surveyed in 1868, and it takes its name from the lamented Hon. Wm. H. Seward, Governor of New York, etc. The people are enterprising and as full of public spirit as they can stick. They believe in promoting the interests of their handsome little city by every legitimate means. The soil is of a vegetable mold throughout the whole country and its capabilities for production have never been fully tested. The schools are very fine, and the general health excellent. There are two papers published here, the Reporter and the Blue Valley Blade, whose columns reflect very peculiarly the character of the citizens. The hotel accommodations are good, which is significant of prosperity.

Sidney,

CHEYENNE COUNTY.

County seat. Situated on U. P. Ry, 414 miles west of Omaha, and the first town east of Cheyenne. It is supported by the stock interests of the vicinity, which are very large. This is the shipping point for the Black Hills, and where stages leave the railroad for Dakota. Population, 1,100; altitude, 4,073 feet. The Exchange Bank of Sidney does a flourishing business; capital, $10,000. One newspaper, the Plaindealer-Telegraph, looks well after the interests of both town and county. There are several good hotels, the principal of which are the Lockwood House, Metropolitan and Moore Hotels. These houses are all within one minute's walk of the depot, and offer as good accommodations and fare as are to be obtained anywhere along the railroad. All trains stop at this station thirty minutes for meals, and passengers have ample time to enjoy a good repast at any one of the above houses, at the moderate price of fifty cents a head. Sidney is an important military post, which contributes not a little to the support of the town. The situation is popular with both officers and men, who prefer this station to any other in the West. The climate and water here are good, and the town is situated at just about the right altitude.

Sutton,

CLAY COUNTY,

Has a population of 1,000 or more, is on the B. and M. Railroad in Nebraska, 123 miles from Omaha, and 68 miles west of Lincoln. Its support is derived chiefly from the agricultural interests, though some stock is raised in the immediate vicinity. An air of prosperity seems to hover over the place, and its continued improvement is assured. The business houses generally are as good as are found in places of its size, that are enjoying the happy results of thrift and enterprise. There are two weekly papers published here, whose large circulation indicates a liberal patronage. The several churches and secret societies are in a flourishing condition. Almost every branch of business is represented, and the place boasts an excellent hotel, the Occidental.

situation is a commanding one, and the surrounding country is pretty well settled up, although there are large tracts of land unoccupied between this place and David City. That which is already cultivated proves to be very prolific. Wahoo is the county seat, and has about 1000 inhabitants, three weekly newspapers, four or five churches, a large public school, flour mill and two banks. Her hotel accommodations are of the first order. At present writing a new brick hotel is being erected by Mr. T. W. Riddle, which will be named the De Roe House. Several other bricks are being constructed in Wahoo, which speaks well for the prosperity of the place. On the Sioux City and Pacific Railroad, 100 miles northwest of Omaha and 15 miles from West Point, the county seat, in the beautiful Elkhorn valley, on the north bank of the river. It possesses a flour mill, stock yards, elevator, etc. The Wisner House, by the Perrine Brothers, is without doubt one of the most comfortable hotels that it has been our fortune to stop at in Nebraska. Not a thing is wanting in the arrangements of the house that goes to make the "poor pilgrim" comfortable. We venture to say that the hotel folks here will become very popular, and Wisner a favorite stopping place. Population, about 500.

Sioux City,

WOODBURY COUNTY, IOWA,

Is a thriving and rapidly growing city of 8,000 souls, though it is rank heresy for one of its citizens to admit that it does not now number 10,000. And, indeed, the amount of business, the number and the magnitude of its wholesale houses, the quantity and quality of its newspapers, the centering of so many railroads, and the number and character of its hotels and churches, are such as to warrant any one in believing that the people are 15,000 strong. Its situation is assurance that it must become the great central city of the north end of the Missouri valley.

The wholesale house of Tootle, Livingston & Co., dealers in dry goods, the pork packing house of Jos. E. Bogue & Co., the butter and egg packing house of Smith & Farr, the hotel by Ross & Son, besides various other establishments that might be named, would do credit to any metropolis in the Union. Among the artists and artisans, C. M. Anderson, a photographer on Pearl street, above Fourth, deserves mention and generous patronage.

THE TUSTIN PIONEER

WINDMILL, HORSE POWER, PUMPING MACHINE AND QUARTZ MILL WORKS.

TUSTIN'S ECONOMY.

Patented June 11th, 1872.

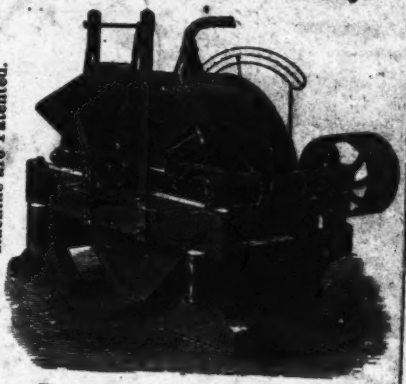
FIRST PREMIUM HORSE POWERS.
The Economy, for 1 or 2 Horses.

TUSTIN'S
Rotary Pulverizing Mill,

WORKS ORE WET OR DRY,

And Feeds Itself Automatically.

All the Improvements on this Machine are Patented.



The above engraving represents the Tustin Pulverizer, with a portion broken away to show the interior arrangement.

This machine has been thoroughly tested for the past ten months in the presence of many of the most expert millmen on the Coast, and all pronounce it a decided success, and the only Rotary Mill that "gets away with" the old stamps in quantity and durability; all jarring and noise is avoided, and the wear and tear will not exceed one fourth that of the Stamp Mill for the same amount of work.

The wearing parts are hard cast iron, and can be removed with little trouble and new ones put in at a small expense.

The small amount of power it requires to work is one of its main points, as about one and one-half horse power was found to be more than sufficient on the very hardest ores.

Other points of advantage are, two ordinary men can set it up ready for work in one day, no foundation required but to level the ground.

The pulverizing is done by two or three heavy iron rollers running in a cylinder, therefore not liable to get out of order.

For farther particulars, address

W. I. TUSTIN,
Inventor and Patentee.
